

Mrs. Cuevas' Quick Recovery

Threatened With Years of Pain and Grief Due to Crippling Rheumatism and Run-Down Condition, San Francisco Widow Restored to Good Health by Tanlac.

Tanlac scored a complete victory in the case of Mrs. Cuevas, 2508 Bush St., San Francisco, who says: "For three years I had been crippled. Poison in my fingers and hands developed into rheumatism."

"I was even unable to dress myself. My troubles brought on heart trouble. My stomach was upset so that food did not nourish me. I lost all appetite, became weak and exhausted and my usual good color disappeared."

"Tanlac brought health and happiness, the poisons in my system were expelled. My digestion is as good as my appetite. I am so strong and so well with all signs for future health that I am full of praise for Tanlac."

This tonic, made of roots, barks and herbs, helps build up weak bodies, put flesh on scrawny bones, free the system of poison and relieve cause of pain.

SOLONS ARE TO TAKE UP MOTOR LAW'S REVISION

(By United Press)

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 23.—Designed to cut down the number of accidents and better to protect both the motorist and pedestrian, several stringent changes in the California motor vehicle act will be considered by the state legislature. The bill, carrying the amendments was introduced by Senator Arthur H. Breed, of Oakland, following recommendations of the motor vehicle conference committee representing automobile clubs of the state and other organizations.

One of the most important amendments would make examination of all new applicants for licenses compulsory instead of discretionary with the division of motor vehicles, as at present.

Under another change, the court would have no authority to impose a sentence greater than that recommended by the jury in a conviction of driving while intoxicated. This is designed to prevent the difficulty of securing convictions by juries reluctant to sentence the offender to a maximum of three years in state prison, together with a $5000 fine.

Aimed at fake sales, an amendment would make it unlawful to refuse or neglect to deliver the certificate of ownership to a purchaser who has made full payment for his machine and is entitled to the pink slip.

More stringent provisions are inserted as to display of the registration card, making it necessary to have the card placed so as to be easily read from the outside of the vehicle.

To decrease thefts, a state stolen car record would be required and applications for registration would be checked against it before registering or transferring registration.

Reports of accidents involving deaths or personal injuries would be made to the division of motor vehicles under another amendment, so that an accurate record showing the cause and location of accidents could be compiled.

Another change would make it unlawful to equip a machine with or use a muffler cut-out after Jan. 1, 1929. This gives an ample length of time, it is thought, in which cut-outs could be eliminated.

THERMOMETER WORKS HARD AT DEATH VALLEY STATION

GOLDFIELD, Nev., Feb. 23.—Summer and winter, the easiest job in the world is that of government rain gauge at Furnace Creek ranch, Death valley, just across the California line from here.

Summer and winter, too, of all thermometers in use that at Furnace Creek is the hardest worked.

An inch and a half of moisture a year is all that the rain gauge is called upon to register. But the thermometer must be prepared to record heat as high as 134 degrees in the shade and 167 degrees in the sun.

The spot where the weather bureau's Death valley observations post is located, moreover, relatively is a cool one. Out on the valley's bare sands, the temperature climbs to heights that never have been ascertained.

Below Sea Level The observation post boasts a still further distinction. Its location is 173 feet below sea level—the lowest weather-recording site in the country.

Ordinary government thermometers are useless at Furnace Creek ranch. When the summer sunshine hits its high stride, they blow up.

When the weather bureau first established its Death valley post, a thermometer graduated to 140 degrees Fahrenheit was set up. It worked all right for awhile. Then came July.

The mercury rose and rose. It passed 130, 131, 132, 133 and paused at 134, a shade record exceeded only by a reading at Azizia, Libya.

Wrecked by Curiosity One hundred thirty-four degrees in the shade! How much higher would the mercury go out in the sunshine?

Some inquisitive person undertook to find out. That was the end of the thermometer.

A special instrument graduated to 180 degrees replaced it. This continues to function, although under a severe strain at times.

The rain gauge, meanwhile, has a sinecure. It loafs idly most of the year while the thermometer is working like an ant. More rain than Death valley's annual average of an inch and a half often falls in one storm in most other places.

Winter, too, is comfortably warm in Death valley, automobile tourists find. Blizzards may rage in the Sierras to the west and the Rockies to the east, but in the valley the temperature hovers around the 30-degree mark.

Weather bureau statistics credit the valley with an average of 350 cloudless days a year. (Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

Information About Public Lands To Be Opened to Settlement

Editor Register:—It has been announced by the reclamation bureau that 145 farm units, varying in size from 40 to 80 acres and averaging 60 acres, 120 of them lying in Siskiyou county, California, and 25 in Klamath county, Oregon, will be opened to settlement, March 1, 1927.

Some doubt is expressed as to whether the opening will be sufficiently advertised, and it is feared that unusual bureaucratic restrictions will hamper settlement, but it is hoped that the unusual fertility of the land to be opened, together with the publicity this section has received during the last 18 months because of the northern lines' avowed intention to enter this territory, will bring at least one applicant for every tract.

The conditions under which the Oregon tracts will be opened have not yet been fully determined. The essential features of the plan under which the California tracts will be settled are roughly as follows:

It will be necessary for each applicant to appear before a committee composed of H. D. Newell, W. C. Dalton and C. A. Henderson. The applicant must convince this committee that he has $2000 in either cash, livestock, farm machinery, equipment or supplies, or a combination of these things, and that he is physically and mentally qualified to be successful on the land.

If the applicant has the necessary qualifications and is otherwise satisfactory to a majority of the men comprising this committee, his application will be accepted and a unit of land, (presumably that of his choice) allotted to him. The applicant will then comply with the provisions of the homestead act and occupy, improve and cultivate the land for an indefinite period on a rental basis; that is, no construction charge will be levied against the land or will any construction payments be exacted, and the ordinary operation and maintenance charge will be replaced by a flat rental charge for water of $1.35 for two acre feet, equivalent in practice to a water charge of $1.35 an acre each year.

When it is found that enough settlers are on the ground in California to justify the organization of an irrigation district, the matter of such organization will be brought before the settlers by the reclamation bureau, and should the settlers elect to form a district, the construction charge against the land will be approximately $88 an acre, divided into 40 annual payments.

(Under this plan the deferred payments may carry interest. As

Force of Marines Aboard Transport Chaumont Due in Shanghai in 18 Hours
SITUATION IS QUIETER
Strict Guard to Be Maintained in International Settlement During Night

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The destroyers Hurlburt, Nes and Preble sailed for Shanghai from Manila, February 21, the navy department announced today. The destroyer Pruitt has sailed from Cavite, P. I., for Hongkong, while the Parrott is on its way from the Pagoda anchorage, near Fuzhou, for Shanghai.

(By United Press)
SHANGHAI, Feb. 23.—Thirteen hundred U. S. marines, aboard the transport Chaumont, today were reported within about 18 hours' steaming distance of Shanghai.

Strict guard will be maintained tonight in the international settlement and in the French concession. The general strike situation was easing today and skeleton mail delivery was maintained this afternoon. Police said 25,000 of the 100,000 or so strikers had returned to work. Strikers had participated in few demonstrations today at the mills or elsewhere and there had been no riots.

It was expected the marines would remain aboard the Chaumont unless the situation changed. Excited crowds filled the Nanking road and other thoroughfares of Shanghai all night, after the bombardment of the city by the Chinese gunboats. The city was calmer today, as the most powerful of the northern Chinese warlords prepared to meet to consider joint action against the Cantonese armies.

The shelling of the city yesterday by mutinous Chinese on ships in the Yangtze river resulted from the treachery of two officers on the ships, it was learned today. No violence was reported in Shanghai during the night. Volunteers and British Indian troops, stationed about the city yesterday, during the brief bombardment in which the French club was damaged, wounding four persons and several natives were reported killed, were withdrawn today.

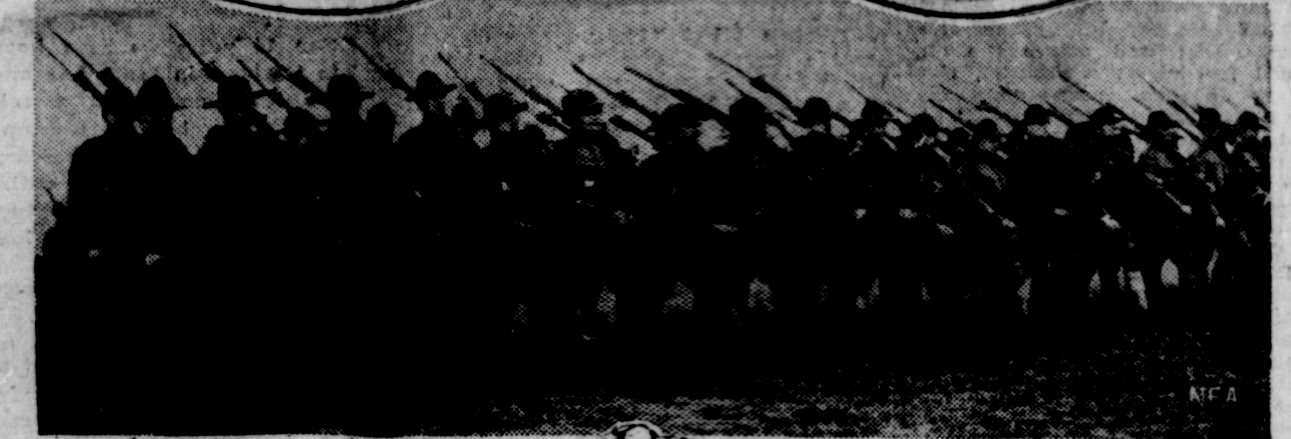

Marksmanship Is Poor
The two ships which fired on the city were less than a mile away, but apparently the guns were manned by poor shots. American residents at first feared the bombardment would force cancellation of a Washington's birthday ball, but the fete was held. Soldiers in the international and French concessions remained on duty all night, ready for action. Arrangements have been made to gather all women and children in the foreign population in the center of the foreign settlement in case of danger.

ARMY OF RUSSIANS WINS IN BATTLE
SHANGHAI, Feb. 23.—Six thousand "White" Russians, vanguard of Chang Chun Chang's army, defeated forces of Wu Pei Fu in Honan province, in a battle in which the Chang forces alone suffered 3000 casualties, reports reaching Shanghai today said. The Russians, believed to be refugees who fled to China to escape the Bolsheviks in their own country, are fighting with Chang's army in its attempt to force its way through the territory of the inactive Wu, so it can attack the Cantonese forces in the south.

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 23.—Declaring that modern workers need more leisure, the federal arbitration court today decided that a 44-hour week of five and one-half working days was practicable, and, for all practical purposes, the 44-hour week henceforth will be the standard in Australia, except in the state of Victoria. The court's decision was reached after five months' investigation, in which employ-

At the left center, Portuguese troops, gathered around an armored truck, are ready for whatever may happen. To the right center are British Tommies preparing a machine-gun nest at a strategic Shanghai point. RIVERSIDE COUNTY WILL ELECT SOLON

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 23.—Riverside county is preparing to go to the polls tomorrow, in one of the most bitterly contested elections in years, to fill the post of assemblyman left vacant by the death of Alfred A. Murray. Four candidates are in the field, with John G. Wherrell, Republican, Riverside, and president of the Southern California fair, said to be a popular choice. Mrs. Agnes McEuen, Republican, Riverside; James Hall, Republican, Hemet, and J. L. Grantham, Democrat, Riverside, are the other candidates. Wherrell, as head of the Riverside County Farm bureau, is said to be strongly favored by agricultural interests in the county. Murray, his wife and child were killed in an automobile accident, while enroute to Sacramento.

1000 Marines Leave U. S. For Nicaragua

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—With 1000 marines of the fifth regiment aboard, the transport Henderson sailed today from Quantico, Va., for Nicaragua. The ship also carries 800 apprentice seamen from Newport, R. I., to join the scouting fleet in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. Brig. Gen. Logan Feland, who will command all marines in Nicaragua, and Col. R. Y. Rhea, commanding the fifth regiment, are accompanying the marines.

CRASH KILLS MAN; GIRL BADLY HURT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23.—Don Dubois, 29, realty salesman, is dead and his companion, Miss Eulie Major, 18, is seriously injured, as the result of a collision today between an automobile driven by Dubois and a Pacific Electric freight train, here. According to reports to the sheriff's office, the accident occurred during a quarrel between the couple, with Dubois driving on the tracks in such manner that the locomotive struck the rear of the automobile and demolished it. Dubois died on the operating table at the receiving hospital, while Miss Major's condition was reported critical.

MAD GIANT NABBED FOR SLAYING TWO

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 23.—After a search lasting 24 hours, John Marsh, huge maniacal slayer, was captured shortly before noon today on a farm near Yutan, Neb. Marsh yesterday became crazed and killed Ole Anderson and Ange Nelson and wounded two brothers of Vernon Johnson. He escaped following the shooting, and poses searched all night through three counties in an endeavor to find him. Marsh is a huge man, towering more than six feet in height and weighing almost 300 pounds. He was dragging a shotgun as he ran off the Anderson farm, near Valley City, yesterday.

Father Freed of Killing His Son

EL CENTRO, Feb. 23.—Nearly crazed with grief, Angel Verdugo, rancher, was freed here today of responsibility for the death of his 2-year-old son, Rodrigo, who was killed instantly, when his father's shotgun was accidentally discharged. The child was playing in the living room of the Verdugo home, when the father began to prepare his shotgun for a rabbit hunting trip. While breaking the barrel to insert shells, the gun was accidentally discharged, the shot striking the infant and killing him instantly. At the coroner's inquest today, Verdugo testified that he did not know the gun was loaded and the child's death was held to be accidental.

CHAPLIN ACCORD DENIED
NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—A report that counsel for Charles Chaplin and Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin had reached an agreement to settle their divorce suit out of court was denied today by Nathan Burkan, counsel for the comedian.

SPECIAL RULE TO CONSIDER DAM ADOPTED

Way Is Opened for Swing-Johnson Measure to Get Before Representatives

SIX HOURS OF DEBATE

Passage of Colorado River Act by Lower Branch of Congress Held Probable

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—A special rule for consideration of the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill by the house was approved today by the house rules committee. The rule will expedite action on the measure and it probably forecasts passage of the Boulder dam bill by the house, at least. The rule voted by the committee provides for six hours' general debate on the bill. Chairman Snell, of the rules committee, said the time when the house would begin consideration of the Boulder dam project under the rule of his committee was undecided. He said he would take the rule voted by his committee before the house steering committee and ask it to decide when the rule should be presented. The committee action today came three weeks after Chairman Smith, of the house irrigation committee, had put in his request for special consideration of the western measure, which is approved by the administration generally and violently opposed by representatives of Arizona, Utah and few other states. The house Republican steering committee decided this afternoon to hold the Swing-Johnson bill in abeyance, pending action in the senate.

MONEY FOR FLOOD CONTROL IS URGED

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 23.—Urging congress to pass an emergency appropriation of $5,000,000 to protect the lives and property in the Imperial valley from flood waters of the Colorado river, a resolution was introduced in the assembly today by Assemblyman Harry F. Sowell, of Whittier. Serious flood conditions have resulted from melting snows and heavy rains in the upper reaches of the Colorado, the resolution declared. As a result, engineers predict that flood conditions are sure to result in the lower basin regions. The bill was referred to the committee on federal relations.

Death Car Driver Takes Own Life

FRESNO, Feb. 23.—Camillo Leoni, 51, wealthy rancher, forfeited his life today to avoid the accusation of manslaughter in court here. Leoni was scheduled to go on trial this morning on a charge of causing the death of Charles Simpson, San Francisco, in an automobile accident. He was at liberty on $30,000 bond. He ended his life with a shotgun, the shot piercing his chest.

Effort to Kill Fails
Attempt to Sidetrack Proposal Defeated in Vote; Johnson Forces Jubilant

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—After 28 hours of continuous fighting to keep the Swing-Johnson Boulder canyon dam bill before the senate, the bill's adherents today won an unexpected victory. By a record vote, the senate defeated a motion of Senator Ashurst, Democrat, of Arizona, to sidetrack the Boulder dam bill and take up a bill to permit the veterans' bureau to lend money to war veterans on bonus certificates. The bonus bill was used only by Ashurst in a desperate effort to kill the Boulder dam bill. The vote was announced as 30 to 42, although the clerk failed to announce one vote in the affirmative, which would make the ballot 31 to 43. This result led the tired but happy Johnson group to forecast passage of the bill itself.

Johnson Pleads for Debate
The vote was taken after a plea by Senator Johnson, Republican, California, that he be permitted to continue debate on his bill in hope of reaching a final vote. The ballot was really a test of strength on the Boulder canyon bill and the merits of the bonus bill did not in any way enter into the balloting. Upon being defeated in what he considered his best chance, Ashurst then moved to displace the Boulder dam bill with the alien property bill. The vote was an important victory for the proponents of the Boulder dam legislation. Secretly they had feared all along that their bill would be displaced by one bill or another, but their support stuck with them even against the bonus bill. After defeat of the Ashurst motion for the veterans' bill, Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, asked unanimous consent to take up the veterans' bill without additional amendments being allowed, but Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, objected. The Ashurst motion to take up the alien property bill was defeated 29 to 44.

Attempt to Block Abandoned

In the face of a double-barreled filibuster, Senator Curtis, Republican floor leader, abandoned an attempt to sidetrack the Boulder dam bill and let the senate continue in the fight it had kept up all night. Curtis moved that the senate proceed to the consideration of the prohibition reorganization bill and ditch the Boulder dam measure, which had held the senate in session through last night, since 11 a. m., yesterday. Senator Johnson pleaded with the senate not to sidetrack the measure, as he said it would mean certain defeat. Johnson Leads Battle
"Dog tired" from sleeplessness and nerve-weary from the long, continuous session, Senator Johnson and his little group of fighters backing the Boulder dam bill, today conducted the legislative battle of a decade in the senate. Johnson's men announce their intention of keeping the senate in session until a vote is reached and the filibusters swear they will kill the measure if their voices hold out. Despite the long vigil through the night, the amusing but mostly unsuccessful efforts to rout sleeping senators from their homes in the early morning hours; the failure to get a quorum from midnight until 9 a. m., and the irritation of both opposing forces, the fight was conducted in a good-natured spirit. The night had seen coin tricks in the senate and a search for snappy reading matter. Daylight brought dignity again to the staid old chamber. Parliamentary difficulties also lay ahead of the Johnson forces, in that the senate, several days ago, entered a unanimous consent agreement to recess at 5:30 p. m., until 8 p. m., and then sit until 11 p. m. on minor calendar bills. It is not agreed what effect this will have on the Boulder dam battle, but Johnson indicated he might attempt to keep the senate in session again tonight to force a vote after 11 p. m., if he is permitted that course under the rules.

Deadlocked All Night

Deadlocked throughout the night in a picturesque and humorous contest over the Swing-Johnson bill, the senate finally obtained a

VALLEY PEOPLE TENSELY AWAIT BILL OUTCOME

EL CENTRO, Feb. 23.—An atmosphere of tense expectancy hung over Imperial valley cities and towns today, as thousands of residents of the "sub-sea level empire" awaited word of the fate of the Swing-Johnson bill.

At public meeting places and on street corners, the sole topic of conversation was the bill, upon which the fate of the valley is said to depend, and the name of Senator Hiram Johnson was on every tongue.

The action of the house rules committee in expediting action on the measure brought new hope to the valley that the bill will be passed by both houses.

The office of the Imperial Valley Press has been besieged with telephone calls from all parts of the valley for the past 24 hours.

As the date of adjournment draws near, concern over the bill has reached a high peak of excitement, with ranchers, business men and other interests united in the belief that the fate of 65,000 people will be decided by the success or failure to build the Boulder canyon dam.

Passage of the bill will bring untold prosperity to the valley, it is said, and remove the flood menace of the waters of the Colorado river, which each year threatens the valley with destruction.

With receipt of news from Washington of the all-night battle in the senate, Senator Johnson became the hero of the hour and individuals and organizations today were dispatching telegrams congratulating him and expressing appreciation for his effort.

While valley residents wear an anxious air, there is a feeling of optimism among the majority, who have faith in the strength of Senator Johnson in the senate and Congressman Phil Swing, in the house, that the bill will go through with the aid of administration support.

LITTLE INTEREST IS SHOWN IN PHOENIX
PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 23.—Fairly confident that the senators from Arizona can defeat any efforts to bring about the passage of the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill during the present session of congress, this city showed little signs of interest in the proceedings today.

In a statement made by J. H. White, secretary to Gov. G. W. P. Hunt, it was announced that the entire state as a unit was opposing passage of the bill, and that the legislators at Washington were receiving support from the state as a whole.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS TAKES INITIAL STEPS TOWARD FLOOD CONTROL DISTRICT FORMATION

With representatives of the municipal governments of Santa Ana and Orange present and urging action, the county supervisors today took initial steps toward formation of a flood control district, to prevent future overflow of Santiago creek.

The steps authorized today were preliminary conferences of the county surveyor, W. K. Hillyard, with engineers of the two cities, as to the boundaries of the territory that should be included in a flood control district, together with an estimate of the cost of necessary work; also a conference between District Attorney Z. B. West Jr., with the two city attorneys, to select the statute authorizing the most feasible plan of procedure. The engineers and the attorneys will hold joint meetings, it was said, thus working out their various plans together.

Must Await Conference
Definite knowledge regarding the scope of the protection work, its type and cost, must await reports from the technical and legal conferences, it was pointed out today. Actual beginning of the task of forming a district, namely, circulation of a petition must wait until the boundaries of a proposed district are outlined, the board was told today.

A petition, presented before the Santa Ana city council Monday night and referred by that body to the county supervisors, projected the question before the latter board. Mayor Frank L. Purinton, City Attorney Charles D. Swanner, Secretary George Raymer, of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, and Freeman H. Bloodgood, prominent realtor, accompanied the petition before the supervisors. Orange was represented by Mayor L. A. Stevenson, City Engineer C. C. Bonebrake, K. E. Watson and V. D. Johnson, president and secretary, respectively, of the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce. Both delegations gave the supervisors assurance that their cities were behind the movement to curb the Santiago creek.

City Has Frontage
Mayor Purinton mentioned the petition filed with the city trustees, saying that the council had been advised that the county supervisors held exclusive authority to form such a district, whether it was local within or without the city. He added that the people of Santa Ana were deeply interested in the matter and that the city, itself, had an interest to the extent of about 2000 feet of frontage along the creek.

Mayor Stevenson remarked that he personally was unfamiliar with the problem but that he felt, and the people of Orange felt, that some concerted action was needed to provide protection along both sides of the creek. That protection should extend along the creek above Orange, as well as cover the territory in Santa Ana and Orange and between the two cities, he said.

When asked how the residents of the territory along the river near Orange and above the city would feel about a district, Secretary Johnson responded that his delegation did not know. They had just been informed that the matter was to be brought before the supervisors, he said, and were present to give assurance of full co-operation.

Discuss Sections of Code
District Attorney West and City Attorney Swanner, of Santa Ana, discussed various sections of the code, covering formation of a district, and stated that there were various kinds of districts. The proper section to be used would be decided, they said, at a conference of attorneys. Supervisor Willard Smith, of Orange, moved then that the county surveyor be instructed to co-operate with the two city engineers in working out plans and estimates for a district.

Charles Havens, West Orange rancher, offered the suggestion that willow piling could be obtained at little expense for protection work and would provide a great saving over pine piling. Mayor Purinton interrupted to say that the people of Santa Ana, at least, would want a cement retaining wall through the city. The wall, near the North Main street bridge, had stood up well before the onslaught of the recent flood, he said.

Fears Study of Occult Subjects Loosens Brains

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 23.—Dr. William J. Mayo, of Rochester, believes that investigation of the occult "loosens distinct danger of integrity of thought, for it loosens the mind from the moorings of fact, gives predominance to the lesser senses, and creates emotional disturbances."

In a paper, "The Places of the Senses in the Development of Science," prepared for a convocation of the University of Minnesota, Dr. Mayo stated the devotion of a life to the study of psychic phenomena "is one thing," but as a side line "is dangerous."

"Anyone dabbling in the occult deliberately depriving himself of vision, means chief means of obtaining information, injures himself mentally," Dr. Mayo said.

"It is a curious ego that in the clear light of reason, will prompt one to say of a certain subject, 'I do not understand,' and in the dark of suggested psychic influences to say of the same subject, 'I believe this is occult' in the sense of a mysterious force."

FORCED TO SPEND MONEY
NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—In order to obtain $19,000 plus $2500 yearly for 15 years, Miss Lillian Gertrude McEvoy must agree to spend the money on herself. For 19 years, she was secretary to J. Louis Schaefer, banker. In making restrictions as to the bequest to her, his will says: "I do not desire to add to the comfort of her family." Most of the one-million-dollar estate was left to relatives.

BOULDER DAM BILL PASSAGE IS PREDICTED

quorum at 9:15 a. m., today and proceeded to business.

For nine hours, since midnight, the sergeant-at-arms tried unsuccessfully to rouse sleeping senators from their beds at home in efforts to get a majority present for debate over the bill, but their efforts were only partially successful.

After the quorum was obtained, Senator Phipps, Republican, Colorado, resumed the filibuster against the bill, which had been in progress since shortly after noon, yesterday.

Phipps soulfully and slowly read a prepared speech attacking the project at length. The senate had been in continued session at that time for 23 hours.

Holds Corporation Stock
Phipps said early in his speech that he held stock of corporations "which might have an interest in Boulder dam."

He said he owned securities in the Nevada and California Electric corporation, which has three subsidiaries, the Southern Sierras Power company, the Imperial Valley company and the Northern California Power company.

Johnson pressed Phipps on the point as to whether his personal interest would prevent him from voting, but Phipps said the stocks would not influence his judgment concerning the bill.

After Phipps got off to a good start, Johnson retired from the chamber for the first time in 10 hours, leaving Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, on guard to watch the filibusters.

Both Johnson and the opponents of his bill sought nourishment and rest after the long grind.

Five Hear Phipps Talk
Only a few senators were in the chamber to hear Phipps talk.

The session was proceeding in an atmosphere which indicated it might break the record of 53 hours for a continuous session, made in 1915 by filibusters against the shipping board bill.

The filibuster, a parliamentary maneuver to prevent a final vote on a measure, is being led by Arizona and Utah senators, who are protesting that their states do not receive equal rights under the bill, which proposes construction of a $125,000,000 power and flood control dam, 556 feet high, in the Colorado river, at Boulder canyon.

There was little debate during the night, most of the time being taken in sitting around waiting for officers of the senate to round up the quorum necessary to transact business.

Warrants Issued for Senators
David Barry, sergeant at arms, was instructed shortly after midnight to go to the homes of absent senators with official warrants to require their presence. This action was taken under a seldom-used and never-enforced rule authorizing legal procedure to force senators to attend the sessions.

The warrant was issued by Senator Moses, Republican, who was presiding, on motion of Senator Neeley, Democrat, West Virginia, after Sergeant at Arms Barry reported he could not get any of the missing senators to come to the session.

It was the first such warrant since 1915, when all absent senators were ordered arrested and brought to a shipping board debate.

At 3 p. m., yesterday, the senate obtained a quorum of more than 45 members and Ashurst talked until he was exhausted on an amendment he had offered striking out the provision for a 550-foot dam.

Unable to proceed, he called for a quorum on the vote and it was discovered that the necessary number was not present. The sergeant at arms was sent scurrying out after the missing members and the senate sat in silence until after 6 a. m.

Sensor Does Coin Tricks
At 5:30, Senator Mayfield, Democrat, Texas, was doing coin tricks on the floor for the edification and amusement of Senators Blease, Democrat, North Carolina, and Goff, Republican, West Virginia, who with Republican Leader Curtis, Kansas, and Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican, California, co-author and leading proponent of the measure, were the only ones in the chamber.

Goff asked the chair how long the senate must remain in session with only a minority present. The presiding officer replied "as long as there is only a minority present."

Sensor Blease moved that Lincoln C. Andrews' squad of prohibition agents be summoned to help arrest the missing members. His motion was laughed down.

Goff then moved that the senate adjourn and the motion was carried on a yea and nay vote, but the vigilant Johnson dashed into the chamber and called for a division and had enough votes present to defeat adjournment. The vote was 13 to 17.

In Galleries All Night
Several Californians remained in the senate gallery all night. The group included W. B. Mathews, attorney for the Los Angeles Electric company, and Ralph Criswell, Los Angeles councilman. Mayor John L. Bacon, of San Diego, remained more than 15 hours, and Charles L. Childers, attorney for the Imperial Valley Irrigation district, and former State Senator William J. Carr watched for the better part of the night.

It says in the Book that "the rain falls on the just and unjust alike." And while it's raining I have spent a great deal of time figuring, along with my income tax, "just" what class I'm in, and now I have come to the conclusion that it's "just" as good as it was.

American Vessels Ignore Threats

HONGKONG, Feb. 23.—Naval wireless reports today said American vessels on the Yangtze river had ignored threats of violence if they transported British refugees down river and that 43 refugees had started toward Hankow from Ichang. The name of the American steamer carrying the refugees was not given in the dispatch. The Chinese were said to have attempted to intimidate the pilot.

Police News

Alleged to have been found wandering around in several Santa Ana office buildings, shortly before noon, W. A. Martin, 34, was arrested on a vagrancy charge by Officers Holmes and Howard. He was lodged in the county jail. Martin was said to be without money. He claimed to reside in Los Angeles.

MISSION PLAY THEATER WILL OPEN MARCH 5

The beautiful new $600,000 playhouse, built as the permanent home for John Steven McGroarty's mission play, will open in San Gabriel on March 5, when a complete sell out of the opening night tickets, at $100 each, is expected. This money, it is said, will be used to complete the furnishings of the new playhouse.

The site of the new playhouse is a seven-acre garden tract, which was once a part of the cactus-walled compound of the old San Gabriel mission. Remaining in the tract are many objects of historic interest. One is the world-famous old San Gabriel grapevine, the parent vine of all California grapes, planted during the eighteenth century. Then there is the quaint adobe house, referred to in Helen Hunt Jackson's famous book as the birthplace of Ramona. Later on there will be built on the grounds an Indian village, reproducing exactly the homes of people who inhabited this section of California at the time when white men first made their appearance here. Indians, descendants of the people who used to dominate this region, actually will live in the village.

The mission play tells the story of the bringing and founding of civilization on the western shores of America. It tells how California began. The glamor and the romance of Old Spain, mother of California, is portrayed. Franciscan monks, Spanish soldiers and sailors, Indians, picturesque adventures and beautiful Spanish singers and dancers all furnish thrills, pathos and romance to the tremendous drama.

mission play is Fray Junipero Serra, whose name, perhaps, is the greatest in California's history. R. D. MacLean, internationally famous classical character actor will play the part again this year. MacLean, through his inspired portrayal of the character, has helped to lift the play to its present pinnacle.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

Great Works of Art

This book, by F. W. Ruckstull, has appeared as a part of the efforts of a large group of men to overcome the tendencies of modern artists to picture the ugly and abnormal instead of the beautiful.

A great share of the book is a reprint of articles published in "The Art World" magazine, 1916-1919. Some of the articles have been revised and enlarged and an appendix has been added.

Several chapters in the book are devoted to criticisms of the works of modern artists who, the author declares, are a menace to mankind because of their dwelling on the unpleasant and vulgar sides of life.

Included in the book are a number of reproductions of famous works of art and many of the newer works, which never can become great because of their degraded nature, according to Ruckstull.

Besides the criticism, a part of the book is devoted to explanation of conception in art, composition in art, expression in art, drawing and color in art, and analysis of art.

The book is written in a manner which will appeal to a large number of persons. The brief histories given of various well known paintings and sculptures will be enjoyed by anyone whether or not he or she has any previous knowledge of art.

Arabs in Tent and Town
Giving an intimate account of family life of the Arabs of Syria, their manner of living in desert and in town, their hospitality and customs, "Arabs in Tent and Town," by A. Goodrich-Freer (Mrs. H. H. Spoer), has been a valuable addition to the city library, according to Miss Jeannette McFadden, librarian.

Besides the presentation of this unusual picture of Arab life, the book contains delightful descriptions of animal life and plant life in Syria.

Data for the book was gathered by the author over a long period of years and she has been arranging it for publication for the last 10 years.

On completing the book, one has an unusual insight into such Arab customs as the attitudes of husbands and wives, the viewpoints of the women, the "hareem," the children, life in the desert, bread and coffee and coffee customs, property ownership, and wedding customs.

The Life of Eugene Field
Filled with his great love for Eugene Field, Sissien Thompson, a friend of many years' standing, has written a biography of that fun-loving, friendly poet, which will live as long as Field's poems. The book is not a cut-and-dried affair containing little but an account of the outstanding incidents in Field's life, but it fairly emanates the spirit which must have imbued the friendship of Field and Thompson during their many years on the same newspaper, the Chicago Morning Sun.

The loving accounts of various escapades with which Field was connected, the stories of his many deeds of kindness, tales of his unflinching humor, all go to make one of the most interesting biographies written.

A feature of the book is that it contains several illustrations of poems written by Field. One is the original copy of "Little Boy Blue," which is decorated by tiny drawings of a little tin soldier and a little toy dog, drawn by Field himself. The sight of these poems, just as they came from the pen of the poet, has aided in creating an intimate atmosphere.

A Home of Your Own
Anyone desiring interesting and concise directions as to the wisest way to own and manage a home of his or her own need only read "A Home of Your Own," by Della Thompson Lutes, who, since she played house in childhood days, has found the managing of "a home of your own" the most fascinating occupation in the world.

Mrs. Lutes has told of how to find the proper place to build a home and how to go about building it after the lot is found. She has written of the right kind of lighting fixtures, and other equipment, furniture, rugs, curtains and draperies, come in for their share of discussion.

The author then jumps to the subject of operating the home at the smallest possible cost. A discussion of marketing will provide food for thought for many housewives. She also has written a chapter stressing the necessity of caring for one's personal appearance about the home.

Antonio Moreno, the motion-picture star, began life as a baker's errand boy in the south of Spain.

PROFESSIONAL DIRECTOR FOR CHEST URGED

Employment of a professional campaign director, at a stated compensation or on a commission basis, in place of depending upon voluntary services offered by participating agencies, in raising funds for budget purposes, were included in recommendations, adopted this morning at the meeting of directors of the Community Chest of Santa Ana and Tustin, held in the chest headquarters, 311 North Sycamore street.

A committee, composed of Col. M. B. Wellington, Harry Lewis and Roland E. Dye, the latter ex-officio member, was appointed to confer with the directors of the various participating agencies regarding the proposal and to obtain their consent to the same.

Urges Professional Director

The employment of a professional campaign director was suggested by the directors of the Orange County Boy Scout council. For the last three years, this organization has donated the services of Roland E. Dye, scout executive, who has acted as campaign manager. It was intimated by the scout directors that too much time was given by Dye to the work of the community chest to the prejudice of the scout organization.

W. H. Spurgeon Jr., president of the chest organization, presided over the meeting. Directors present were T. E. Stephenson, Alex Brownridge, Mrs. Fay R. Spangler, Harry W. Lewis, Col. M. B. Wellington, Miss Mabel McFadden and Fred C. Blauer. Directors E. T. McFadden and A. M. Robinson, the latter representing Tustin, were absent.

Drive to Begin October 3

Following some discussion of the subject, it was decided to include the 1927 budget deficit, amounting close to $8000, in the 1928 campaign figures. In this connection, it was decided to advance the time for the annual drive to October 3.

Concern for the future of the chest organization was expressed by several speakers and the opinion was advanced that unless there is a more wholehearted and substantial response to its needs, it will be forced to discontinue its activities. Moreover it was suggested that the membership of the participating agencies take a greater interest in the chest movement and use their efforts to insure its success.

A proposal to take out membership in the national body of community chest organizations was tabled.

PLANK EXTOLTS WASHINGTON IN ELKS ADDRESS

The spirit of honesty, integrity and bravery that marked the life of George Washington was extolled by Capt. Joe Plank in an address delivered last night at a meeting of the Santa Ana lodge of Elks, held in observance of the birthday of the "father of our country."

The observance was featured by the lodge in a program given over exclusively to Santa Ana legionnaires and developed by a committee appointed by the Santa Ana post.

Veterans of the World war accepted the invitation of the lodge to make themselves at home at the lodge's clubhouse.

Following a brief lodge session, the lodge room was thrown open to the visitors and members alike, and the entertainment program presented.

Charles Van Wyk, member of the Santa Ana post, officiated as chairman of the program and introduced the Shaffer sisters in musical numbers and dancing; Miss Helen Hull in an original dance number, and the post quartet in a group of songs. The quartet is composed of Andy Anderson, Dr. Elliott H. Rowland, Fred Wilde and Bruce Munroe, with E. M. Sundquist as accompanist. Miss Cynthia Kirven played the accompaniment for Miss Hull and Miss McCune for the Shaffer sisters. The post drum corps thrilled with its stirring music played on the streets and in the hall before the meeting.

"If there is one thing for which Washington stood, it was for the belief that a free man will violate any law that violates his freedom," Plank said, following an introduction to his address in which he related that the first president broke the law of the time when he rebelled against the blockading of Boston harbor under instruction of the king.

When You Catch Cold Rub On Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and works right away. It may prevent a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for cold, throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

offists in Washington's day that drove him frantic, the speaker emphasized the pleading of Washington for proper equipment for his troops and for more soldiers and his resort, finally, to the draft in order to secure men enough to make an army.

"Washington lost battle after battle and opportunity after opportunity, because his troops were ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-armed and, necessarily, ill-trained," Captain Plank said. "Then, later during the revolution, his most brilliant plans always were being turned to dust and ashes by the cowardice of such troops as he had to deal with."

"During his retreat across the Jerseys, when he saw his army melting away to almost nothing, he groaned, 'Command not men, but sheep.'"

"We Americans are no different from the rest of the world. Our citizens have proven in every crisis that untrained troops, badly equipped, will break and run when they encounter real soldiers."

This Great Healing Oil Must Banish Eczema and Skin Troubles

Or Your Money Back. That's the Plan on Which Emerald Oil Is Sold by All Good Druggists

Make-up your mind that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well.

You've probably been, like a lot of other people, convinced that the only thing to use was an ointment or salve (some of them are very good) but in the big majority of cases these sticky salves simply clog the pores and the condition primarily remains the same. Go to any good druggist today and get an original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past.

Don't expect a single bottle to do it all at once, but one bottle we know will show you beyond all question that you have at last discovered one way to restore your skin to perfect health.

Remember that Moore's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded at all druggists.—Adv.

Bankers

Many men are now engaged in the banking business. To a man on the outside, this business looks like the candy. To the banker, it is a difficult problem. For banks go broke, like the rest of us. Only, with banks, it doesn't happen very often. Nor should it. Most of us think of the banker as a white collared individual who shows up at 10 A. M. if he gets through with his round of golf in time and quits at 3 P. M. for other trying appointments. That is, if he gets back from lunch by then.

But that's all in the mind of the man who would like to be a banker who could do that. Banking is one business that we do not know all about. The bankers we have met are not unlike other men. Some get gray; some are bald; many have wives that manage them (as ours do); a very, very few (?) of them drive cars and nearly all of them are very human.

The banker works hard. His work is exacting. A mistake by a banker costs someone money. And the man that makes the error is very likely tagged to pay it.

Just ask a banker about diet. You will find him very careful. He has studied what will keep him going the best. He has long hours. His day really begins at the time we think that he is through. Dairy products take a large place on his table. How do we know? Well, we know something sometimes from some sources someone would not suspect. Is there a reason why Excelsior products are preferred? You tell 'em.

Ewert's

For centuries man has paid tribute to lady folk by gifts of gold. For gold alone has a woman's heart been won. At Ewert's one finds gifts of gold in splendor and variety—the many forms of ornament dear to feminine hearts, wrought in this enduring, precious metal.

As, for instance, these smart bracelets, a token that would have been the fairest arm in the Southland. Moderately priced from $11.50 up.

Ebell Travelers Tour Mediterranean Via Study Route

BY OLIVE LOPEZ

Miss Martha Ritchey and Mrs. F. L. Andrews conducted the members of Ebell's fourth travel section (who are making the Mediterranean cruise) to Turkey, the land of Mohammed and his followers, at the regular meeting of the section held Monday afternoon in the lounge at Ebell clubhouse.

Miss Ritchey prefaced her talk on Mohammedanism by stating that six centuries after Christianity had its beginning in Palestine, Mohammedanism developed in Arabia, the two great religions of the middle ages, the latter being a protest against Christianity, as it existed in the eastern empire at the beginning of the seventh century.

The speaker described interestingly the great Mohammed who was born in Mecca, the city of pilgrimages, in the year 570 A. D. of poor parents and early left orphaned. As a boy he tended sheep, later he became a camel driver and when about 25 years of age had charge of the caravan of a rich widow, Chadja, whom he later married, and rose to prominence through her wealth. The marriage was a happy one and the wife's sympathy and understanding were a great help to Mohammed.

His teaching emphasized the necessity for aims giving, fasting, personal cleanliness, kindness and consideration in daily life, and prayer five times a day. Wine was forbidden and drunkenness called a crime. Women were not given the high position accorded by Christianity, but their condition was improved.

In Mecca, Mohammed and his followers suffered constant persecution, and he finally left and went to Medina, where the first mosque was built, but he later returned to his first stand. His conquests were only stopped by Constantinople.

Mrs. Andrews took up the thread of Turkey's history with the statement that the conquest of Constantinople was the great event of Mohammed's reign, yet it was by no means his sole achievement. He completed the final annexation of Serbia and Bosnia, Greece and the islands of the Aegean, the prominent cities of the Black sea, massacred the inhabitants, and held command of the seas.

In 1540, Otranto, Italy, was captured and the Ottoman foot was placed on the western hemisphere. The next year Mohammed was planning an immense expedition when his sudden death occurred, which probably saved Europe.

In Europe where the Turkish possessions were formerly 230,000 square miles and a population of 20,000,000, there now is only about one quarter of the land and population left. After the world war Turkey lost most of her European possessions. "The government is now a republic and the religious capital is Constantinople, which is rapidly changing and becoming more and more modernized, both in customs and dress, fizes and veils having been done away with."

Mrs. Andrews described the Bosphorus strait, which separates Europe from Asia, and is probably the most famous small body of water in history. It is modern also, as one goes along the ever present Standard Oil tanks are seen.

Constantinople, known as the city of mosques, is the only city that has the distinction of being located in two continents, and has one of the most superb locations in the world, which has caused it to be fought for many times.

The speaker took the travelers to the Stamboul district, where are the most beautiful mosques, now falling into decay, to the beautiful cathedral of Santa Sophia, now a Moslem temple, and which is said to surpass Solomon's temple. When the Berlin to Bagdad railroad, they went from Messina to Tarsus. Paul's birthplace Adana, the gateway to the Silician plain, Ankara, the capital of Turkey, Konia, Sivas and Samsun, where the finest cigarette tobacco is grown.

The cities of Turkey look very beautiful from a distance but change at close contact. They are covered with debris, sidewalks are so narrow that the pedestrian is pushed off into the streets and there are no sewage systems. Brigands and beggars are seen everywhere and in the outlying towns there are no hotels, everybody sleeps on the roofs.

Needles were soon being deftly used in placing a quilt in true housewife fashion, as no doubt others were placed in Ye Olden Times when our great grandmothers held their parties. This quilt is for an order to which most of those present belong.

Before the party came to a close small tables were gaily spread and the guests were served with salad, topped with a red cherry, waffles, Boston cream pie, coffee and salted nuts.

Friends enjoying the afternoon with Mrs. Breeding were Mrs. John Baker, Mrs. Cassius Chester, Mrs. Ben Dolbe, Mrs. Walter Dunlap, Miss Trene Johnson, Mrs. Floyd Knight, Mrs. Pickard, Mrs. Sundstrum, Mrs. Ludella Stewart, Mrs. Elita Sweet, Mrs. Earnest Stiffler, Mrs. Tolman, Mrs. Charles Tibbets, Mrs. Maxie Wilson.

Social Items Fashion Hints

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY IS OBSERVED IN HAPPY MANNER

Such a charming social function as would have delighted the heart of the Father of his Country, was staged last night at St. Ann's Inn in celebration of Washington's birthday with Manager Robert L. Bisby presenting a colonial dinner followed by an evening of dancing in which Mabel Rockwell of the Mabel Rockwell School of Dancing, aided as mistress of ceremonies.

The dinner hour was an enjoyable one with Orthophonic music as an accompaniment. The scene in the dining-room was gay and brilliant with the tri-color in evidence in all decorative appointments, while the waitresses formed an interesting part of the picture in their white aprons, fichus and ruffled mob caps.

Dancing was to the unexcelled music of the Chapman orchestra, and as an added attraction there were several feature dances by talented pupils of Miss Rockwell. Frieda Lawrence (Mrs. A. H. Lawrence) who will be remembered for her artistic dance interpretation in connection with Mrs. J. M. Cloyes' presentation of Peer Gynt as an Ebell program, gave a clever patriotic number in which she wore a gay silken costume of red, white and blue.

Two dainty wee maids, Virginia Pritchard and Marjorie Kenyon exemplified the work done by Miss Rockwell with children when they danced a graceful minuet for which they were costumed as tiny colonial belle and beau. The children have been in high demand as entertainers, appearing on a number of programs, and little Miss Virginia gave also dances last week at one of the local theaters and has been offered work in the pictures.

Attractive Costumes

Many attractive colonial costumes were worn by the guests. Miss Rockwell as mistress of ceremonies, was charming in flowered silk with wide hoop skirts, and lace fichu. A colonial coiffure of elaborate curls in silver tinged pink, surrounded her own closely cropped locks.

Especially lovely was Mrs. Harry Westover as a belle of the Civil War period, for she wore a gown that was a part of the trousseau of her grandmother, who as Miss Augusta Burdock, was the bride in Civil War days of Dr. Sykes in Aberdeen, Miss. The costume was of soft gray silk (heavy enough to stand alone, as silks were in that day) with woe embroidered flower clusters of a deep rose red. Velvet ruffles, lined with lighter silk, formed an elaborate trimming, and bows of ribbon identical in shade with the flower pattern in the silk, were placed cunningly at the shoulder and on the flowing bell sleeves. The crinoline-lined skirt was fashioned with a long train, also trimmed with the velvet ruffles which outlined the basque, and the whole effect was that of a charming picture.

Mr. and Mrs. Holt O. Randall made quite an impression upon their entry, and looked as though they had just stepped from an old daguerrotype of a bride and groom. Mrs. Randall was in white silk with silver lace flounces over hoops, the close-fitting little bodice of the frock, being fashioned with a bertha of the silver lace. Her hair was dressed with chignon and waterfall exactly as is shown in portraits of an earlier day, and circled with a wreath of little flowers.

To complete the costume was a marvelous bonnet of ribbons, flowers and green feathers.

Mr. Randall was elegant indeed in pearl-gray very full trousers and a frock coat with velvet collar, flowered silken "weskit" and high wing collar. His "stove-pipe" hat completed the picture of a colonial beau well-suited to escort such a belle as Mrs. Randall.

Miss Chalmra Lindsey was a lovely belle in soft rose silk with lace flounces and little fittings of silken petals. The lace formed panniers over the hooped skirt, and her dark hair, worn in long looped curls, and with the traditional pink rose nestling in its dusky depths, made her very charming indeed.

Those in costume included also the group of young girls from

Regulating Music

Fred Chapman and his five-piece orchestra played all the latest and most beguiling dance music, and encores were generously given. One especially enjoyable number was announced by Miss Rockwell as a "cheat" dance, in which a man, armed with a small George Washington hatchet, and a lady with a formal bouquet might cheat any dancer out of a partner's reach. This served to get the crowd pretty thoroughly mixed and was most enjoyable for both cheaters and cheated.

Joel punch served throughout the evening added another pleasant touch to the hospitable affair which will remain in the memories of guests, as one of the high lights of the month. Many private parties were organized to attend the function, and tables reserved for them were brilliant with their tall candles in petaloid holders of red, white and blue, and with flowers repeating the same tones.

Fort Wayne Reunion

Among these was one planned by Mrs. Eli Hoffman and Mrs. Mellick. Fort Wayne, Ind. residents who are spending several weeks at the Inn. They brought together a group of former Fort Wayne friends which included Mrs. Clara Chapman, the Misses Abby and Louise Chapman, Mrs. F. H. Willms, Horatio N. Goodwin and Frank Williams.

Mrs. Margaret Borgmeyer, also a winter guest at the Inn, entertained a little party which included her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Haddon, and Mr. and Mrs. Catlin entertained Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Trago.

Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Harwood presided at a large table where quite a group of friends enjoyed their hospitality and the subsequent dancing. In the party were Dr. and Mrs. V. G. Presson, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Garraway of Orange; Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Hawes of Huntington Beach; Attorney and Mrs. John Martell, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cantlay, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Horst Allen, and the hosts, Dr. and Mrs. Harwood.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Liebig, Lt. Commander and Mrs. Irwin F. Landis and Arthur Lyon formed another congenial group which was joined later by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Boyer and Mr. and Mrs. Adam Zaiser.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Burge, Dr. Peryl Magill, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Otis, and many others were among those who were entertaining a few guests or who formed part of a congenial group for dining and dancing, while Miss Rockwell was hostess at quite a large party which included in addition to Senator and Mrs. Richardson, her guests at the Inn, Mr. and Mrs. George Reymor, Mr. and Mrs. Holt Randall, Mrs. A. H. Lawrence, Mrs. A. E. Lindsey, Miss Chalmra Lindsey, Mr. Cleveland and Gordon Lindsey, among others.

Hams weighing 90 pounds each were obtained from the world's largest hog, slaughtered recently near Hagerstown, Md. The animal weighed 1,400 alive and 1,232 pounds when dressed.

The Salvation Army now carries on its work in eighty-two different countries.

County Shriners Will Present Gay Party

Nobles of the Mystic Shrine are planning a delightful entertainment for their wives as a feature of the general celebration of the birthday of that great Mason, George Washington, and as the first social affair of the new regime of Orange county Shrine club under its recently elected president, J. O. Pyle. For tomorrow night the Nobles will don their fezzes, take their fair Shriners on their arms and hie them to Fullerton, where the party will be staged.

And it will be a party in the truest sense of the word. For a varied program has been arranged by President Pyle's entertainment committee of which C. J. Cogan is chairman. It will open with attendance at the Alhambra Court theater in the neighboring city, where an excellent picture and entertaining vaudeville numbers are promised. Nobles are asked to be there for the first show starting at 7 o'clock.

At its close, they will proceed to the nearby Masonic temple where the remainder of the evening will be spent. And there, those who wish to dance will find an orchestra ready to play the most entrancing of dance melodies, while those who wish to occupy their time with a quieter amusement, will find card tables all in readiness for whatever game they choose.

All Shriners in the county are urged to attend, regardless of whether they are affiliated with the county club or not. All are reminded that fezzes will be expected although formal dress is unnecessary.

Hostess Introduces New Features in Prize Giving

Those things which tradition holds dear as being closely associated with George Washington, were all in evidence yesterday in the spacious home of Mrs. A. M. Gardner on East Washington avenue, to make it a fitting setting for a Washington luncheon and bridge at which the hostess entertained her bridge club, the S. O. S. club.

One long table was arranged in the dining-room for sixteen, and was centered with candles whose light fell through shades adorned with cherries, hatchets and other proverbial Washington symbols. Flags were much in evidence in decorative appointments while of course the cherry and hatchet motif of the candle shades, was repeated in various such details as place cards, bridge talles and other appointments.

Covers were placed for the hostess, Mrs. Gardner, her daughter fair Shriners on their arms and ange, Mrs. Charles Carothers, Mrs. Cahill of San Francisco, a houseguest of Mrs. E. E. Keech, and the following S. O. S. members, Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, Mrs. William E. Otis, Mrs. John P. Baumgartner, Mrs. C. A. Vance, Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, Mrs. E. E. Keech, Mrs. Irwin F. Landis, Mrs. James E. Paul, Mrs. Wyckoff Hoxie, Mrs. J. E. Gowen, Mrs. Edward M. Nealey and Mrs. J. E. Liebig.

Returning to the drawing room, the guests devoted the afternoon to bridge in which Mrs. Baumgartner took first honors and received an attractive gift. Inspired by a feeling of sympathy for all losers, Mrs. Gardner presented a little gift to the one scoring low at each table, and as a special feature, surprised Mrs. Gowen with a remembrance on honor of a birthday which is celebrated quite close to that of the First Great American.

Quiet Wedding Takes Place Here

Othello Roepke, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Roepke, of Long Beach, well-known in this vicinity as they were former Garden Grove residents, and Miss Helen Graham, of Los Angeles, were quietly married here Monday evening in the parsonage home of the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church.

The young people were accompanied by Miss Mabel Northcross, of Garden Grove, and Kenneth Roepke, a brother of the groom. They will make their home in Los Angeles, where Mr. Roepke is manager of a garage.

POLY SCRIBES ATTEND TROJAN PRESS MEETING

Aspiring journalists of Santa Ana polytechnic high school attended and took an active part in the University of Southern California's fifth annual newspaper day, held this week on the Trojan campus.

Eleanor Turner, Vivienne Oldfield, David Roberts, Fred Humes-ton and Harvey Durke, of Santa Ana, took part in the meet.

More than 300 editors and business managers from Southern California high schools attended the session at the invitation of the administration of the Trojan institution. It was said to be the largest delegation ever to attend a similar conference at Southern California.

The student scribes had opportunity of hearing some of Southern California's most successful journalists speak. Mark Kelly, sports editor of the Los Angeles Examiner; Alma Whitaker, editorial and feature writer of the Los Angeles Times; Morris Rath-burn, publicity director for the Automobile Club of Southern California; and Crombie Allen, editor, statesman and delegate to the International Press conference, in Geneva, last year, spoke to the students on the various phases of journalism.

Trojan editors and business managers headed discussion groups, in which the delegates took part. Problems of editing and managing school publications were discussed and ideas exchanged.

Students in Journalism in the University of Southern California gain actual experience along with their classroom work as the "Trojan" and "Wampus" and "El Rodeo," all campus publications have large student staffs and anyone showing ability is given the opportunity to "make the staff" of one or more of the publications.

BURGLARS ENTER S. A. PHARMACY

Thieves, whom police believe were searching for dope, broke into the South Main pharmacy, 633 South Main street, some time last night.

Narcotics are not carried in the stock of the drug company and, although medicine cases were ransacked, nothing was taken from them. A total of $2.10 was taken from the cash register.

Entrance into the place was made after a side window of the store had been jimmied. The thieves left through the rear door. Sid Smithwick, assistant city marshal, today is conducting an investigation.

The same store was burglarized about a year ago, police said.

Alleged Drunken Driver Released On Bail of $1000

Danny Weaver, Garden Grove man, arrested Monday night on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, will be given a preliminary examination before Justice Kenneth Morrison at 9 a. m. Monday morning.

Weaver was released from jail yesterday on bail of $1000.

Aside from the charge of driving while intoxicated, Weaver also may face a charge of resisting an officer, according to Jimmy Smith, deputy sheriff, who made the arrest. Weaver was arrested following an exciting chase out of Garden Grove, the pursuit coming suddenly to an end when Weaver is alleged to have wrecked his automobile.

No Action Taken On Resignation Of Algol Editor

No action has been taken on the resignation of Theodore Jessee, commissioner of publications in the Santa Ana junior college, and it developed today that he has been induced, at the request of students and faculty members, to retain his office.

The signed resignation, tendered last week, has not come up before the members of the student executive board.

Jessee has been the storm center in the college over charges of inefficiency in his work as editor of the Algol, college annual. However, the charges have been dropped and the matter has become a dead issue.

SKYSCRAPERS BOTHER HIM
NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Broadway can keep its canon castles so far as Conde de Guell, of Spain, is concerned. Returning home after a brief visit, the industrialist said he did not wish Spain to have skyscrapers. "They belong here; they are more in proportion to American life."

ZIEGFELD'S NEW THEATER SETTING FOR LATEST MUSIC RIOT

By THE NEA PLAY JURY

NEW YORK.—White facade bulging under lustrous flood lamps into Sixth avenue, black marble lobby, a nightly shimmering, milling procession into a huge cavern of a house spangled and etched from floor to domed ceiling with bold brushfuls of color—that is the new Ziegfeld playhouse.

Will the man who glorified the American girl glorify the American theater?

Can he who annually took his magic looms, his color pots, and an assortment of the hinterland's best schoolgirl complexions and fashioned an eye-billing extravaganza, work the same benign influence on a string of roccoco show houses cluttering up the American landscape? Building is Different

The new Ziegfeld building is different from the gaudy picture palaces and new million-dollar atrocities. It is different in the respect that it is just as costly as the best of them but is minus all the cumbersome frills and frumpieries that are designed to make the yokel jaw sag on contemplation.

There are none of the usual jim-cracks caught with tassels that mar the new and more pretentious theaters. There are no jutting boxes, sticking bedizened citizenry right out into your midst. There are no pillars or similar obstructions.

From any seat one can get a good view of everything. The acoustics are perfect. There are no unnecessary wall drapes or wall lights to offend the serene perfection of the line.

Paintings in Lobby
In the lobby are Joseph Urban's imaginative and colorful paintings, modern in subject and color. Even the ceiling has a touch of the modernistic from the design of a very young lady who but a few months ago made her debut as scenic designer for one of the tiny experimental theaters.

So, in a sense, a new theater seems to have arrived with the best intention of being a theater, rather than a real estate enterprise. The new Roxie movie house will swing into the same categories. Rental has been the purpose behind most Broadway playhouses and real estate interests, rather than producers, were involved. What appeared in the theaters concerned them not so much as whether or not they were occupied. And theaters have sprung up even faster than plays to fill them. The result was great platters of hash thrown upon the stages in the guise of drama, though the theatergoers palate is not long fooled.

Ziegfeld opened with "Rio Rita" at $27.50 per eye-ful. Then the scale leaped to the regular $8 top. The first six days grossed $61,000, a world's receipts record.

It is a tricky, prismatic glorification, as usual, of girls. It is a good piece of showmanship, a feat of gorgeous groupings, movements, lustres, massed stage effects. Into many of them he has swung something more than mere jauntiness, prettiness and liveliness. Then there is Gladys Glad, introduced as "the most beautiful showgirl in America," (that's going some!) and Myrna Darby, "the most beautiful blonde," and Katherine Burke, and Peggy Blake and Dorothy Wegman and heaven knows how many other beauties whose faces are superb and whose names don't matter.

"The Kinkajou" steps the show regularly. It is a cavorting, twisting, racing dance. Ada May starts it. The rest follow. And all in all, what with the new theater so radiant and the girlish glories so sparkling, the combination, for quite some time at least, is going to be mighty hard to beat.

The week's openings include "The Road to Rome" at the Playhouse. First play by Robert E. Sherwood, editor of Life. Jane Cowl has the star role. It upsets the dignity of history and makes sport of Hannibal and other dignitaries. "For Better or Worse" opened at the Mansfield with Tom Powers and Gladys Hurlburt heading the cast. Deals with American small town life. "The Wondering Jew" opened at the Cosmopolitan. Matheson Lang, well-known London actor, made a success of the play (by E. Temple Thurston) abroad and brings the same cast to New York. It is in the most rhetorical Walter Hampden manner. "Pinwheel" started at the Neighborhood Playhouse. Expressionistic play of New York by Francis Edwards Paragoh. "The Dark" opened at the Lyceum. By Martin Brown and deals with the spiritual compensation that comes with blindness. Cast includes Julia Hoyt, Juliette Day and Louis Calhern.

The heat conductivity of water is 21 times as great as that of air.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 23.—Mrs. Earl Crawford entertained on Saturday afternoon in observance of the ninth anniversary of her daughter, Gladys, in the Crawford home on California avenue. Many pleasing gifts were received by little Miss Gladys from her guests who were Laura and Nellie Watson, Mary Eastwood, Muriel Wardlow, Lucille Peterson of Huntington Park, Mary and Marie Arnett, Charline Carson, Mrs. R. O. Watson, Mrs. Charles Carson and Mrs. S. A. Peterson, of Huntington Park.

Dr. Roy Byram, of Glendale, called Sunday on his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Byram.

Mr. and Mrs. David Cozad have returned to their home in Los Angeles. They have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cozad. The school bell, which for so many years has tolled out the call to education for Westminister children, is to be taken down and used no more. The school board found it causing damage to the roof of the school building on account of its weight. Clyde Day is repairing the roof which leaked again in the recent rain. The signs on the boulevard also have been repainted by Mr. Day.

School opened Monday morning with an attendance of 175 out of 225, which is quite an improvement over the attendance of last week, when the school was forced to close on account of the absence of the children.

The principal, Mrs. Ora La Schieher, was in communication with the school supervisor, Monday, seeking his aid in building up the attendance of the Mexican children, who are absenting themselves from the schoolrooms.

Thomas Treney is giving the school lawn a thorough going over, having employed a man and horse to plow up the bermuda. Mr. and Mrs. James Saffran and family, of Pasadena, called Sunday afternoon on Mrs. H. O. Chamberlain, after which all motored to Long Beach to see Mrs. Chamberlain at the hospital there.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Day accompanied Mrs. C. F. Day, who has been a guest in the Day home the past few days, to her home in Corona Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Edward, brother of J. L. Edward, were forced to leave their home in the night when police aroused them to the fact that the water was rising in the very room in which they were sleeping, in their home in Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Ward, of Alhambra, called Sunday afternoon at the O. J. Day home. John Thomas, father of Mrs. Ora La Schieher, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Schieher for the past two months, will leave Tuesday for his home in Odessa, Mo. He visited Catalina Island Monday.

Mrs. L. W. Conn made a flying trip to her Pasadena home Saturday night, but returned the next evening to be with her mother, Mrs. H. H. Sands, who, since leaving her bed, has not gained strength as rapidly as it was hoped. She was taken for a first outing Sunday afternoon in many weeks, and as a result was completely exhausted.

Since her illness, Mrs. Sands has been the subject of loving inquiry by a host of friends, and although too ill to see them, Mr. Sands stated that this kind interest in her welfare has helped to cheer her and increase her desire to get well.

Mrs. Floyd Morris, accompanied by Mrs. F. B. Eienor, of Huntington Beach, was a guest Friday at a bridge luncheon in the Virginia hotel, Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hays spent Saturday in Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Salem and two children, Betty and Russell, former residents here, visited Sunday with old neighbors. They are now living in Ventura.

W. E. Harvey, Santa Ana real estate man, has purchased the water system of the C. A. Wishart tract.

CONTENTS OF SLOT MACHINE ARE TAKEN

Breaking in a rear door of the place of F. H. Rudolph, 1029 East Fourth street, last night, burglars took a slot machine from a front counter to the rear of the store, broke it open and took the contents, according to a report filed today with city police.

It is the second slot machine burglary within the last two days, according to police records.

A watch also was stolen from the store by the thieves.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Hodge, of Riverside, were week-end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Arnett.

Earl Crawford is ill at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Thompson of Laguna Beach, called Sunday on Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Arnett and on their daughter, Mildred, who, on account of flood conditions, was unable to reach her school.

Mrs. J. A. Knapp and Doyle Stockton spent Saturday evening in Long Beach.

Little Beatrice Jane Knapp was very ill on Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Emery spent Sunday in Long Beach.

The Happy Workers will meet Wednesday for their regular all day meeting. Mrs. Harry Penhall and committee will be in charge of the dinner. The members have been requested to bring their sewing tools to do a little work on the stage curtain. For the entertainment of the afternoon, each committee is arranging some one thing to contribute to the pleasure of the afternoon. All women of Westminister are invited to visit with the society for the day in the church hall.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hare honored Mr. Hare's mother, Mrs. E. A. Hare, with a lovely birthday dinner Sunday, at which members of both families were present.

F. W. Williams received a wire on Monday morning, telling of the death of his youngest brother, Rhesa, who died at 6 o'clock Sunday evening in a hospital at Tucson, Arizona. He leaves a wife and 19 year old son.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Day entertained guests at dinner Sunday from Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kazmur.

A son was born Sunday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fogler. The baby has been named Roy Arthur.

Richard Leroy Rowe is visiting in Long Beach for several days with Mrs. F. B. Bushnell.

Man Sought More Than Year Nabbed In Southern City
Sought by sheriff's officers for more than a year, W. J. Haddock, 48, was arrested yesterday in San Diego and returned here last night by Deputy Sheriffs Ed McClellan and Don Mozley.

Haddock is wanted on a charge of non-support of several children.

His trial was set by Justice Kenneth Morrison today for March 1, at 9 a. m., and bail was fixed at $500. Haddock did not make bail.

Her Hair Fairly SPARKLES Now!

The woman who knows what to do after waving her hair doesn't fear the effect of hot irons. Nor of frequent washings. A few drops of Danderine-on comb or towel—and the hair is soft and lustrous, and behaves beautifully.

A bit of Danderine rubbed into the scalp, is the one sure way to dissolve every particle of dandruff. But a few drops more make a dressing that is simply marvelous. A sheen that rivals brillianine, and no grease!

Any permanent wave or water wave lasts much longer and looks much nicer when Danderine is used instead of water to "set" the wave.

SOLONS ARE TO TAKE UP MOTOR LAW'S REVISION

(By United Press) SACRAMENTO, Feb. 23.—Designed to cut down the number of accidents and better to protect both the motorist and pedestrian, several stringent changes in the California motor vehicle act will be considered by the state legislature. The bill, carrying the amendments was introduced by Senator Arthur H. Breed, of Oakland, following recommendations of the motor vehicle conference committee representing automobile clubs of the state and other organizations. One of the most important amendments would make examination of all new applicants for licenses compulsory instead of discretionary with the division of motor vehicles, as at present. Under another change, the court would have no authority to impose a sentence greater than that recommended by the jury in a conviction of driving while intoxicated. This is designed to prevent the difficulty of securing convictions by juries reluctant to sentence the offender to a maximum of three years in state prison, together with a $5000 fine. Aimed at fake sales, an amendment would make it unlawful to refuse or neglect to deliver the certificate of ownership to a purchaser who has made full payment for his machine and is entitled to the pink slip. More stringent provisions are inserted as to display of the registration card, making it necessary to have the card placed so as to be easily read from the outside of the vehicle. To decrease thefts, a state stolen car record would be required and applications for registration would be checked against it before registering or transferring registration. Reports of accidents involving deaths or personal injuries would be made to the division of motor vehicles under another amendment, so that an accurate record showing the cause and location of accidents could be compiled. Another change would make it unlawful to equip a machine with or use a muffler cut-out after Jan. 1, 1927. This gives an ample length of time, it is thought, in which cut-outs could be eliminated.

Whittier Defeats Branch Quintette

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23.—Leo Calland's Whittier Poets had a good grip on the southern conference basketball title today by virtue of their 21 to 22 win last night over the Southern Branch Bruins at the Olympic auditorium. "Caddy" Works' Bruins appeared state after their previous string of wins, while the Poets were at top form for the clash, and displayed enough slants to make them a prime favorite in the concluding contest of the season Saturday night at Whittier.

THERMOMETER WORKS HARD AT DEATH VALLEY STATION

GOLDFIELD, Nev., Feb. 23.—Summer and winter, the easiest job in the world is that of government rain gauge at Furnace Creek ranch, Death valley, just across the California line from here.

Summer and winter, too, of all thermometers in use that at Furnace Creek is the hardest worked. An inch and a half of moisture a year is all that the rain gauge is called upon to register. But the thermometer must be prepared to record heat as high as 134 degrees in the shade and 167 degrees in the sun.

The spot where the weather bureau's Death valley observations post is located, moreover, relatively is a cool one. Out on the valley's bare sands, the temperature climbs to heights that never have been ascertained.

Below Sea Level The observation post boasts a still further distinction. Its location is 178 feet below sea level—the lowest weather-recording site in the country.

Ordinary government thermometers are useless at Furnace Creek ranch. When the summer sunshine hits its high stride, they blow up. When the weather bureau first established its Death valley post, a thermometer graduated to 140 degrees Fahrenheit was set up. It worked all right for awhile. Then came July. The mercury rose and rose. It passed 130, 131, 132, 133 and paused at 134, a shade record exceeded only by a reading at Azizia, Libya.

Wrecked by Curiosity One hundred thirty-four degrees in the shade! How much higher would the mercury go out in the sunshine? Some inquisitive person undertook to find out. That was the end of the thermometer.

A special instrument graduated to 180 degrees replaced it. This continues to function, although under a severe strain at times. The rain gauge, meanwhile, has a sinecure. It loafs idly most of the year while the thermometer is working like an ant. More rain than Death valley's annual average of an inch and a half often falls in one storm in most other places.

Winter, too, is comfortably warm in Death valley, automobile tourists find. Blizzards may rage in the Sierras to the west and the Rockies to the east, but in the valley the temperature hovers around the 50-degree mark.

Weather bureau statistics credit the valley with an average of 350 cloudless days a year. (Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

The mercury rose and rose. It passed 130, 131, 132, 133 and paused at 134, a shade record exceeded only by a reading at Azizia, Libya.

Wrecked by Curiosity One hundred thirty-four degrees in the shade! How much higher would the mercury go out in the sunshine? Some inquisitive person undertook to find out. That was the end of the thermometer.

A special instrument graduated to 180 degrees replaced it. This continues to function, although under a severe strain at times. The rain gauge, meanwhile, has a sinecure. It loafs idly most of the year while the thermometer is working like an ant. More rain than Death valley's annual average of an inch and a half often falls in one storm in most other places.

Winter, too, is comfortably warm in Death valley, automobile tourists find. Blizzards may rage in the Sierras to the west and the Rockies to the east, but in the valley the temperature hovers around the 50-degree mark.

Weather bureau statistics credit the valley with an average of 350 cloudless days a year. (Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

Watch for Friday's Announcement

Oil Company Will Ascertain Damage Done by Overflow

The Union Oil company plans to bring citrus experts to northern Orange county to ascertain the damage caused when 30,000 barrels of oil overflowed the countryside. It was announced last night at a meeting of interested citrus owners, in the Placentia grammar school, that a "no vacancy" sign was stolen from the apartments last night.

A spotlight was stolen last night from a car owned by C. E. McPadden, Greenville, while the machine was parked in the 400 block on Birch street, according to a report filed with the police today by McPadden.

Charged with vagrancy, P. Santos, 24, was arrested last night by Officers Barnard and Adams and lodged in the county jail. Santos was found asleep in a box car on the Santa Fe tracks, it was said.

The case of E. A. Biggs, charged with vagrancy, was dismissed in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court early today on motion of the district attorney.

To the destruction of the city of London by fire in 1666 may be traced the present system of fire insurance. The first company was formed at that time.

CITY DELIVERY OF MAIL TO BE EXTENDED SOON TO 350 HOMES

Two New Carriers Will Be Added to Santa Ana Post Office, Says Postmaster

CHANGE TO BECOME EFFECTIVE MARCH 1

Proper Receptacles Must Be Provided by Patrons For Letters and Papers

City mail delivery is to be extended to include approximately 350 residences, under authorization given today to Postmaster T. E. Stephenson by the first assistant postmaster general, at Washington.

A general readjustment of city mail routes is to be instituted by the Santa Ana office, starting March 1. This readjustment, together with the new territory taken into city delivery on March 1, will call for the addition of two new city carriers to the city carrier force, which rises to the city carrier force, which at this time numbers 21.

Recently, Stephenson petitioned for a number of extensions into areas not now served by city carriers. In general, the postmaster stated, the extensions include the south of Fairview, Edgewood road area west of South Main street and its cross streets, and most of North Broadway Park.

Details of Extensions

In detail, the extensions granted are outlined at the post office as follows:

Santiago from Santa Clara to Edgewood.

Edgewood from Santiago to Main, together with Poinsettia, Valencia, French and Spurgeon streets, each for one block south from Edgewood and Valencia for one block north.

Roe drive, Main to the Southern Pacific tracks.

Fairmont, two blocks north from Santa Clara.

Freeman, Eighth to Ninth.

West Sixth, Artesia to Forest.

Myrtle, Orange to Halladay.

Halladay, Chestnut to Orange and Wakoham to Cubbon.

Fairview, Flower to a point 350 feet west.

Garnsey, Russell to Wilshire.

Parton, Wilshire to Edinger.

Van Ness, Wilshire to St. Gertrude's.

Ross, Wilshire to Edinger.

Birch, 150 feet north of Wilshire to Borchard.

Broadway, Fairview to Borchard.

Ross, Occidental to St. Gertrude's.

Riverside drive, Benton way to point 200 feet west.

Heliotrope, from point 250 feet west.

ESPEE LOCOMOTIVE PASSES THROUGH BUSINESS CENTER ON TRACKS OF P. E. LINE

The Southern Pacific and the Pacific Electric railway companies combined yesterday in making new railroad history in Santa Ana when a big locomotive of the steam line company rolled through the main business center of Santa Ana on the tracks of the electric line.

And still more history was made when the steam locomotive, of the "hugger" type, left the rails and rested on one of the main business thoroughfares of the city, blocking P. E. cars for a time.

The big engine, however, did not come down on its own power and trailed after one of the types of motors that has threatened the field of the steam engine in short hauls. The engine was pulled here in a train of 25 freight cars, brought from Los Angeles yesterday afternoon, reaching this city at about 2 o'clock. The big motor followed its "lead" in splendid shape until the electric powered engine pulled the string of trailing cars off Fourth street at the curve where the new depot is to be erected by the Pacific Electric company.

Engine Jumps Track

When the curve was built it was not constructed in anticipation of use by a steam engine and the trailing locomotive jumped the tracks and became hopelessly stalled so far as concerned the possibility of getting it around the curve and on to the tracks of the Southern Pacific company at Dyer, where the transfer was to be made.

The steam line company was left "high and dry" here and without a switch engine in the yards when the floods of last week crippled the tracks between here and Los Angeles. The engine was being sent here for yard service.

The big locomotive was frogged back onto the rails and was sent back to Los Angeles. An engine for use in the Santa Ana yards later was sent down on the Southern Pacific line. The operation was completed by transferring the engine to the Santa Fe tracks in Anaheim and from the Santa Fe line to the Southern Pacific tracks upon arrival here.

Bridges Being Repaired

According to M. F. Logue, depot agent here, the Southern Pacific lines will be open between Santa Ana and Los Angeles late today or early tomorrow morning. Repairs are being made to the bridges across Santiago creek and the Santa Ana river, both structures being damaged by flood waters. Approximately 700 feet of track was washed out between the West Orange depot and the Santa Ana river bridge.

The agent also expressed the belief that the company would, within three or four days, resume operation of its freight train around the loop from Santa Ana to Newport Beach, Huntington Beach, Wintersburg, Snelzer, Westminster, Anaheim, McPherson and Tustin.

SAYS BOB GOING CUT

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23.—No young person nowadays would think of bobbing her hair if Miss Clara Miller, secretary of the Philadelphia Hairdressers' association, is correct. Flappers are letting the tresses grow, she says, because mature women have adopted the bob.

He Couldn't Tell Lie, But Where's That Case Booze?

Yesterday was the 195th anniversary of George Washington. People throughout the United States observed the day. Tribute to the father of our country and to the paragon of honesty was paid in true Washington style by E. J. Cleveland, of 3540 West Pico street, Los Angeles, according to George Contreras, Los Angeles county dry agent.

"I can not tell a lie," said young Washington, according to the legend of the cherry tree. "I did it with my little hatchet."

"I can not tell a lie," said Cleveland over the phone to Contreras. "I found a case of Scotch whiskey washed up on the beach in front of my cottage in Laguna Beach this morning."

A trifle stunned, Contreras advised Cleveland to turn the liquor over to Orange county authorities. But today the memory of Washington is fading for another year—perhaps the element of truthfulness is not so inspired in the public today.

At any rate, Orange county officers have not heard from Cleveland.

MISSIONARIES ARE REPORTED AS SAFE

Word was received here this week that the Rev. Ralph Powell and wife, the former a nephew of the Rev. Herman Powell, 2002 Valencia street, had left China and were on their way to New York.

They reside in Michigan. The Rev. Ralph Powell was connected with a church sponsored by the Yale alumni, in Shanghai. A cablegram to the effect that he and his wife were safe and had left China was received by the Powell family here.

Accountant Meets With Supervisors

The county supervisors were in conference today with J. P. Gilman, representing a prominent Los Angeles firm of accountants, with reference to the recently authorized inspection of county road department records.

Gilman told the board that, from a cursory examination of the department's accounting system, he could recommend certain savings, but that he had not yet made a close study of the records.

TRAIN SERVICE TO SAN DIEGO STILL CRIPPLED

Santa Fe Company Hopes To Have Trouble Fixed Early Part of Next Week

With four gangs, numbering more than 300 men, working night and day repairing the storm damage, it is expected complete train service between Los Angeles and San Diego, without transfer of passengers at Stuart and Oceanside, will be restored by next Monday, February 28, according to advice received here today by F. T. Smith, agent of the Santa Fe railroad.

Yesterday, a shuttle service, limited to two trains a day from each terminal, transferring passengers by motor coaches between Stuart and Oceanside, a distance of four miles, was installed over the Los Angeles-San Diego line. While southbound trains, leaving Los Angeles at 9:15 a. m. and 2:30 p. m., maintained train schedule as far as Stuart, a flag station four miles this side of Oceanside, the transfer of passengers by automobile between that point and Oceanside involved considerable delay due to inadequate transportation, it was disclosed.

Train No. 71, which left San Diego at 9:00 a. m. yesterday, did not arrive here until 4:30 p. m. With but two buses and two trucks to transport passengers, mail, baggage and express, necessitating several trips, it required several hours to complete the transfer, inquiries from passengers revealed. Another circumstance contributing to the delay, it was thought, was the congestion created by the presence of wrecking and repair cars, which occupied all available space on sidings and had to be moved for a considerable distance to clear the tracks for the regular trains.

To eliminate these delays, it was announced by Smith, a train dispatcher with telegraph and telephone apparatus, has been stationed at Stuart, and additional motor equipment has been taken to Oceanside to handle the transfer of passengers and their baggage.

Yesterday's trains, both northbound and southbound, operated in eight days, carried capacity loads of passengers, which circumstance added to the difficulties of the situation.

RESUME ARGUMENT ON CLUB APPEALS

Resumption of argument on the appeals of the Blue Wing Shooting club and the West Shore Gun club from convictions and fines for waste of water in this county occupied Superior Judge G. H. Ames' attention Monday and is scheduled to be again before the court next Friday. The case had been partially presented to the court several weeks ago.

Attorneys L. A. West and George P. Adams, representing the gun clubs, reviewed testimony in the gun club trials at length, Monday, arguing to the court that the testimony given supported the contention of the gun clubs that the water used on their preserves was for a beneficial purpose, chiefly the reclamation of land for agricultural purposes.

Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodgett expects to reply Friday.

Fullerton Man Is Again Head of Checker Players

E. P. Elliott, of Fullerton, has been re-elected president of the California Checker association, the election taking place at the annual tournament in Pasadena.

M. L. Davis, of Hermosa Beach, and W. M. Courtney, of Long Beach, were named vice president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

The tournament will continue throughout the week. Checker experts from all over the United States are participating.

STORM STORIES 'STRETCHED' IN CHICAGO PAPER

Wild and exaggerated reports of flood conditions in Santa Ana, appearing in the Chicago Tribune on Thursday of last week, were responsible for a telegraphic query to Fred P. Jayne, president and manager of the California Cattle company, as to the advisability of a person coming to Santa Ana at this time, it became known today.

R. T. Eaton, manager of the Sheldon School of Salesmanship, in Chicago, and Mrs. Eaton were contemplating a visit to the Jayne family here. To make sure that conditions here were safe, Eaton telegraphed Jayne as follows:

"Papers report serious damage from floods, especially in Santa Ana. Do you think it safe for a fellow who cannot swim to venture into California now? Wire me conditions."

On Saturday, Jayne had received a letter from Eaton commenting on conditions here as reported by the Chicago Tribune.

"Chicago Tribune news utterly unreliable," Jayne wired his friend yesterday. "Discount California flood stories 99 per cent. Santa Ana virtually unharmed and all California, rejoicing over glorious rainfall. If snow and slush will let you out of Chicago, will expect you Monday. At Banning see thousands of acres of apricot, almond and cherry trees in full bloom. Notify Tribune."

The Eatons are scheduled to depart for Santa Ana tomorrow, according to Jayne, and it will be the latter's pleasure to show his visitors a community that suffered little damage compared with that intimated in stories that were carried in many papers throughout the east.

Abnormal Gift of 'Eyeless Vision' Scientifically Explained

Arrangements were completed today whereby Hayward Thompson, the man who "sees through his skin," will give a number of interesting demonstrations of his remarkable ability in Santa Ana next Saturday. Among other things he will drive his Oakland automobile through downtown streets, obeying all traffic signals and successfully avoiding pedestrians and vehicles. Details of this and other tests will appear in The Register daily. In the meantime, Thompson has written for The Register his own explanation of his peculiar means of vision.

By HAYWARD THOMPSON

The scientific explanation of my seemingly abnormal gift of parapsychic vision is something that has been asked me thousands of times by those who have witnessed my exhibitions in this country and in Europe during the last four and one-half years.

I will start by taking as correct premise (and modern science accepts this) that all physical phenomena are but aggregations of electrical points of force. Thus our reaction called "sight" is an answering synchronous vibration or pulse of electric discharge (and resultant electric waves) brought to the brain via retina and optic nerve.

Normal brain power now established upon the "one octave" plan can receive those waves only which neither fall below nor rise above it. This is analogous to our solar spectrum, at the lower or longer wave end of which the infra-red is invisible and that the upper, or more rapid, wave length where the ultra-violet is also invisible. Photography testifies to the presence of these invisible rays.

Two Layers of Skin

After the injury to my physical brain was received it was incidentally discovered that I am in possession of only two layers of skin, and am what is commonly called a "bleeder." The normal human has three layers of epidermis. It is supposed that the injury to my brain threw that instrument out of adjustment to the ordinary rates of vibration, or, rather, to the limited area of energy received by normal men, and another octave was gained, supplementing by that much the vision already possessed. This supplementary vision is received through the cells of the skin and conveyed to the visionary centers of the brain.

As the scale of normal visibility ends with the violet ray, it follows that a new octave is beginning at that point. Violet, being a mingling of the blue ray at the highest end of our spectrum with the first faint glimmering of the lowest wave length (red) of a higher octave, shows us, as it were, an endless ladder of light now invisible to ordinary eyes.

Within this next higher octave there must also be the three primary colors and their intermingling shades, so from basis red will

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid liver.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil. No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation—you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them, 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

ORCHESTRA TO GIVE CONCERTS IN EBELL HOME

Having secured the use of Ebell auditorium for a series of alternate Sunday vesper services, the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra will present the first of four concerts next Sunday afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock, in the clubhouse auditorium.

Tickets already have been placed on sale in the Santa Ana bookstores, where patrons may obtain them for the extremely low price set by the orchestra merely that expenses of the concerts might be met. The bi-weekly concerts will feature a different soloist at each performance, the initial one to present Lambert Baker, prominent baritone, of Los Angeles. He will be remembered for the prominent part he has taken in performances of "The Messiah" and "Elijah" by the vested choir of the First Methodist church, having sung in the presentations here of the famous oratorios.

His choice as soloist for the first vesper service was considered a happy one by friends of the symphony orchestra, as he is a general favorite here. Other well known artists have promised their assistance on subsequent programs.

The vesper dates, as selected by the orchestra, will be February 23, March 14, March 28 and April 11. Patrons who have not the opportunity to get their tickets in the bookstore may obtain them by mail by writing to D. C. Clanton, director, or Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, business manager, of the orchestra.

SENTENCE IN BOOZE CASE IS POSTPONED

Time for pronouncing judgment in the case of Earl Williams, Sunset Beach man, who last week pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor, was continued for several days, today, until deputy sheriff can investigate a report by Williams that he had $99 in his possession just prior to his arrest.

A $500 fine was levied against Williams today and then withdrawn by Justice Kenneth Morrison on motion of Deputy District Attorney Sam Collinder who told the court that he understood that Williams' family was dependent on him for support. It was at this time that the court decided to investigate the report by Williams that he gave a garage man in Sunset Beach $350 in cash, just before he was arrested.

Williams was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Dan Adams on February 7. He is alleged to have had several pints of liquor in his possession at the time.

S. A. Rotarians to Attend Catalina Island Excursion

A number of Santa Ana Rotarians are planning to join the excursion of Southern California Rotarians to Catalina March 12 and 13. The Rotarians have chartered a steamer and have made arrangements for many amusement features.

The Rev. O. Scott McFarland, new pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was introduced to the Santa Ana club yesterday by S. W. Suddaby, Rotarian and a member of the official board of the church. The pastor addressed the club.

With L. G. Swales in charge, yesterday's gathering of Rotarians, at St. Ann's Inn, was marked by entertainment features, including a solo by Robert Brown.

CLEM BELIEVES DEEP CHANNEL WOULD REMOVE FLOOD MENACE

CONSTANT THREAT TO MUCH PROPERTY

Santa Ana Is Member of Committee to Prepare Plans for Control Work

Dredging a channel in the Santa Ana river fifteen feet deep and 100 feet wide from Yorba to the ocean, at an approximate cost of $200,000, is suggested by Stanley Clem, manager of the Santa Ana Lumber company, as a temporary solution to the Santa Ana river control problem until the project of a dam at Prado can be carried to completion.

Clem is the owner of one of the pieces of property flooded by the Santa Ana river in the district immediately adjacent to the Chapman street bridge and he advanced the channel plan at a meeting of citizens of Anaheim, held Monday night for the purpose of discussing organization for river protection for that immediate vicinity.

The Santa Ana man suggested that the problem was one in which the entire county should co-operate and with this in view Clem was made a member of a committee appointed to draft plans and specifications for river control and present them tomorrow at a meeting in the Anaheim high school auditorium.

"Since the flood waters have almost submerged me, I have had considerable time and food for thought," Clem said today. "So far as I know, there never has been a genuine, concerted county-wide effort to devise ways and means to protect the county, the richest and most beautiful county in the United States, from flood waters, which come down the Santa Ana river in periods of extra heavy rainfall.

"If an of kind of thinking that there never has been any real constructive work to protect the citizens and property from this ever-present menace. I say this in the spirit of 'constructive thinking and with malice toward none."

Right Kind of Thinking

"The right kind of thinking was being done by the group of Anaheim men who gathered in the high school auditorium there Monday night and discussed plans for the organization of a district for protection of lands in that district."

"However, I believe that organization of a number of districts for protection work along the river would be throwing away effort and money that could be used more effectively and more efficiently in creating protection for the entire county under a county-wide program.

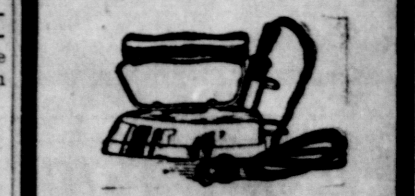

"The river is a constant menace and discouragement to proper development of hundreds of acres of good land along its course between Yorba and the ocean. Proper protection of these lands would add millions of dollars to their assessed valuation and profitable crops would add millions to the crop returns of the county. Alkali lands could be drained and made fertile with little effort and expense.

"To make the river safe for any

His Personal Theory
But if a man's fundamental (or subconscious) mind can "see," it must be by a scale of mental light similar in character to our solar light. Before proceeding further let me say that I am presenting this only as a personal theory, with no thought of creating controversy.
If these higher energies give to me a "feeling," or whatever you may term it, which betrays to me their presence, a greater unfoldment of this faculty would give me clear vision of showing me shape, color and every other visible attribute possessed by them.
Every earthly object has its own particular rate of vibration, varying rates constituting their form and character and a mind liberated from the normal confines of normal vision may find itself possessed of reacting powers answering to the higher rates of energy, those not received through channels of optic nerves and sight centers but susceptible to supersensitive nerve ends in the skin.
Every "thing" has a normal rate of vibration which constitutes its material impression, and two higher rates perceptible only to refined or abnormal media. By closing the eyes (bandaging tightly) the surface—or normal sense of perception is rendered quiescent—insert perception is allowed to take its place.
It is not my intent to thrust upon a skeptical public any ideas or theories that are not based and founded upon fact. It is not my purpose to create in the minds of those who witness my "blind" driving exhibition through the streets of Santa Ana the idea that I claim any supernatural abilities nor do I question the proposition that every man is possessed with the same ability as I.
May Inspect Car
Those who suspect that radio may play some part in my exhibition, or that some mechanical device is used, or that, as has been often stated, there is a concealed driver in my automobile, may inspect my car prior to the exhibition next Saturday.
I have made over 300 public exhibitions driving my automobile alone and unaided while deprived of my normal vision, in all of the large cities of America and abroad and not once have I disobeyed a traffic law, scratched a fender or touched a pedestrian.
According to W. H. Watson, Thompson's business manager, arrangements were completed today to make stops at several places of business during the "blind" drive Saturday. Among those selected are Cadillac garage, Santa Ana Oakland dealer, and Orange County Ignition works, which has been invited to take care of the Willard battery and the Remy electrical system on Thompson's Oakland.
Watson made further interesting statements today regarding the part chiropractic played in Thompson's remarkable recovery of both sight and memory. It seems that Pathe News were taking pictures of the man and showing them over the country in an attempt to have him identified. Leo Spears, chiropractor in Denver, Colo., noticed in these pictures that Thompson apparently had a stiff neck. He immediately offered his services in an attempt to restore sight and memory, which he succeeded in doing.
After each exhibition Thompson is left stone blind for a period of from 15 minutes to a half hour, according to the length of the performance. According to Watson, the cause of the original trouble was found to have been the dislocation of the first and second vertebrae of the spine and the vertebrae again become dislocated during each of his exhibitions, necessitating an adjustment by a reputable chiropractor. Drs. Workman and Workman, Santa Ana chiropractors, have been retained by Watson to take care of Thompson after his Santa Ana exhibition.
An announcement will be made later in the week as to the demonstrations to be given in Santa Ana and the time at which they may be seen.

WEST COAST-WALKER
Women, according to August Harter, a wise-cracking plumber's assistant who appears with George O'Brien and Olive Borden in "Fig Leaves," current attraction at the West Coast-Walker theater, are never satisfied.
"The more you give 'em," August tells Adam Smith, "the more they want. You can't please 'em and you can't understand 'em. Take my tip, and don't try."
This plumber's assistant knows all about Adam's business. In fact, he knows all about everything—except plumbing. He joshes Adam for making love to Eve, pans him for giving his wife such a sum of money, advises him to treat her rough, and ends by telling Adam that he knew all along that Eve was the finest girl in the world! But this is after Adam has had one of the most dramatic experiences of his humble career.
In the "Fig Leaves" cast are scores of beautiful models and some of the most popular actresses on the West Coast. The cast includes besides Miss Borden, Eulalie Jensen, Phyllis Haver, Cecile Evans, Dorothy Dunbar and many others.
Fashion revue sequences, done in Technicolor, bring out in detail the magnificent sets designed by William Cameron Menzies. Gowns, fashioned by one of the foremost dress designers of New York and Paris, are set to impress anything of the kind ever attempted before the motion picture camera.

YOST BROADWAY THEATRE
While the story is written in the atmosphere of New York stage life, this being merely used as a background against which is woven a tapestry of romance, "Dame Chance" is as poignant a love story as has reached the screen in many months, according to the press release comments which have attended its various showings about the country.
"Dame Chance," opening tonight at the Yost Broadway theater, revolves about the life and experiences of the leading lady of a small stock company.
In the cast are such capable artists as Robert Fraser, Julanne Johnston, Mary Carr, Lincoln Stedman, Gertrude Astor and in one of the important roles David Hartford himself returns actually to the silver screen after an absence of many years.

Must Provide Receipts
Postmaster Stephenson said that service will be given houses in the new extensions March 1, where proper mail receipts or door slots for mail have been provided.
"The carriers are prohibited," said Stephenson, "from accepting cheap tin boxes for service. These boxes quickly rust, the edges become sharp, and carriers' hands are cut. One carrier's hand, cut and infected, aside from the personal harm done the carrier, might cost the government hundreds or thousands of dollars for insurance compensation. Therefore, we must insist on having acceptable letter boxes. Wooden boxes large enough to receive letters and papers make the best receptacle of all."
The postmaster said that, in recent months, the routes of a number of carriers have become so heavy that help has been found necessary to give the residence sections two full deliveries a day, as contemplated by the department.
"In its letter of instructions," said Stephenson, "the department recognizes the growth and development of Santa Ana, and grants our petition for permission to make a general readjustment of routes."

Public Invited To Attend Open Players' Meet
Music, one-act plays and a general good time is the program outlined for an open meeting of Santa Ana Community Players, announced today by the president, Lynn H. Crawford, as scheduled for Tuesday night, March 1, in the Players' theatrical home, the Temple theater.
Everyone is invited to attend and have a good time with the members and enjoy the program, which will begin at 8 o'clock. Two one-act plays will be given. One of the promised features being the presentation of "Funiculi-Funiculi" with Mona Summers Smith, Ernest Crozier Phillips and George Gerwing in the cast.
The program, including musical numbers, will be announced in full in the near future. In the meantime, all Community Players and their friends and patrons are asked to reserve Tuesday night for the affair.

In selecting the cast for "God's Great Wilderness," current attraction at the Yost Director David Hartford assembled an array of screen artists.
Lillian Rich has the leading female role. In recent years she has been starred in several outstanding pictures.
The ruggedness of the timber country finds apt expression in the exceptional character delineation by Russell Simpson as the brutal Richard Stoner, while Joseph Bennett, by his sterling acting in this unusual drama, has established himself beyond question as an admirable leading man, youthful, handsome and talented. Mary Carr, known to the world as the original "screen mother," is to be seen at her best in "God's Great Wilderness."
MURPHY'S COMEDIANS
"Billy's Tombstones," a farce-comedy in three acts, is playing all this week at Murphy's theater at Orana. Unlike most plays, this makes no attempt at a serious vein. It was written solely for comedy and succeeds in its purpose.
The scene of the play is laid on board the S. S. Havannah, an ocean liner, on its way across the Atlantic. The comedy plot of the play concerns a college football player who had four of his teeth kicked out, much to his future embarrassment.
Motorist Charged With Recklessness
M. O. Mitchell, Garden Grove, was arrested by State Traffic Officers Barnhill and Hurd at Seventeenth street and Huntington Beach boulevard last night, on a reckless driving charge. He was cited to appear in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court. Mitchell was driving 37 miles an hour over a 15-mile intersection without lights on his machine, according to Hurd.
Man Arrested on Possession Count
The finding, today, of two-thirds of a gallon of alleged whiskey and a case of empty bottles on his property on Romney drive, west of Fullerton, by deputy sheriffs, led to the arrest of J. T. Hill. Hill was brought into Justice Kenneth Morrison's court and his preliminary examination on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor was set for April 25, at 9 a. m.

CLEM BELIEVES DEEP CHANNEL FLOOD SOLUTION
length of time, it would cost at least $100,000 per mile to construct along the river walls that would be effective in resisting the floods and then there would be tremendous expense each year to keep them in repair. They would prohibit any possibility of creating more land on each side of the river and would make the situation more hazardous, as those along the river would be in constant danger of damage by a break in the river.
Walls Would Cost $2,200,000
"It is about 22 miles from Yorba to the ocean and it would cost in the neighborhood of $2,200,000 to build protection walls.
"I am convinced that a more simple and permanent result can be accomplished for less than one-tenth that sum. The idea is to make water run where it should run and the only way to do this is to dredge the river from Yorba to the ocean. Some people may smile at this, but in Illinois I have gone through floods many times worse than the one we have just experienced. Do they build walls in Illinois to make water run up hill? They do not! They find it cheaper to help the river cut the channel and keep it open.
"Should a channel be dug in the Santa Ana river 15 feet deep and 100 feet wide, it will be sufficient to carry the water and the channel will keep itself open. Any engineer will verify that statement.
"Leaves built from the dredged material could be strengthened and made reasonably permanent by planting with willows."

RADIO BRINGS ARCTIC NEARER OUTSIDE WORLD
NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—A great humanitarian work, about which the world in general knows but little and which is made possible only by the miracle of radio broadcasting, is being carried on by a man whose business is the selling of hydro-electric plants, but whose hobby is making it possible for dwellers around the arctic circle to preserve a fragment of contact with the world "south of 53."
George A. Wendt, of the Canadian Westinghouse company, told just how it all started.
"Something over four years ago," he said, "I got thinking about the men in the far north who were shut off completely from contact with civilization. Once a year the boats of the big fur companies went in and took in the annual supply of food and mail and brought out the furs and correspondence. Then elapsed a period of twelve months in which these points were frozen in and heard nothing of the outside world. Think of it! The World war was a year old before these men knew anything about it!
"I hit upon the radio as a possible solution, so in 1923 I asked the co-operation of one of the big fur companies, which has been established in the arctic for 265 years. The first radio sets, seven in all, were placed in Hudson's straits and along the shores of Hudson's and James' bays. There was no attempt to make any schedule. I just sent the sets and hoped for the best, trusting that the next year would bring some reports.
"During the first few days of 1924 a letter arrived from a man at Rupert's house, James bay. He was frantic for information about his wife, who had been taken out by boat during the previous summer in a very precarious condition. I secured good news for him and, on account of government regulations about point-to-point messages over radio broadcasting stations, secured the co-operation of two ministers in Pittsburgh to broadcast the messages from their pulpits. Several months later a courier from that frozen country brought out the report that not only were all the messages received at James bay, but that the French company at Moose factory had also picked them up and sent the word by courier around James bay.
"This but served to whet my appetite," Wendt continued, "and the next year the scope of the work was greatly enlarged. Sets were placed in Baffin land and Pond's Inlet, five degrees above the arctic circle. We arranged a series of two-way tests between KDKA, WBB and KFKX, and the steamship Arctic cruising the polar seas. The boat received all of the transmissions of KDKA, WBB and KFKX on 40 meters. Its first transmission was with Molokai in San Francisco."

FARM BUREAU TO DETERMINE FLOOD DAMAGE

The farm bureau is compiling a list of the damages occasioned in Orange county by the recent flood. It is desirable to secure this information at the earliest possible date so that it may be of use in pending legislation, it was pointed out today.

In order to complete the survey early, Roy K. Bishop, president of the organization, has issued a public call, requesting all those who suffered any damage whatsoever to write to the office, 110 Hall of Records, giving the estimate of the damage. Since many may not do this, it is suggested that those who do write also send in the estimated damages of their neighbors. The duplications then will be weeded out and the total damage determined.

Damage to trees and crops by water and oil, land erosion and damage to roads, bridges and homes should be included in the list and all damages should be based on the cost of replacing the loss.

Co-operation of road officials, water companies, city officers and engineers is sought as well as that of members of the farm bureau.

U. S. TREASURER LA HABRA VISITOR

Frank White, treasurer of the United States, was an Orange county visitor yesterday, stopping for a short time at the residence of his cousin, R. W. George, in La Habra, it was learned today.

White was accompanied to La Habra by Edward Brown, of Rockford, Ill., an official of the Illinois Central railroad; Mrs. Julia Wheeler of Pasadena, sister of White; Mrs. Anna Wheeler, also of Pasadena, and Mrs. Edward Brown.

White is making his headquarters in Pasadena during his stay in California. It is understood that the government official will leave for Washington late this week.

E. W. COCHEMS CANDIDATE FOR COUNCIL POST

Edward W. Cochems, photographer, residing at 323 East Chestnut street, today definitely had pitched his hat into the city political ring and was "hot footed" on a campaign to be elected to the city council as the representative from the third ward, now represented by Charles H. Chapman.

The candidate has been a resident of Santa Ana for 13 years and friends say he has been identified with many activities tending to qualify him for consideration and direction of city affairs that will keep the community in line with the forward progress it has made.

Pointing out that he is the owner of considerable valuable property here, Cochems said that it would be his policy to hold expenses of the city to the lowest level possible and consistent with efficient and progressive advancement of the community. Cochems has been identified with the civic progress of other communities of the Southland.

Indicating some of the candidate's fraternal and business associations, a friend points out that Cochems has served two years as chancellor commander of Santa Ana lodge, No. 149, Knights of Pythias; that he is secretary and treasurer of the Pythian Building association, and that he is district deputy grand chancellor of the California domain of the Knights of Pythias. Cochems holds honorary membership in the Laguna Beach Chamber of Commerce and the Santa Ana Realty board, the memberships being given in recognition of services given by Cochems to the two organizations. He is a member of Santa Ana lodge, No. 237, I. O. O. F., and Santa Ana lodge, No. 1025, Loyal Order of Moose.

Cochems has had newspaper experience, having at one time been associated editor of a small chain of newspapers.

Wine Shortage Worries French Liquor Lovers

PARIS, Feb. 23.—France is facing a shortage of wine and many a Frenchman is melancholy at the prospect of having less to drink and paying more for it than ever. Wine has doubled in price in the last three months and the dealers say that there will be a further rise of 50 per cent before spring.

The ordinary Frenchman no longer complains that prohibition in America has cut off one of his country's most profitable markets. He now is afraid that there won't even be enough wine to keep everybody in France contented even if all the rest of the world goes dry.

Today he is paying four francs for a carafe of red wine such as was sold for two francs last autumn, and next spring he is going to have to pay six francs for it, the dealers say.

There are three principal causes for this rise. The first is that the 1926 crop was short, amounting to only 42,000,000 hectoliters as compared with 75,000,000 in 1925.

Consumption amounts to 50 million hectoliters annually, which means an average of almost 150 quarts to every man, woman and child in the country.

Foreign countries absorbed most of the surplus of the 1925 crop, so there is hardly any left over to make up the shortage.

The second cause is that the French are drinking more wine than they did in prewar days.

The third cause is the postwar law prohibiting the makers of liquors from using anything except grapes and other fruits in brewing their products.

Before the war they were allowed to use potatoes, beet roots and grain.

The Super-Six Principle freed to the Limit—

and Beauty to Match Its Matchless Performance

The body styles created for the New Hudson Super-Six have shared equally with its brilliant new performance in its enormously successful reception everywhere shown. At the New York Show and all subsequent Automobile Shows the Hudson-Essex exhibit has outdrawn any other by two and three to one. It is the high point of the year in interest, discussion and sales activity.

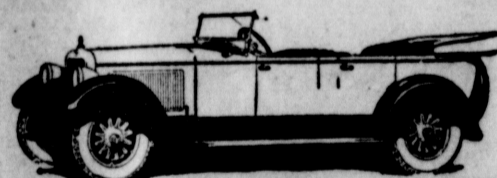

The new Hudson bodies are of such variety and beauty as will satisfy all demands for luxury and exclusiveness as well as comfort and price advantage.

The Super-Six principle, now freed to the limit, delivers its power with the smooth flow of an electric motor. Throughout, the car is engineered to make full use of its stream of energy. And so the Super-Six gets under way faster and with a total absence of the violent lunge usual to high-powered cars.

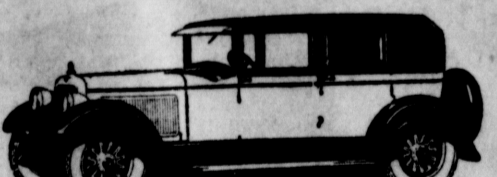

It glides into motion from a standing start. Even at high you always have untapped reserves of power for quick acceleration. Four-wheel brakes just as softly and effectively check your speeds.

In motor and chassis, both new, the Hudson Super-Six reaches new heights of speed, safety, comfort and performance.

In the Essex Super-Six—sharing all these advantages in comfort, safety, quality, and surpassing motor efficiency—there are five new bodies—entirely new in appearance, beauty, smart upholstery and appointment.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: James J. Hill

Sketches By Kroesen
Synopsis By Braucher

James J. Hill, called America's "empire builder" because of his genius for railroad construction and financing, was born Sept. 16 1838, of Irish stock, at Rockwood, Ont., 40 miles from Toronto. After four years of study at Rockwood Academy he came to St. Paul, Minn., then a small shipping point on the Mississippi river.

Hill was 18 years old when he took a job in St. Paul as a steamer clerk booking shiploads of furs, grain and minerals.

Young Hill was a great reader, also a fighter. Once he worsted two thugs who attacked him at night in a St. Paul street.

Hill booked shipments of the first Minnesota flour to be exported. Minnesota flour was unheard of, so its promoters stamped it with an Ohio name. It proved more popular than genuine Ohio brands, and the name soon was changed. When a 10-mile railroad was laid from the Falls of St. Anthony to St. Paul, in 1862, Hill began to see a great idea. THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The mighty Smoke Man laughed to see the Tinies, cheerful as could be, a-hopping through the smoke rings that he'd blown out through the air. As some rings faded out of place, he'd whirl some others into space, and then he made a string of smoke that looked just like a stair.

You'd think that smoke would let them drop, but then again, if you'll just stop to think how small the Tinies are, it really isn't queer that they should have their little fling, and hop around from ring to ring. In truth, it seemed that they knew they had nothing much to fear.

The daytime went and nighttime came, and then they stopped their little game. The Smoke Man said, "If you are tired, I'll make a bed of smoke." At first they thought that he poked fun, but when the bed of smoke was done, they all flopped down and promptly found it wasn't any joke.

The sky above was very blue, and then, the first thing that they knew, a lot of little sparkling stars began to show their light. They'd pop out here and pop out there. In fact they broke forth everywhere. Of course you know how stars shine through on any real clear night.

The Smoke Man said, "Well, I must go. When morning comes I'll try to show you all a lot of other tricks way up here in the air." And then he disappeared from sight, as all the Tinies said "good-night." And, shortly something happened that gave all the bunch a scare.

A shooting star fell from the sky. The Tinies saw it sail on by. And then, somebody shouted, "Clowny's cut away from us." And sure enough, his bit of cloud was drifting off without the crowd. The shooting star had split it, and created quite a fuss.

BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

THICK EYELASHES

If your eyelashes look a little thin or short, there is one way to make them seem thicker than they really are. That is to cover them with ordinary cold cream or petroleum. This makes them glossy, so they are much more noticeable. Also it makes them look heavier. And if they are only medium dark, it actually makes them several shades darker and therefore more prominent.

This is just one of the little tricks the well-dressed, good-looking woman uses. There are lots of others. You can make yourself a harmless eyelash and eyebrow cream by holding a candle under a piece of china or glass and collecting the soot until you have quite a pile of it—about a spoonful. Mix this with a little cold cream or a little white petroleum, and you will get a black cream. Take a very small amount of this between your thumb and forefinger and spread it over the lashes. It darkens them their full length, which makes them seem much heavier and much longer than they were.

What it actually does is to make visible the full length of the hairs. Your lashes are probably quite long by measurement, but the color does not go to the very tip of each hair, therefore a fraction of an inch of each is invisible. And a fraction of an inch is a lot when it's a question of eyelashes! Another value of cold cream is that it takes the powder off the lashes. Even if your lashes and brows are as thick and attractive as you want, you can make them ugly by letting powder get over them. They'll look dusty and neglected. Spread a very little oil or cream on them and they will clear up.

These things are trifles, but they are valuable trifles and may make the whole difference between a nice looking and a nondescript, careless looking woman.

Lillian B.—You have no need to worry over the smallness of your bust at 15 years of age, as you have hardly begun to develop as yet, and three or more years will be needed for you to show any development in this way.

Mrs. F. G.—I should think the brown eyelids indicated some sluggishness in your digestive system. The shiny nose could come from this same cause also. Better bleach the hair on your arms than try removing it.

TREASURES FROM AN OLD HOMESTEAD

By Olive Roberts Barton

A sale! We stopped beside the road, lured by the magic that draws anyone in search of the "old."

I felt guilty the minute I stepped inside the house, where a kind little old lady had lived beside the road for over eighty years, and been a friend to man.

It was small and had been tidy, before desecrated by the tramping feet of strangers and the auctioneer's raucous voice. It had been more than tidy. It had been lovely!

The hall was wainscoted in paneled burled walnut, the little stair with its plain rail was simple and sweet.

In the parlor was the walnut organ kept for nearly seventy years without a scratch, and the horse-hair set with which the little bride had gone to housekeeping. On the wall in an old frame was a steel engraving of the ten commandments, illustrated and a sampler as perfect as the day it was made. "The Lord Will Provide," it said in tiny patient stitches.

An Old Spool Bed
On the porch were some things that had been sold, an old spinning wheel and an old "spool" bed. To me the greatest of all wonders was a trundle bed. Do you know what a trundle bed is? It is a little flat bed for the baby that can be pushed under the big bed in the daytime. I've seen the babies raised in that wood bed now.

Upstairs, clocks, chests and lamps were waiting to be taken away. They had been sold, and the auctioneer was now selling the carpets on the floors.

Another Treasure
In a tiny black frame hanging crooked and abandoned in an empty bedroom was a small engraved certificate that began, "I hereby certify that on the eighth day of June in the year 1859, I joined in wedlock—"

I have the little walnut, horse-hair covered parlor set. The tiny sofa holds two. I look at the sofa and think of that little black frame, desecrated and abandoned, with the words, "I do hereby certify that on the eighth day of June—"

I have not been able to sit in the little sofa yet.

THE CYNIC AND THE MONUMENT

"Ah," said the cynic at a monument.
"For what great folly was this money spent!"
"A shaft of marble for a man who died!"
Rather I think a tower to living pride.

"This thing is done because some body feared
The score of neighbors if no stone be reared."

"Yet could he speak who sleeps
Among the dead
This stone perhaps some hungry mouths had fed."

"Or made a garden where mankind could stray
And pale, white children in the sunshine play."

"Or put warm clothing on a shivering boy
Or printed books the living could enjoy."
"Tis all of that," a teller near him said.
"I cut the stone—my children ate the bread."

"You see this tower, and think it gives no joy
It put warm clothing on my little boy."

"It made a garden where my children play,
And gave the books they proudly read today."

"You call this folly, with a scornful smirk!
You've never heard men singing at their work!"

MENUS for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Orange juice, cereal cooked with dates, thin cream, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Cornmeal bunny, lettuce sandwiches, apple sauce, molasses bars, milk, tea.
DINNER—Braised leg of mutton, mashed potatoes, currant jelly, celery salad, whole wheat bread, canned greengarden plums, marble cake, milk, coffee.

Braised Leg of Mutton
One leg of mutton, 1-2 cup diced carrots, 1-4 cup diced turnip, 1 medium sized onion, 5 slices bacon, 2 teaspoons salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, 1 lemon, bread stuffing.

The butcher should remove bone from leg. Trim off fat and wipe meat with a cloth wrung out of cold water. Stuff cavity where bone was removed with stuffing and sew edges of meat together. Put three slices of bacon fat in kettle or casserole and add meat. Cover with remaining bacon, onion and lemon cut in thin slices and turnip and carrot. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and add 2 cups boiling water. Cover closely and cook over a low fire or in a moderate oven for three hours.

When tender, remove to platter and strain liquor in pan. Add water to make 2 cups and thicken with 1-2 tablespoons flour stirred to a smooth paste with a little cold water. Let the gravy boil for five minutes after thickening to insure thorough cooking of the flour.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

AUTO TAKES TOLL

By Arthur N. Pack,
President, American Nature Ass'n.

Humans are not the only creatures to die beneath the wheels of speeding automobiles. Every summer thousands of wild birds and animals are killed along our highways in this same fashion.

As is usually the case where accident overtakes the wild people, it is the slow or clumsy that suffer most frequently.

Among the birds the red-headed woodpecker heads the casualty list. His feet, wings and tail all are constructed for climbing and for clinging in precarious positions on poles or dead tree stubs. Once he alights on the ground he is out of his element and lacks agility when the need arises to get away in a hurry. Many of these birds are killed by autos each year.

With animals as well as birds it is the slow-footed that fall to cross the road quite swiftly enough. A muskrat waddling his way from one pond to another, a fat old woodchuck racing for his home den, or a skunk ambling down the wheel rut in serene self-confidence.

These are the common victims of the auto tragedy. In the north country we must add to the list, too, the porcupine, who is so confident that not even a flivver will attack him that he does not even try to hurry out of the way.

AIR CLUB WILL MARK BIRTHDAY WITH BANQUET

A birthday party in honor of the Santa Ana Air club, a husky youngster for a one-year-old, will be held at 6:30 o'clock, tonight, in the American Legion hall.

Open invitation was extended the public to attend by Berle E. Northland, commodore of the club. Aviation, in its infancy is growing as amazingly as has the Air club youngster whose natal day is to be celebrated tonight. Commodore Northland said. Development along lines of government and commercial aviation will be the subject upon which the speakers will talk, it was announced.

Northland said today that James Archibald, a war correspondent; Frank McKee, district manager of the California Development association; Dr. T. C. Young, of Glendale, and A. D. Wetzel, manager of the Douglas airplane plant, at Santa Monica, would address the meeting.

A birthday cake, with one tall candle, will decorate the banquet table.

Arrangements for the meeting are in charge of Eddie Martin, J. O. York and W. E. Hammond. Besides the speeches, the committee has arranged for the showing of government motion pictures of the National Aeronautical association activities.

Our Neighbors

SANTA MONICA—Trolleyway will be opened into a 120-foot main artery between Santa Monica and Venice, according to Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce plans adopted by the city commissioners. Trolleyway, heretofore a continuation of Ocean avenue from the termination of pavement at Pico Boulevard, will afford a long-needed relief for the great auto traffic congestion between Santa Monica and Venice proponents of the measure declare. It will relieve the narrow Speedway which it parallels one block to the east.

VAN NUYS—The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company has started the replacement of loading coils along its Van Nuys-Los Angeles lines. The work is to cost about $50,000, it is announced by the office of District Manager Perret. It also is stated that even larger and more important improvements are expected to be decided on for the local exchange, the plans for which later are to be given out. Within the last three years thousands of dollars have been spent on telephone line improvements to keep up with the large increase of telephone users within that period in San Fernando valley.

POMONA—Citrus fruits of the famous Pomona valley groves will soon tickle the palates of the blue bloods of Great Britain. Five cars of oranges from Pomona and Claremont are stored in the hold of the Baltic, one of the great ocean liners bound for the British Isles. Three of the five cars were packed by the Pomona Fruit Growers, one car was packed by College Heights and the other by El Camino Citrus association in Claremont. The oranges are reported to be among the finest ever sent out from this section and it is believed that they will serve as a great advertisement for this particular section of Southern California. As has been previously reported extremely cold weather in Spain and other countries where most of the European oranges are grown, caused a great shortage in the crop there.

VENTURA—Farm crops amounting to $14,058,816, not including vegetables on the returns are not yet available, were produced in Ventura county in 1926. These figures, as compiled by Horticult-

Benefit Dance to Be Conducted By American Legion

A dance, for the purpose of raising money to provide the 30 members of the Santa Ana American Legion bugle and drum corps with uniforms, will be held Saturday night, in the Legion hall, beginning at 9 o'clock.

Arrangements for the affair are being made by Joseph Plank, chairman of the bugle and drum corps committee, and Franklin Grouard, chairman of the dance committee. The legion hopes to equip the members of the corps with felt helmets, double-breasted blue blouses and light blue trousers, the entire uniform to be trimmed in gold.

EXPEDITION TO FIND TREASURE IS ORGANIZED

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—An effort to locate and recover vast chests of hidden pirates' loot, said to contain untold and fabulous wealth, and consisting of strings of priceless pearls, rubies and emeralds, to say nothing of a huge fortune in Spanish golden doubloons, now is the scheme of a New York syndicate.

This venture, it was learned recently, is to be under the leadership of J. E. Fuller, president of the British-Yucatan Railway company, with offices in this city, and associated with him in his search will be a number of prominent New York businessmen and financiers.

While a number of ancient maps and faded plans of points along the gulf off the Mexican state of Yucatan, which is noted for its buried treasure troves, will necessarily be put to use in an attempt to recover the pirates' loot, Fuller and his associates will rely mainly upon a recently invented electrical apparatus, which is said to reveal the presence of metal more than 50 feet below the ground.

The treasure seekers expect to leave Key West, Fla., aboard a vessel recently purchased for the purpose from the shipping board, during the early part of April and continue their search along points on the Spanish main until October, by which time it is hoped that a goodly share of the treasure will have been recovered.

The maps and plans came into Fuller's possession while he was in Yucatan last fall when excavations were being made by his company for a new railroad warehouse at Lagartos, and which neighborhood is said to have been the most accessible for the pirates during their raids along the coast of the Spanish main.

One of the principal objects of the search, said Fuller, will be an attempt to locate the cache taken by pirates from the British sailing vessel Avondale, which was looted and burned off Lagartos late in the seventeenth century, and its priceless treasure of stones and Spanish gold buried somewhere along Yucatan's coast in the vicinity of Lagartos.

The loot of the Avondale is said by Fuller to be worth $10,000,000, according to the records of the British museum in London, which have been searched for all available data, while the maps and plans now in his possession indicate that they have to do with the location of the treasure.

A deputy city clerk in New York performed 85,001 marriages in the last five and one-half years.

REOPENING OF RAIL VALUATION WAR EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Railroad men here look for an early reopening of the bitter billion-dollar rate valuation war between the railroads and the interstate commerce commission, following side-tracking of the valuation legality issue by the U. S. supreme court in the first test case.

The high court upheld a $45,000,000 valuation, set for the Los Angeles and Salt Lake railway, and directed dismissal of the road's suit setting up claim to a $70,000,000 valuation for rate-making and other purposes. The court announced it was not ruling on the attacked constitutionality of the rate-making structure of the commission, of which the valuation is the foundation.

Hence, it is up to the railroads to file with the commission an increased set of passenger and freight rates, based on the railroad's high valuation standards. The commission would refuse to approve such high rates and the case would then be taken to the courts.

If the railroads fail to act, it is likely the commission will file tariffs based on its comparatively low valuation, and the case would then be taken to the courts.

300 Hear Odd Fellows' Chief

FULLERTON, Feb. 22.—Three hundred members were present Monday night at the hall of the local I. O. O. F., when Grand Master C. A. Palmer paid his official visit to the lodges of this vicinity. More than 100 persons were present at the supper served by the Rebekah lodge of Fullerton prior to the meeting. Delegates were present from Santa Ana, Anaheim, Orange, Brea, Huntington Beach and Westminster.

At the meeting, four new members were initiated. Grand Master Palmer told the members of the meeting which was held recently in Fresno, when more than 7000 members were present.

In concluding his address, the grand master stressed the purpose of the Odd Fellowship, which he said was more than the wearing of a button and the attendance at meetings. "It means the uplift of humanity, the doing of deeds of kindness and helpfulness, and above all, always brightening the world by doing and saying things with a smile," Mr. Palmer said.

GROVE GROUPS TO MEET
GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 22.—The ways and means committee of the American Legion auxiliary will meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. H. A. Dungan. It was announced today.

BOY SCOUTS WILL HOLD JOINT RALLY

Boy Scouts of Santa Ana, Tustin and Garden Grove are looking forward to a joint rally of themselves and their parents, to be held in the Santa Ana Legion hall, on Friday evening of this week, according to Roland E. Dye, scout executive of Orange county.

Invitations to the event were mailed last evening to the parents of all scouts in the three cities, asking them to provide a picnic lunch for the evening.

Santa Ana troop No. 9, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Carl Edgar, will act as host for the evening and put on a demonstration of scouting, entitled "The Eight Ages of a Scout."

The program also will feature a short demonstration by each troop, concluding with the awarding of star, life and eagle badges.

Britain Protests Russ Propaganda

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The British cabinet today drafted a note of protest to Soviet Russia, charging that anti-British propaganda by Russians, especially in China, constituted a violation of the quasi-diplomatic agreement under which Russia and Britain now maintain contact.

France Proposes Debt Agreement

PARIS, Feb. 22.—France has proposed to the United States a temporary agreement regarding payment of the French war debt. Premier Poincare revealed in a letter to Louis Malvy, president of the chamber of deputies finance commission.

British Listen to Coolidge Speech

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Thousands of Britons heard President Coolidge's Washington birthday speech yesterday in the U. S. congress, in which Mr. Coolidge recounted the defeat of Lord Cornwallis' army by the American troops.

The ears of British listeners might well have tingled as the American president told of the defeat of the famous British military peer and his surrender to George Washington.

Mr. Coolidge's words were clearly audible. A United Press correspondent listened in and noticed only occasional fading.

BIG LUMBER INDUSTRY

More than 50,000 men are engaged in lumbering operations in Quebec, Canada, and more than 4000 camps are being used to accommodate them, according to a report from the provincial department of lands and forests.

EXCHANGEITES PLAN FOR ORANGE DANCE

Plans for a dance in the Women's clubhouse, Orange, Saturday night, were discussed and completed at the meeting, yesterday, of the Santa Ana Exchange club, with Charles D. Swanner and Irvin Doyle as the committeemen to carry out details of the affair.

Art Bowman, who resigned three weeks ago as president of the club, was present at the meeting and announced that he probably would locate permanently in a nearby community and that he would be in position to attend club meetings occasionally if his plans were carried out.

Jack Langley entertained with a group of three violin numbers, the musician being the only one on the program arranged by Doyle, as chairman of the committee for yesterday. A speaker engaged for the session was unavoidably prevented from meeting his engagement.

Never A Marcel Wave

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My hair is always wavy, with never a Marcel. And it always has a glow. The reason lies in a hair dress made exclusively for me. It was perfected for me by great experts when I had my long hair bobbed. Now all toilet counters supply it under the name Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. The price is 75c.

I cannot conceive of a girl or woman going without it when she knows. No one who sees my hair will do so. Nothing else I have ever found makes hair so lustrous, so wavy, so duffy, so abundant. My guarantee is enclosed with every bottle, so it costs you nothing if it doesn't please. Go try it at my expense.

Wedding Anniversary

Is Celebrated in

Garden Grove

A most enjoyable affair was held last Saturday evening in Garden Grove at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Beardsley when relatives and friends gathered to surprise Mr. and Mrs. Beardsley, the occasion being their golden wedding anniversary. The party was planned by Mrs. G. L. Beardsley and Mrs. Beardsley, daughters-in-law of the honored couple.

HOUSE, SENATE MUCH LEVELER AS FIRST STEP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The revered congress of the United States of America is rapidly becoming no place at all for a well-brought-up deacon's son—if it ever was.

The idea seems to have gone abroad among the senators and representatives that the only way a politician can make his mark nowadays is to make it on the face of one or another of his esteemed colleagues.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The revered congress of the United States of America is rapidly becoming no place at all for a well-brought-up deacon's son—if it ever was.

The idea seems to have gone abroad among the senators and representatives that the only way a politician can make his mark nowadays is to make it on the face of one or another of his esteemed colleagues.

Thus, within the last few days, the Congress Fathers have used both fists and feet in the course of parliamentary debate and Speaker Nicholas Longworth is reported to be considering hiring one of Tex Rickard's referees to preside over the session of the house of representatives.

Senators Carter Glass and Burton Wheeler, neither of whom is large or husky, sought to engage in personal combat on the senate floor recently. On the same day Representatives Tinch and Strong leaped at one another for the honor of Kansas.

And now a committee hearing has been enlisted by Representative Thomas Blanton of Texas leading a wild left for the jaw of Congressman Sol Bloom, of New York.

Thus it will be seen that congressional sitting are rapidly losing that old-time air of deadly formality and are becoming prefigured by a pleasant warmth of feeling that speaks well for the future of the republic.

Blanton, who figured so prominently in the latest melee, is tacitly accepted as congress' champion brawler. There are, for him, no private fights. Nothing, indeed, is easier than to provoke him to a desire for physical combat.

This most recent episode is illuminating.

A Sunday closing bill was up for consideration before a house committee and Blanton bully-raged a Baptist minister so ardently that Representative Bloom interceded. Then the fun began.

On one occasion Blanton and Congressman Hammer of North Carolina picked up chairs and prepared to do battle in the best of brotherly spirit, but were restrained. Later, Blanton offered to whip Congressman Frank Reid of Illinois, who didn't seem at all afraid, but the fight never came off.

Miss Lindsey is a daughter of the postmaster of Yellowstone park, who for 30 years has been in government service. Friend of all the rangers, horseman superb, but anist, sometime attendant to orphan antelope, elk and bear cub; all around outdoor woman, she has shown that she fully deserves the commendation which has been conferred on her.

Picture a tall, clear-eyed, boyish-looking, slender young woman, trim in her well-fitting, olive green uniform with its shining silver badge denoting her membership in the national park service, immaculate in her high-necked white blouse and black tie, ranger-like in her highly polished boots. As a concession to femininity, she wears a mother-of-pearl ring, the only touch at first glance, to distinguish her from the men rangers.

To the average tourist, Yellowstone park is a vast playground inhabited only by rust and summer, and then only by the yellow tourists. To Miss Lindsey and her family and 34 other rangers with their families, the park is open all the year, offering a changing panorama of beauty with the seasons, with adventure and romance sprinkled liberally throughout.

The rangers make the rounds of the park daily in winter as in summer. With the temporary summer rangers gone home or back to college for the winter, the permanent staff of 35 carries on the work of caring for the park for the visitors to whom it belongs in summer.

On skis and snowshoes, Miss Lindsey (they call her "Peg" sometimes) is as skilled as any other ranger. She and a friend were the first and so far the only woman to ski around the grand loop, a little jaunt of 132 miles. She is popular because of her good sportsmanship. She is respected because of her genuine knowledge of the outdoors. She is very much the heroine of all ranger activity—especially when the rangers find shivering, orphaned animals, which they bring to her for aid.

Added to Rangers' Menagerie These orphans provide many a addition to the rangers' menagerie, and many an anxious moment for the hovering foster mother.

When Miss Lindsey received her commission, earned by three summers' work as a temporary ranger, she was a student at the University of Pennsylvania, where she was obtaining her master's degree in botany.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

When a coach loses six of his eleven regulars he is generally the object of a great deal of sympathy. Not so "Pop" Warner, grizzled mentor for the Big Red Horde of Stanford, the team that was tied for national football honors at Pasadena on New Year's day by the Crimson Tide of Alabama.

Warner loses six stars—men who, at first blush appear to be hard to replace. Yet critics up and down the coast give Stanford the best chance to win the Pacific Coast conference title again in 1927, despite the fact the Cards must four conference teams in a row and then take on their ancient rivals, the University of California, in the annual "big game." Other conference rivals include University of Southern California, Oregon Aggies, Oregon and Washington.

The reason appears to be in the strength of the reserves "Pop" had in every position.

Counting the Warner losses, we find the great ends, Ted Shipley, All-America choice of ones, Rockne and Warner, and Ed Walker both leaving. Two veteran tackles, Ward Paulson and Leo Harris, have finished their gridiron days at Stanford. Capt. Fred Swan is likewise through.

A heavy blow is struck to the Warner backfield by the loss of George "Battering" Bogue, 195-pound halfback, who ran like a 10-second man.

The line repairs will be comparatively easy for Warner, compared with finding men to replace Shipley and Bogue.

All of the managerial shifting has not been confined to the major league circuits this winter. Wilbur Cooper, southpaw pitching star for more than a decade in the National League, has joined the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League. Although Cooper is in his late 30's, he expects to take his regular turn on the hill.

Many veterans, dropping out of the big time, have been able to prolong their careers in the Coast League and Cooper says he expects to pitch at least five more seasons. Cooper covered 13 full seasons with the Pittsburgh Pirates, from 1912 to 1924, when he was traded to the Chicago Cubs. Last summer he was released unconditionally by the Cubs and hooked on to the Oakland club. But his southpaw slants failed to deceive the American league fence-busters.

Since the inauguration of the world series, only five players have represented both leagues in the annual fall classic.

Up to the 1925 clash between Washington and Pittsburgh, only three players had so figured. That fall "Dutch" Reuther and "Stuffy" McInnis qualified for the unusual honor of having played in both leagues in the big event of the year.

Jimmy Archer was the first player to actively represent both leagues in the world series. He caught for Detroit in 1907 against the Cubs and later joined the Cubs to work in the 1910 series with the Athletics.

Jack Combs starred for Connie Mack in 1910, winning three games. He defeated the Athletics on June 15, 1911, in 1911, pitching for the Brooklyn Dodgers, he won a game from the Boston Red Sox with Carl Mays opposing him. Combs has the unique record of winning five world series games and losing none.

Erskine Mayer pitched for the Philadelphia Athletics in 1915 against the Boston Red Sox, broke into the Pittsburgh lineup against Washington in 1925 and just about saved the series for the Pirates.

"Dutch" Reuther, who pitched for Cincinnati against the Chicago White Sox in 1919, has represented both Washington and New York of the American league in 1925 and 1926.

Carnegie Not To Play In Hawaii

S. A. TO MEET LONG BEACH ON TRACK MONDAY

In order that both institutions may enter athletes in the postponed Santa Bernardino Orange Show Relay carnival Saturday, Santa Ana and Long Beach high school track teams will collide in their first Coast Preparatory league dual meet of the season on Monday afternoon instead of Saturday.

Coach "Tex" Oliver announced today. The affair will be staged at Burcham field, Long Beach.

Oliver and Coach Norman Barker of Long Beach, agreed to the shift in dates yesterday after they had been informed by Santa Bernardino officials that the relay carnival, originally scheduled for last Saturday but called off because of storm conditions, would be staged this week end.

The Santa Ana mentor immediately enrolled a squad of his best performers in the carnival. Although Oliver has not definitely announced his entries he said he would take at least one medley relay squad to the Gate City classic.

Captain Harvey Bear and either "Speedy" Fairchild or Ted Stephenson will run the 220-yard relay.

Joe Warner will take care of the 440 and Harold Breeding, the ace of the Poly distance campaigners, will handle the 880, Oliver said.

Little is known relative to the strength of the Santa Ana squad although Oliver has at least a handful of capable and experienced runners and jumpers. The new material, absolutely untested to date, may or may not be good for the winning of second and third places so essential to success in dual competition. Long Beach has more and probably more able veterans, although, but his new stuff may be just as green and untried as Santa Ana's.

For the last two seasons, Long Beach has had its own way in this annual inter-school clash, winning both times by the same score, 63 1-2 to 49 1-2.

Additional Sports On Page 18

BOWLING

One of the most interesting matches of the season is scheduled for the Bowlers' Inn tonight when the Old Six quintette of Santa Ana hooks up with the league-leading Palace Grill squad of San Pedro in a traveling circuit series. The Santa Anas are well near the top themselves but they can make it possible for the Liveoys, another local team, to take first place if they knock off the Harborites.

Horace Snow, Walde Anderson and Ray Heath are showing the way to the other mineralite chuckers in the league's individual average race, these three being the real leaders with figures well over the 180 mark.

The "big game" epidemic apparently has subsided as none of the "boys" has been able to play the lumber for scores high enough to earn their way into the Big Ten. Anderson's 297 is best for the new alleys.

Santa Ana bowlers will be interested in the score of the Rexola Cigars quintette which annexed first place in the Wisconsin open tournament, just ended. The Rexolas hit the woodpile for 3201, having games of 1065, 1071, 1066. Roland Heim, 18 was the hero of the match, the youngster shooting 30 frames without an error and finishing his last game with six strikes in a row.

Anaheim has an expensive new bowling plant and some of the old-time experts of the Mother Colony are feeling the call of the maple pavements again. "Mighty" Johnson, Carl Vanetta and Jimmy Heffron are among the veterans who have emerged from retirement.

MEET WIDE—CONQUEROR OF PAAVO NURMI

Fleet Schoolmaster, Now In Our Midst, Tells Running Secrets

BY JIMMY POWERS

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Gangway for the Stockholm Schoolmaster!

Sweden's newest running sensation is out after more world records and says he's going to start after them in mid-February, aided by America's superb track competition.

Nurmi's master intends to blaze a brighter and more spectacular trail across our continent than his phantom predecessor.

But before we go any further there are several important things to be straightened out and this wiry little athlete who grins and bows and clutters up his English so wants them corrected.

First, he says, his name is Edwin (not Edwin) Wide. It is pronounced "Vee-da" and why is nobody's business.

He Abandoned Training. Secondly, he was mistakenly informed in Sweden he would not be allowed to do any running here and that is why he abandoned training since conquering Nurmi at Bremen.

Third, the best race he ever ran was not, as is commonly believed, at Bremen, where he ran two miles in 9:01, but earlier in the summer when he ran 3000 meters in 8:20.8 and when he set his world record 2000-meter gallop in 5:26.9.

Wide has knuckled down to hard training and is out especially to crack Nurmi's two-mile indoor mark of 5:58.1—the outstanding feat of the Finn's tour that dazzled the American sports world in 1925.

He has been running since 1920. He discovered his track ability quite by accident while attending normal school. One day he saw a fire and beat the gang to the flames.

He says he is approaching his peak form and thinks 1927 will be his best year. He is booked for all the big meets in the east and is lining up events in the west. His A. U. permit to compete is virtually assured.

Run Away From Nurmi. Last summer he ran away and hid from Nurmi at two miles and

HORNSBY, ROUSH, DEVORMER, GRIMES, LE BOURVEAU MAKE GIANTS MOST FEARED TEAM

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—New York, more than any other team in the National league, has been strengthened for the 1927 pennant race. The weaknesses which caused the surprising collapse of the team last year have been corrected and it is quite likely that the club will start the season as a favorite for the pennant.

As long there are teams in the league like the champion St. Louis Cardinals, the Cincinnati Reds, the Pittsburgh Pirates and even the Chicago Cubs, those who like the chances of the Giants will not offer odds, but none of those teams have plugged up the weak places like McGraw has.

Five New New York Faces. The Giants will present at least five new faces next season—Rogers Hornsby on second base, Eddie Roush in center field, Burleigh Grimes in the box, Al Devormer behind the plate and "Bevo" Le Bourveau, utility outfielder.

With the exception of Hornsby and Roush, the names of the newcomers are not enough to strike fear or panic on the rival clubs. It may even be said that McGraw didn't strengthen second base when he traded Frank Frisch for Hornsby.

By the assumption, however, that Hornsby will not be affected by a weak back and the mental hazard of a lot of business troubles, the team should be stronger around second base than it was last year.

Frisch had a bad season last year. He was not in the best of health and he had some difficulties with McGraw that made a change of scenery almost imperative.

Hornsby Better Sticker. Under ordinary circumstances Hornsby ought to hit better than Frisch, as a fielder there is little difference, but in the middle of the season.

MOORS' VICTORY OVER S. A. DECIDED LEAGUE "C" TITLE; POLY VARSITY TO GO SOUTH

The basket that Alhambra dropped through the hoops in the last 30 seconds of its athletic pow-wow with Santa Ana high school here last Friday not only robbed Santa Ana of the 1927 championship but also entitled the baby Moors to the crown and the right to participate in the playoff for Southern California laurels, it became known here today.

SAN DIEGO IS NEXT AND LAST POLY HOOP FOE

Santa Ana high school's 1927 basketball campaign will be concluded this week with one game in Andrews gymnasium and another on the Y.M.C.A. floor at San Diego. Poly's opponent in both contests will be San Diego teams.

Coach Bill Foote's local varsity will journey to the border city Friday and the locals hope to save themselves the embarrassment of finishing in the Coast Preparatory league cellar when they tie up with the San Diego crew Saturday afternoon.

Foote will take a full squad south and will return here Saturday night.

Fletcher and Gundry, forwards; McKee, center, and West and Cahn, guards, will probably compose the San Diego lineup. Joerndt and Johnson, both grid stars, are first tending Hilltop substitutes.

Coach Howard Lutz of Santa Ana "Bees" will face the San Diego lightweights here Friday at 3:30 p. m.

Chicago Cubs Off For Training Camp

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Approximately two dozen members of the Chicago National league baseball team are expected to leave here tomorrow for their Catalina island training camp. The remaining members of the club will be picked up enroute.

Regardless of Alhambra's fate in its ruckus with South Pasadena this week, the closing engagement of the season, the baby Moors are "in" because of their success against both the Santa Ana and Pasadena Class C clubs, their only serious rivals.

Coach "Tubby" Crawford's Poly-lites now have completed their basketball activity for the year and will check in their suits. San Diego which plays Santa Ana in the varsity and Class B branches of the sport, has no team in the 119-pound division.

Long Beach has clinched the championship of the Class B section but needs a victory over the surprising Whittier Poets Friday afternoon to clinch honors in the heavy-weight division. By triumphing over the Jackrabbits, the Poets could win the championship even should the teams thus finish in a mathematical tie.

The Santa Ana-San Diego mixup will be held at San Diego Saturday night and will decide whether San Diego secures undisputed possession of the basement or divides the doubtful laurels with Coach Bill Foote's crew.

Santa Ana has a much more respectable station in the "B" standings and can assume a place right along with the pretenders to the throne by "taking" the Hilltop lighties.

Standings in the varsity, Class B and Class C races follow:

HEAVYWEIGHT		W. L. Pct.
Long Beach	6	9 1.000
Whittier	2	1 .833
Pasadena	4	2 .667
Alhambra	4	2 .667

PLAYOFF TILTS WILL BE HELD AT FULLERTON

Orange, Brea, Tustin and Garden Grove to Battle For First Team Crown

Championship titles in all divisions of the Orange county league will be decided when rival basketball teams clash Friday afternoon and evening in the Fullerton high school gymnasium in a tournament program with enough punch to satisfy the most fastidious fan.

Games are to begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

The first event carded for the series is the affair between Orange, champion of the Orange county indoor court league, and Garden Grove. Orange won the right to enter the playoffs by defeating the quintettes of Fullerton, Anaheim and Huntington Beach in every game played and because of their perfect record the Orangemen will be heavy favorites to capture the varsity crown.

No team in the outdoor section of the Orange County league won an undisputed title, Tustin, Garden Grove and Brea tying for the lead. To decide the title, all four of the county title contenders will play Friday. Orange will meet Garden Grove and Tustin will meet Brea, in the elimination series.

Winners then will be matched in the pennant finals at 9:30 o'clock. The Garden Grove Class B quintette and the Fullerton "Bees" will clash in a three-game series for the league's lightweight title. The first fracas will be called at 4 o'clock and the finalists will take the floor at 5:30 o'clock in the evening.

Garden Grove and Anaheim Class D teams will settle their argument at 5 o'clock.

Garden Grove has four teams in the playoffs. Every school of the county with the exception of Huntington Beach and San Juan Capistrano is represented.

The evening's program will begin with a game between the Tustin and the Fullerton Class C midgets. That will be held at 7:30 o'clock. The day's card will be completed when the deciding varsity and "Bee" games are held.

M'LARNIN RECEIVES VERDICT OVER CELLO

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—While Jimmy McLarnin was given a draw by Referee Bob Johnson in his 10-round open air fight yesterday, his opponent, Tommy Cello, San Francisco Italian, today appeared to be the favorite of the two.

Most observers thought the decision fair enough. They thought Cello had a bit the best of the fracas, though not enough to earn him a decision. Action was lacking in the first eight rounds but Cello opened up with everything he had in the ninth. McLarnin's aggressiveness in the tenth earned him the draw.

"Gig" Rooney, manager for Jackie Fields, crack Los Angeles lightweight today was attempting to match Young Cello for a bout with Fields in Los Angeles. Both Cello and McLarnin now claim the right to meet Ted Morgan, junior lightweight champion.

Resume Tijuana Racing Saturday

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 23.—Racing will be resumed next Saturday at the Tijuana race track, according to announcement of Jockey club officials here today.

The track itself suffered only slight damages from the heavy rains of last week, the delay in reopening being caused principally by washed out highways and railroads between the border, San Diego and Los Angeles.

BILLY EVANS

Says

VALUE OF STAR PLAYER?

How much money is an outstanding star like Babe Ruth worth to his ball club?

It might be more correct to ask the league in which he plays, for Ruth as a gate attraction means something to every club in the American league.

The thought as to the real worth of a star has been inspired by the fact that Babe Ruth is demanding a figure reported to be anywhere from $75,000 to $150,000.

It is impossible to say definitely how much any star is worth. The form that he is showing and the success that his club may be enjoying are more or less the determining factors.

A mere name will not carry a star very long unless he delivers. Fandom wants results.

Offhand, I would say that Babe Ruth is worth just as much as he can get.

Possibly the Babe is shooting at $150,000, knowing that he can do a little pruning in order to reach an agreement with the Yankees and still be considerably the highest paid player in baseball.

Ruth has been receiving the rather interesting sum of $52,000 per year for several seasons. Such a figure isn't to be scorned. However, Ruth's sensational comeback of last season, which aided greatly in the winning of the pennant by the Yankees and kept the fans everywhere excited all summer, certainly entitles him to a raise.

Colonel Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, eminently fair in all things, will see to that part of it. He may not place as high a valuation on Ruth's services as the Babe does, but it will ultimately be a figure that will satisfy the "Home-run Sultan."

BABE GETTING WISE

Don't worry about the Babe not playing baseball this summer. He will be in the Yankee outfield when the season opens, once again specializing in the knocking of a baseball farther than any other human being.

Just at present, Ruth is busy making a movie that will net him a nice figure. He has just finished a lucrative vaudeville engagement. The fact that he recently banked $33,000 in the off season is proof the Babe is getting wise to the fact that he isn't going to be a star forever.

Ruth has always needed someone to direct his varied business interests. I understand Christy Walsh, who has syndicated Ruth's sport features for years, is now in full charge of all his affairs.

FORGOT TO CASH CHECK

This recalls a ludicrous and costly mixup which I am sure Walsh will not allow to happen again.

About six years ago Ruth, hav-double plays Hornsby is a much better player.

Grimes is no youngster, but he is not an old man by any means. He didn't earn his high salary in Brooklyn because of strained relations with the management. Grimes has the reputation of being hard to handle and players find it difficult to get along with him because of an ungovernable temper.

Grimes is much like Carl Mays, of the Reds. When his team falters behind him he hasn't the control to disguise his disgust and that does not add to team morale. McGraw, however, always has liked him for this reason. He likes a hard loser and Grimes is one of the poorest losers in baseball.

"Pop" Young has been in very poor health for several years and only recently it was reported from San Antonio that he never would be able to play again. He wrote later to the club, however, insisting that the reports had been exaggerated and that he would report for duty.

Devormer hasn't a great reputation. He didn't make good in the American league but he may have improved. At any rate, McGraw was desperate for a catcher and Devormer at least has more experience than the youngsters McGraw had in 1926.

The Cincinnati Reds, runners up last year, no doubt will stand on the same team that surprised experts. Jack Hendricks admits, like any other manager, that he could improve the team, but improvements are hard to make and he is satisfied with the squad he has.

There were many critics who thought the Pittsburgh Pirates were the strongest team in the National league last year. If it was only internal dissension that caused them to blow up, they ought to play better this season under Donie Bush, a new manager. It's a dead cinch that they'll have to hustle and do what they are told to do with Bush on the job.

Cards Weren't Inferior

Those who rated the Pirates as first last year and many others thought that the St. Louis Cardinals won a fluke victory but they didn't show signs of inferiority when they went through the world's series with a disorganized outfield and trounced the Yankees.

It is hard to tell what effect the absence of Hornsby and Bill Killifer will have on the team. Bob O'Farrell, who succeeded Hornsby as manager of the club, is certainly a grand player but he has yet to prove himself as a manager. The difficulty that Sam

He drinks plenty of coffee, eats plenty of meat and vegetables and does not smoke or hit the gin.

Interviewing Nurmi, or rather, attempting to interview Nurmi, drove many a good reporter and true close to that state so quaintly termed nuts. Wide has a pleasant personality and while he doesn't know about our lingo yet he grins and bows very sweetly to all questions.

And, oh yes, about that legend of Nurmi inhaling black bread and dried fish—Wide says it's all the hokum.

BURKE IS FLORIDA CHAMP

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 23.—William Burke, of Danville, Ky., is the new Florida open golf champion today, having won the title when he finished his 72 holes with a score of 288. The Kentuckian was closely crowded by Bobby Cruikshank and Bill Mehlhorn.

Breadon had in reaching terms with a number of his star players is not good enough for team spirit but the Cardinals are to go the first championship club to go through the same experience.

PORTLAND PREXY, GREATEST BASEBALL SALESMAN, PAID MILLION FOR STAR PLAYERS

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 23.—He's listed as the president of the Portland Beavers in the Pacific Coast league and they say he's associated with the Philadelphia Athletics in some capacity or other, but Tom Turner's best claim to fame is that he's baseball's outstanding salesman.

Turner has sold $1,250,000 worth of ball players since going out west to cast his lot with the Portland Beavers. Included in the string of sales registered by Tom Turner can be listed Bill Hunnifield, Mickey Cochran, Jimmy Poole, "Rube" Walberg, Sammy Hale and a flock of others, the majority of whom appear and disappear at Philadelphia in the American league.

Scout of Ability Somebody has called Tom Turner a scout. Well, perhaps he is. In fact, he has facts and figures to prove that he is a scout of no mean judgment in the ability of players. The last 14 men Turner has sent up have stuck in the big show.

While a salesman supreme, Tom also is a spender. Recently he offered $10,000 cash for Pitcher Guy Cantrell, farmed-out property of the Brooklyn Dodgers. It was the highest price ever offered by a minor league club to a major league club for one player.

Then, too, Tom Turner last season paid over $12,000 cash in the hand to Des Moines for a young rookie named Cissell, who was riding the bench in the Western league, joining the club after Des Moines had bought his release from the army.

Crazy? Wait and See

"They called me crazy for buying a bat boy at $13,000," said Turner recently. A gleam sparkled in his eyes. "Just you wait until somebody in the big leagues tries to buy that chap!"

"Say, Peckinpaugh, Bancroft, Hollocher—they all went up as shortstops from Portland. Wait until Cissell goes up. He'll show you some shortstopping."

"Along about 1929 or 1930 this kid will be ready—and think they won't have to pay fancy money for him!"

Then Turner spoke of the business end of baseball for a moment. "A business man has to put some of his earnings back into his investment. I pay big money for players; and sell them for bigger money. What's the difference if you pay $50,000 for a kid and sell him in two or three years for $100,000?" he snapped.

There's logic attached to Turner's words at that. His sales record would indicate that he knows what it's about, anyway.

WILMINGTON CARD CHANGED

WILMINGTON, Feb. 23.—Johnny Adams, having booked a personal encounter with old man flu, will be off the card at Wilmington bowl tonight with Billy Murphy taking his place against Arizona Joe Rivers in the 10-round headliner. Roberts, Dundee May Box March 18

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Eddie Roberts, Tacoma, and Joe Dundee, Baltimore, outstanding contenders for the welterweight championship, are expected to sign today to meet March 18 in Tex Rickard's garden. They have met twice before, Roberts winning the first match by a knockout and losing the second on a decision.

ATHLETICS AND GIANTS PICKED TO WIN RACES

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—All of the major league ball clubs are in their spring training camps or are getting ready to move southward and within a comparatively few weeks baseball will again be the big sport talk.

There may be more interest in the pennant races this season than last, because so many changes have been made in both the American and National leagues that 1926 form and figures cannot be applied accurately.

The New York Giants and the Philadelphia Athletics are getting serious attention.

John McGraw has made changes in the team since it flopped into the second division last year and there is no doubt that he wants to celebrate his 25th anniversary as manager of the club by winning a pennant.

But there are other clubs in the league that will be decidedly in the running.

The St. Louis Cardinals won the pennant last year in the National league and the Cincinnati Reds were only two games in the rear. The Pittsburgh Pirates have a strong club and so have the Chicago Cubs. If Connie Mack hadn't busied himself so much since the world's series in revamping the Athletics, the champion New York Yankees probably would have started the season as the favorite to win. The Athletics probably will carry the "smart money."

The Cleveland Indians after the good race they made last season, cannot be ruled out of the battle with a wave of the hand. If there is any upset in the American league as there was last year when the Yankees ran away with the pennant, it may be supplied by the Detroit Tigers. A great many smart baseball men think that in all the excitement the Tigers have been under-estimated and that they are one of the most dangerous clubs in the league.

Billy Evans Says; Babe Getting Wise

But I do know that his final check called for $10,000. The Babe once showed it to me. He got a lot of fun carrying it around, displaying it instead of cashing same.

The picture was a "flop," bad story and poor filming. When Babe finally decided to cash the check there were no funds in the bank.

In all probability Babe still has the check and smiles every time he looks at it. He doesn't believe in worrying, at least not over money.

FARM NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE

POTASH FIELDS OF SOUTHWEST YET UNTAPPED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—America may be released from its dependency upon Europe for its annual potash supply if the potash fields located in Texas and New Mexico prove as valuable as investigators believe them to be.

The discovery of the minerals was made by the geological survey working under the auspices of the departments of interior and commerce. Congress had recently appropriated $100,000 for these departments to carry on potash explorations.

The existence of these beds, from 750 to 1800 feet below the surface, was discovered by drilling of an oil prospecting company, assisted by geological survey officials.

The beds are thick enough for a mining average of about 12.5 per cent strength. The average run-of-the-mine materials at the Strausfurt, Germany, beds have a potash content of only 8 to 10 per cent. They range between 11 inches and 5 feet in thickness.

It must not be imagined that this is simply a lucky strike made at random, says Dr. G. R. Mansfield of the geological survey. "We have believed for years that if paying potash deposits were ever to be found in this country, the most likely place to seek them would be the Panhandle region of Texas and the adjacent corner of New Mexico, and we have actually been hunting for them since 1915."

"Of course, we cannot tell from a single core drilling how extensive the new beds are, but we do know definitely now that vast quantities of rich potash minerals exist at this place, and our previous effort indicates that potash deposits of some sort exist in many places."

Fields Are Well Located
The new potash field is well served by railroads. Two lines run through it and three others have branches into it at various points. Galveston is the nearest salt water port.

Geological survey officials believe that for certain types of soil the minerals as they came from the shaft would need only grinding to make them satisfactory fertilizers.

More or less rock salt occurs in between the layers of potash minerals, but this can easily be picked out by the cheapest of labor or by machinery.

The potash imports from Europe now amount to about $17,000,000 annually. A small amount is produced at Seaford Lake, in California, the bed of the dried up sea, but this barely meets 10 per cent of the requirements.

CORONA DEL MAR

CORONA DEL MAR, Feb. 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Alger have returned from Los Angeles, where they have been for the past three weeks, called there by the sickness and death of Mrs. Ernest Grover, wife of Mrs. Alger's brother.

Mr. Grover made a short visit here during that period.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Platt and daughter, Melba, and son, Junior, of Pasadena, spent a part of last week at the Palisades club. Junior remained for several days of this week.

Miss Hattie Hamilton, who has been with her sister, Mrs. Stuart Lucas, at Snug Harbor for some time, is making satisfactory progress toward recovery from a recent operation in a Los Angeles hospital. Miss Hamilton, whose home is in Mexico, is unable to return here because of the damages to bridges and highways during the recent storm.

A party of young people spent the past week-end at the Palisades club. The party included Miss Helen Campbell, Miss J. Gleason, Harold Pauley, Dick Pyle and George D. Campbell. All were from Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Zerman and Mr. and Mrs. Marion Mathers, Santa Ana, were luncheon guests at the Palisades club on Sunday.

Location caterers and electricians for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer company were here most of last week. The rain interfered with the filming of a story the company is working on. A cottage has been built on Rocky Point east of the bathing pavilion to be used in the scene. This is a spot that has been used in dozens of pictures in the past few years.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Ward, of Pasadena, entertained the Misses Mary and Florence Linn and Millman H. Linn, of Zanesville, Ohio, at luncheon at the Palisades club last Sunday.

Miss Mary Everett, of Pasadena, was hostess to a large gathering of young people in the Everett home here over the week-end. Picnic on Sunday was one of the happy features of the occasion.

The C. C. Brownsons, of Pasadena, were frequent visitors to the Balboa Palisades club, had as their guests on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McKee, of Long Beach.

Mr. Holmes Paul, of Corona del Mar, and her mother, Mrs. A. Westover, of Tustin, spent the past week-end in Los Angeles. While there they witnessed a performance of "The Miracle."

Ainsley Paul, who has been ill for the past two weeks, is able to be about again.

A large amount of sand was washed away in front of the bathing pavilion during the recent storm, the waves finally coming as far as the porch. No damage was done and the waves will soon bring back what they carried away.

STEAM SPRAYER BIG HELP IN BATTLE AGAINST BUGS

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 23.—A steam sprayer able to spread a thin film of liquid and use only five gallons of spraying solution on an area which formerly required 100 to 200 gallons from high pressure air sprayers is the invention of R. W. Leiby, chief entomologist of the North Carolina state department of agriculture.

Ever since plants and trees have been sprayed to protect them from insects and diseases the principle of breaking up a liquid under a very high pressure has been used to produce the spray.

The new principle breaks up a liquid by heat, just as water is heated to and beyond a boiling point to produce steam.

Steam is passed from a boiler through a rubber hose to a nozzle. The spray is conducted from the tank containing the spray through another line of hose meeting the steam in the nozzle.

The result is the breaking up of the spraying solution by the steam into extremely fine cloud-like mist which will float for a considerable distance, or it may be immediately transformed at the will of the operator into a coarse wet spray.

Use of the machine has shown that the excessive quantities of water ordinarily used in high-pressure spraying are unnecessary.

The steam-spraying method is now being used on cotton and on peach and apple trees. The machine can also be used to paint buildings, disinfect utensils by live steam and cleanse farming machinery and autos.

Over-Population Is Big Worry Of Foreign Nations

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 23.—Over-population in proportion to land resources is Europe's chief agricultural problem, said A. R. Mann, dean of the New York State College of Agriculture, in a talk delivered here during Farmers Week at Ohio State university.

Dean Mann recently returned from two years' service as director of the agricultural activities of the International Board of Europe. His headquarters were in Rome and Paris and his studies carried him into nearly all the countries on the continent.

"We have in the United States a density of population of 14.1 persons per square kilometer," said Dean Mann in comparing populations.

"Omitting the most northerly countries, where climate restricts population, the density ranges from 70.3 person per square kilometer in Poland to 251.8 in Belgium."

"There have been attempts, not as yet strikingly successful, to redistribute smaller parcels of land into profitable farming units."

There is a five-acre area in Switzerland which contains 74 different properties divided into 50 pieces of land. Thirty-four different families till 56 fields on these five acres.

"Machine methods in agriculture are not likely to make much headway in European countries where fields are small and greatly subdivided."

"It is of no purpose to argue that the peasant should lay aside his hand tools and resort to machine methods so as to enable him to work more acres when it is quite impossible for him to obtain more land."

"Co-operative associations, both among consumers and producers, have reached a high development in many parts of Europe. Consumer co-operatives, though, often outgrow in importance the producers' selling agencies."

MORE CATTLE TESTED

Bovine tuberculosis eradication work has progressed at a rapid rate in this country. The number of cattle tested under government and state supervision at the end of the last fiscal year was 24 per cent greater than for the preceding year.

CLUB WORK PAYS
During the past year 853 boys and girls in 46 Kansas counties were enrolled in baby beef club work. These boys and girls raised and fattened 1080 baby beefs, the value of which amounted to $131,800.

PROBLEMS OF THE SOIL

Agriculture enters the new season with an outlook at least as good as a year ago, says the department of agriculture in its February 1 report on the farm situation.

There are 955,883,715 acres in farm land in the United States. This amount is 50.2 per cent of the total land area of the United States.

The strawberry root weevil is now controlled in Oregon by a poison bait made up by mixing 95 pounds of dried apple with five pounds of calcium arsenate. This bait is applied at berry harvesting time.

Although the market usually pays a premium for very fat cattle, the increase in grain costs during the latter part of the feeding often offsets any additional profits which the feeder may make by holding his cattle for top market prices, say specialists of the Kansas State agricultural college.

Educational film productions of the United States department of agriculture will be used to promote Americanization of immigrants.

Constitutional vigor is by far the most important point to consider in the selection of poultry breeding stock, according to G. T. Klein, Kansas State Agricultural college extension poultryman. Vigor, he says, is noted by a bright comb, deep body, broad back and general good health.

GARDEN GROVE
GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 23.—The special revival services which commenced last week at the Methodist Episcopal church have been discontinued on account of the heavy rains. At a meeting of the church board it was decided to hold the meetings the week before and after Easter Sunday.

The General Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist Episcopal church will meet at the church on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Election of officers will be held.

Miss Florence Pearson will entertain the Business and Professional Women's club with a George Washington party this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The American Legion post and auxiliary met in the Y. M. C. A. hall on Thursday evening. An open meeting will be held on the evening of March 3 for members of the post and auxiliary and those who are eligible to join the Legion. A benefit party will be given on March 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt Ford entertained a group of friends at their home at 410 Acacia street on Friday evening.

The game of "Bugs" was enjoyed with first prizes awarded to Mrs. Roy Tremaine and Kenneth Roepke while Miss Pearl Reish and Roy Tremaine were consoling.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tremaine, of Brea; Miss Mary Nadi and Jack Rutledge, of Anaheim; Miss Pearl Reish, of Villa Park; Kenneth Roepke, of Long Beach; Harding Ford, of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hale, Miss Mabel Northcross, Miss Isabel Northcross, Orval Abel and Mr. and Mrs. Ford.

The P.-T. A. pot luck dinner, which was to have been held at the Washington grammar school on Thursday in celebration of the birthday anniversary of the P.-T. A., has been indefinitely postponed.

Miss Evelyn Smith, of Los Angeles, spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wight.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ford, accompanied by Miss Isabel Northcross and Orval Abel enjoyed a trip to Los Angeles Sunday.

NEW CHIEF OF MILK TESTING BIOLOGY WORK IS REQUIRED IN 874 U. S. CITIES

Paul G. Redington, assistant chief of the forest service, in charge of the branch of public relations, has been named by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine as chief of the bureau of biological survey to succeed Dr. E. W. Nelson. The appointment will become effective May 9, according to the announcement made today.

Dr. Nelson has been associated with the work of the department of agriculture since 1890, and has been chief of the bureau of biological survey since 1916. During more than 50 years spent in the study of wild birds and animals he has accumulated a vast knowledge and experience. In order that he might devote his entire time to the assembling of information he has gathered and to round out his work in the field of science, he asked Secretary Jardine to relieve him of the executive responsibilities as chief of the bureau.

Before he began devoting his entire time to administrative work in the department, Dr. Nelson spent more than 20 years as a scientific explorer in different parts of the continent from the Arctic to the tropics. From the collection of birds and mammals obtained at this time he and others have described hundreds of species previously unknown to science. As a part of his Arctic experiences he was a member of the "Jeannette" search expedition in 1881 and was with the first party to land on Wrangel Island.

His work on the customs and history of the Eskimos, made as a result of his study of these people while in Alaska in the 70s, is still an authoritative publication. In Mexico he travels during 14 years extended into every state and territory of that country and resulted in securing large collections of specimens of mammals, birds, reptiles and plants and in the accumulation of a vast amount of data, which he now expects to find time to prepare for publication.

His published work includes monographs of mammals and birds and descriptions of many new species. He is also the author of popular books and articles dealing with various phases of wild life and wild-life conservation.

During the ten years he has served as chief of biological survey, the bureau has developed and it is now generally recognized throughout the world as one of the leaders in the study of wild life and its conservation.

berculin testing of cattle. Though varying in details, the laws have the same general purpose—to safeguard the wholesomeness of milk supplies. In all cases tuberculin tests must be applied by approved graduate veterinarians.

As a basis for skilled tuberculin testing in which the public may have confidence, the federal and state veterinary officials have prepared lists of "accredited" and "approved" veterinarians. These terms apply to private practitioners who have satisfied federal and state authorities as to their qualifications.

An examination of the forms of supervision over the tuberculin testing of cattle supplying cities with milk shows the large extent to which cities have accepted the so-called uniform plan of testing. This plan provides federal and state indemnities for cattle which prove to be tuberculous and which are removed from the herd and slaughtered. The plan is followed by 634 cities. Cities that rely on municipal inspection alone number 498, while 117 other cities and towns use a combination of the two safeguards or make some other provisions for tuberculin testing.

The action of such cities as Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, and Louisville in promulgating tuberculin-test requirements has stimulated recent interest in this subject. The survey showed, however, that the smaller communities also are fully as active in safeguarding their milk supplies.

In addition to the 874 cities having tuberculin-test ordinances, 375 provide an option between tuberculin testing and pasteurization. Thus a total of 1249 municipalities have taken positive steps to safeguard their milk supplies from possibility of disease transmission.

Fourteen states also have enacted laws or have issued regulations authorized by law requiring the tu-

FISHING PORT LOSING QUANT ROMANCE NOTE

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Feb. 23.—Only one of the famous old New England fishing ports, Gloucester retains the full flavor of the spicy olden days, and even Gloucester has changed in that new and improved methods have reduced loss of life among the men who go to the sea in ships.

The sealing industry went the way of the seal, and the whaling ports succumbed to petroleum and electricity, but fishing for food goes on apace and Gloucester has just completed what the old-timers claim is the best mackerel fishing season in its history.

Gloucester in winter is a city of snow-banked streets, ice-clad fishing schooners, creaking at their piers along the waterfront, cold winds whistling through frost-stiffened shrouds and flicking salt from the crests of white-capped waves in the harbor.

Rest Between Trips
At the Fishermen's institute, the handsman can breathe deep of the salt atmosphere. Old-timers there, weatherbeaten veterans of the banks, taking it easy between trips, a bit taciturn about this fishing business and a bit proud of it, too, will talk with apparent reluctance of the old days and now.

"Yes," said one, "this year's mackerel season was the best in the history of Gloucester and they're adding to all the fleets out of here every year. And what's more the fishermen's life ain't what it used to be. In my time, there were 50 women made widows every year. This year, only five men lost their lives from Gloucester craft, another new record."

"I never saw the worst of it, neither. From 1870 to 1885, there were 277 vessels of the Gloucester fleet lost and 1954 men drowned or died aboard. Better schooners are one reason for the improvement—that and more general auxiliary power. And life has been made easier, too. There's the radio at sea and when the schooner docks the fisherman is through. He doesn't have to slave at unloading her."

Calla from Fishing Banks
About the room a dozen stout men in sea boots were playing pool and billiards upon the tables. Behind them was a blackboard with the scrawl: "Six men wanted for schooner Mary Ann, double dory." Another read: "Single doryman for schooner Agate." These were calls to the winter harvest on the banks.

George E. Russell, the genial chaplain of the institute, named over the year's dead—three men lost when the Ralph Brown was wrecked last February on Briar Neck, one lost in a capsized dory, and one who fell or was swept from the deck of the schooner.

His records show 30 lost in 1925, 18 in 1924, 25 in 1923 and 27 in 1922, but, he says, it used to be worse. Russell estimates that 100 schooners of the fleet have radio sets and a local station now broadcasts market reports on landings and prices.

Little Dramas Are Enacted At Subway Depots

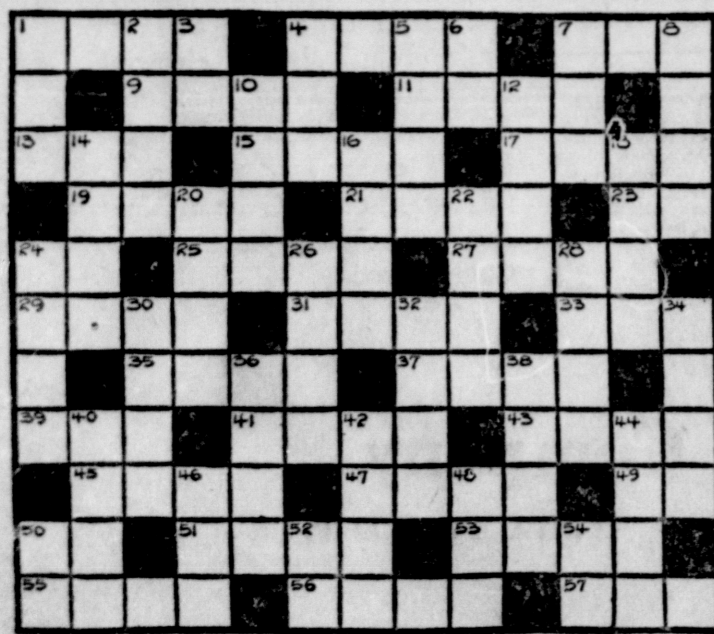

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Little dramas of life are enacted daily around the 1500 turnstiles that give access to the New York subway trains.

They range from the dilemma of the forgetful man who tries to descend the escalator at Chambers street, only to find that as he takes a step down he is lifted a step up, to the bride and bridegroom from the country who find themselves separated suddenly by a mechanical door and an unromantic guard.

The couple are not apart long. Special police see that they are reunited. Sometimes it is a mother separated from her children, at others an elderly couple. Sometimes there is an incautious effort to defeat the mechanical devices and accidents result.

Twelve thousand employees of the transit companies spend most of their working time below the street level. Fourteen tunnels under three rivers carry the passengers through depths 104 feet below sea level at their lowest point.

Urge Exercise As Preventive For Suicides

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Setting up exercises as a preventive of suicide are advocated by the New York City Young Men's Christian association.

"With reports of 11 persons having committed suicide at a single point in this city within the last year," read a statement from the Y. M. C. A., "and with a noticeable increase in the sort of tragedy throughout the nation, Y. M. C. A. specialists have investigated the causes of morbidity among adolescents in the hope of helping young men who might be tempted to end their lives."

"It is well known that the cause of such extreme discouragement with life as leads to suicide is often rooted in physical ill health, which might have been prevented by well directed exercise."

"If the fine young men whose recent suicides have shocked the community had taken active physical exercises 10 minutes before they planned to commit the act, the resulting vigor of their bodies and clearing of their minds would have made it impossible for them to take their own lives."

$100,000 YEAR SAVED BY WAR ON OVERLOADS

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 23.—Kern county's war on overloaded trucks, which in two weeks in January resulted in the arrest of 35 truck drivers, will save $100,000 annually in the maintenance of Kern highways. Capt. W. E. Snell, of the county traffic department, declared today, while compiling a report which will be sent to state headquarters in Sacramento within the next few days.

"Trucks are the greatest menace to our highways today and with highways representing as high as $25,000 a mile, a $100,000 yearly saving is a conservative estimate," the captain said.

The state maintenance station, where every truck, passing over the Ridge route between Bakersfield and Los Angeles, is weighed in by Kern county traffic officers, is located at Rose station, 25 miles south of here.

Early in December of last year the state motor vehicle department started making plans to war against the destructive influence of overloaded trucks on Kern highways and January 5 a $3000 set of truck scales, capable of weighing 50,000 pounds or 25 tons, were installed. Since the station was completed, 360 trucks have been checked during the 16-day period with the result that almost 10 per cent were found overloaded. Roughly estimated from the reports being compiled at traffic headquarters, 360 tons or 7,320,000 pounds have passed over the Ridge since the truck war was launched.

Under the state law, the maximum gross weight of truck and load permitted for four-wheel vehicles is 22,000 pounds, with 34,000 pounds or 17 tons the maximum for six-wheel trucks or trailers.

Checking of trucks on the state highway south of here requires six traffic officers, two working on each eight-hour shift, with the work going on night and day, Captain Snell said.

The presence of two officers on the highway at all times has resulted in a 50 per cent reduction in automobile accidents on the straightaway south of here, scene of tragedies during the last several years, the traffic captain declared.

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

SUPERIOR TO TEST ACREAGE NEAR ATWOOD

ATWOOD, Feb. 23.—The Superior Oil company is starting a semi-wildcat well west of the Richmond field, according to field reports. The superior has staked up a lease of twenty-five acres near the Pyne property of the Continental Oil company, and has a derrick up ready to begin work.

The superior's well is several hundred yards west of the Continental Pyne No. 2 which is expected to go on production within the next week or ten. The Pyne No. 2 is preparing to drill out the plug at 4125 feet, where it found the zone from which Pyne No. 1 was brought in with an initial output of more than 1000 barrels a day.

Orange Growers Express Thanks For Flood Work

FULLERTON, Feb. 23.—The directors of the Placentia Orange Growers' association passed a resolution yesterday in which they expressed their appreciation for the work done by various Fullerton organizations at the Mexican camp during the flood. The resolution is as follows:

"Whereas, the recent flood submerged the Mexican camp of the Placentia Orange Growers' association, and caused this association to be faced with a rather critical situation in housing and feeding a large number of Mexican families, and

"Whereas, the Fullerton chapter of the Red Cross association and the American Legion, together with other individuals, came forward at this time with aid and assistance in handling this situation; therefore,

"Be It Resolved, that this association take up and pay all bills contracted by the Red Cross, American Legion, or any others in behalf of these people; and

"Be It Further Resolved, that this association does hereby extend to the Fullerton chapter of the Red Cross, the American Legion, McFarland's cafe, Otto Evans and all others who so generously helped out in this emergency, their sincere appreciation and thanks."

BALBOA ISLAND

BALBOA ISLAND, Feb. 23.—Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Martin, who have been in Los Angeles for some time returned to their island home last Thursday. They were accompanied here by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Martin, who are remaining for an indefinite length of time.

The H. D. Herolds, of Los Angeles, were week-end visitors here, painting their cottage on Ruby avenue.

Dr. E. L. Hogan and a friend Mr. Bartlett, of Hollywood, spent the week-end here getting the "Grieco" cottage on the bay front in readiness for the summer. Dr. Hogan expressed himself as delighted with the passing of the harbor bonds.

Parkhurst Brackett, son of Professor and Mrs. Brackett, of Pomona College, was host over the past week-end to 20 young men, most of whom were members of his fraternity in the college. The fraternity men were in turn hosts to other friends. Jack Merryman is president of the fraternity, the Phi Kappa Alpha, which is one of two new fraternities recently organized on the college campus. The gathering took place in the Brackett summer home here.

J. A. Beck left Monday for Sacramento to resume his duties as secretary of the legislature, which reconvenes this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Firdin Cornish, of Southgate, spent the past week-end in their cottage, the "Cuddie Doon," on the north bay front.

Mrs. E. R. Crumley, of Hollywood, spent the past week in the Crumley home on Pearl avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zezere, formerly of San Pedro, have been occupying the cottage of H. M. Ferguson on Olynx avenue for the past two months. They have leased the cottage for a year, and are planning to live here. Mr. Zezere is a carpenter and builder.

Mrs. J. A. Beck, her mother Mrs. Emily Gillison and her two small sons returned from Loma Linda on Friday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. R. Dickinson have received word that their niece, Mrs. Stella Coughren, of Worthington, Minn., is in California and is at present with friends at Palo Alto. The time of her arrival to the island has not been set. Mrs. Coughren is a frequent visitor here and well known to island folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stanton spent the week-end here. Their yacht, which they purchased recently, is on the ways getting a new coat of copper paint on her hull. The yacht is to be renamed the Nereid.

Old Huntington Beach Oil Well Flows 400 Bbls.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 23.—One of the most satisfactory of recent completions in the old Huntington Beach field, in the Garfield-street addition, is the Woolner No. 1 well, drilled by the Woolner Oil corporation, which came in at an initial rate of 400 barrels a day, according to officials of the company. The well was drilled to about 4200 feet and its production is considered the more remarkable in view of the fact that it is located in an area surrounded by wells which have been producing for the past four years.

Masonic Degree To Be Conferred At H. B. Tonight

College Lecturer H. B. Club Speaker

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 23.—Dr. Albert Stoner, well known lecturer, connected with the faculty of the University of Southern California, spoke to members of the local Woman's club yesterday.

Mrs. R. E. Downs, past president of the Woman's club and present chairman of the literary and educational committee, was in charge of the program. A short business session opened the meeting and the usual social was enjoyed at the close of the meeting.

Mooseheart Lodge Plans Card Party

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 23.—Mooseheart members are planning several social affairs. The organization is sponsoring a card party at Antlers hall tonight and is planning a dance at the hall March 11.

Mrs. Peggy O'Neill, Mrs. Ethel Sebastian and Mrs. Nell Ballard will be in charge of the dance. The dance will carry out the St. Patrick's day idea, according to the committee members.

Pupils Entertain P. T. A. Members

ORANGE, Feb. 23.—Pupils of the Maple street school enacted a play and gave readings in commemoration of Washington's birthday at the meeting of the P. T. A. at the school yesterday afternoon.

Third grade students who gave readings were Charles Bell, "February Resolutions"; Philip Harrington, "Life of Washington"; Mary Henderson, "George Washington and the Cherry Tree."

Fifth grade students who presented the play included Elsie Swensen, Martha Stanfield, Robert Neice and Ralph Reynolds.

Altar Society Sponsors Party

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 23.—A card party will be held next Monday night at the Woman's club under the auspices of the Altar society of the St. Simon and Jude Catholic church of this city. It was announced today. The card parties are held on the last Monday of each month.

The Misses Agnes Giesler, Betty Olson, Helen Pausse, Phyllis Lihou, Lucille Giesler and Doris Lybion will be in charge of the card party. The evening will be devoted to "500." Refreshments will be served.

TUSTIN

TUSTIN, Feb. 23.—Officers of the local Motherhood club will be elected at the next meeting of the organization, it was announced yesterday at the regular session of the group.

Mrs. George Gaylord reviewed several children's song books. It was announced at the club meeting that Dr. H. M. Robertson, who has been in charge of the health center, will not be able to devote time to it in the future. The offer of Dr. Margaret Baker, of Santa Ana, a child specialist, to care for the health center work, was accepted by the club members.

Among those present were Mrs. Viola Newell, Miss Mildred Morrow, Mrs. A. L. Shellhouse, Mrs. C. A. Nisson, Mrs. George Gaylord, Mrs. Ralph Shallenberger, Mrs. Fred Schwendeman, Mrs. J. Metz, Mrs. Cecil Maxson, Mrs. Worth Alexander, Mrs. Charles Archer, Mrs. H. Malicote, Mrs. Charles Spurrier, Mrs. Charles Crawford and Mrs. Frank Fowler.

J. A. Phiney, local barber, is seriously ill in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, according to reports. The local grammar school Parent-Teacher association will hold its annual colonial tea party at the grammar school Friday afternoon, it was announced today. A patriotic program will be put on by the grammar school children. The committee in charge has requested those attending to come in colonial costumes if possible.

Members of the Aid society of the Presbyterian church will hold an all day meeting at the church Friday. Mrs. Martha C. Pollard, Mrs. C. A. Weise and Mrs. John Dyer will be hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vasseur, Miss Dorothy Vasseur and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Couts, of South Pasadena, visited relatives here Sunday.

CAPISTRANO TO ELSINORE ROAD C. OF C. SUBJECT

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Feb. 23.—Another step toward the development of the Elsinore to San Juan Capistrano mountain highway will be taken tonight, when the chamber of commerce will meet at the bank building to hear the report of a committee appointed two weeks ago to investigate matters pertaining to the road.

The committee, headed by Carl Hankey, F. F. Kelly and H. H. Halliday, is reported to be ready to submit its findings. The chamber of commerce will discuss the amount of work necessary to complete the road, the amount of money necessary to complete the road and the possible sources from which the money can be obtained. Co-operation has been promised by the local chamber of commerce by a number of organizations in other cities in securing the highway across the mountains.

BALBOA

BALBOA, Feb. 23.—Mrs. Fred Busby and Mrs. Leola Zeese were luncheon guests Friday of Mrs. Anna Frederick, of South Bush street, Santa Ana.

Mrs. Ross Greely is spending the winter in Los Angeles, where their little daughter, Marjory, is in school.

Mrs. A. J. Richards has returned from Los Angeles, where she went to attend the burial of her husband, last week. Mr. Richards passed away after being ill for some time, though he had never been confined to his bed until the day preceding his death. He was buried at Forest Lawn cemetery in Los Angeles, with the Rev. Henry Stockton of the Newport and Balboa churches officiating. Music for the occasion was furnished by the children and grandchildren of F. V. Edwards, students in the Bible school of Angeles temple. Mr. Edwards is the brother of Mrs. Richards. Mr. Richards was a contractor and builder, one of his last pieces of work being the Marengo avenue church at Alhambra. He was born in Ohio 33 years ago, and had been a resident of Balboa the last 10 years or more. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. May Kemp, of Los Angeles, and his widow, Mrs. Richards, who will continue to live at her home on Washington avenue for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dickinson, of San Francisco, have been living at 1134 Surf avenue for the last month, being here for Mr. Dickinson's health. Mr. Dickinson represents Marshall Field and company on this coast. The Dickinsons are much pleased with this locality, and will probably remain another month.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wilkins have returned from New York, and are now living in Balboa.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Driggers have both been ill the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Holmes, of Detroit, are spending the winter in Balboa. The Holmes alternate between homes of friends and relatives in Covina, San Francisco and other places, and this locality. They are stopping at 311 Fernando street while here.

Mrs. Magdalene Stender, mother of Charles Stender, who has until recently owned and operated a small eating place on Main street, died last Saturday at her home in Anaheim, the funeral occurring the following Tuesday from the Backs, Terry and Campbell undertaking parlors in that city. Mrs. Stender had been an invalid for about 10 years, and critically ill for several months previous to her death. Del Struve, proprietor of an ice cream and waffle stand on Main street in Balboa, is a grandson of the deceased. She was 73 years old at the time of her death. Charles Stender is planning to locate in San Diego, having leased his place of business to Mr. and Mrs. Sarge Clark.

Mrs. Stella Hartman and daughter, Miss Melvina Gold of Fullerton occupied their cottage on Bay avenue over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson and their son and wife have returned from a somewhat adventurous trip to San Diego, where they were marooned by floods and washouts, which forced them to make several unexpected stop-overs at various places. All returned safe, however, with no serious mishaps, an deposing an excellent time. Mr. and Mrs. Patterson Sr. are the proprietors of Aunt Pat's cafeteria on Main street.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnston, of Los Angeles, spent the past week-end with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Reber, F. V. Edwards, who has been with his sister, Mrs. L. E. Richards, for some time, went to Los Angeles Saturday on his way to his home in Morgan Hill.

C. M. DePuy, of Los Angeles, spent all of last week in Balboa. During the recent storm, with W. H. Hunt and B. Stata, he started on a fishing trip in Mr. Hunt's 22-foot dory type boat. Starting at about 9:30 o'clock in the morning, they encountered such rough seas that it took them from 10 o'clock until five in the afternoon to reach San Pedro, and they might have fared worse had it not been for the good seamanship of Stata, who managed the boat. They finally got back to Balboa at 7:30 o'clock of the same day, tired and wet, but happy, for they caught two fine bonito.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Irwin, recently of Pasadena, have opened an eating place known as the White Horse on Main street near the ocean front.

"Newcom sells good wood."

90 NEW MEMBERS ADDED TO COSTA MESA CHAMBER; INCORPORATION DISCUSSED

COSTA MESA, Feb. 23.—The membership of the local chamber of commerce jumped from 35 to 125 as the result of a membership dinner staged here last night, it was reported today. More than 225 persons were present at the banquet in the Woman's clubhouse. Men members of the chamber prepared and served the banquet.

Incorporation of Costa Mesa, formation of a harbor district and the possible annexation of Costa Mesa to Newport Beach and to Santa Ana were the matters discussed in a short talk by J. W. Wherry, prominent local man. Y. D. Johnson, secretary of the Orange Chamber of Commerce, spoke. Johnson stressed the need of co-operation in the community and paid tribute to the rapid development of Costa Mesa.

F. D. Koch, Los Angeles advertising man, spoke of the development of community spirit and the power of organization to accomplish things.

N. O. Mellett was the chairman of the entertainment committee. An orchestra composed of local people, furnished music.

Jack Tar and B. L. Mullen were the cooks. Frank Chapman was head waiter. Other prominent men who assisted in serving were L. C. Slothower, W. W. Middleton, R. G. Chambers, Henry Whitcup, R. L. Davis, L. R. Daughenbaugh, A. B. Black, C. W. Te Winkle, N. O. Mellett, F. A. Daley, William Rochester, George Fair, G. J. Gardner, J. T. Cote, W. Hostettler, LeRoy Anderson, Jack Shilling and Antone Coummer. The meal was a six-course affair.

A dance which lasted until a late hour closed the meeting.

BILTMORE TO DRILL NEAR SAN MARTINEZ

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 23.—Work is being started by the Biltmore Oil company on its rig near the San Martinez well. It is expected that machinery will be in place and the well ready to spud in by the next week.

The Biltmore derrick is on lots adjoining the San Martinez well on the north.

A question was raised today as to whether or not the San Martinez well would be drilled deeper, as has been reported. According to information received from a reliable source today, the San Martinez project has a heavy head of gas at its present depth and has been pumping mud into the hole to keep it under control. It is certain that if the drill is sent down through the mud the well stands a good chance to come in anyway.

New Oil Strata Reported at H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 23.—Reports were current here today to the effect that an entirely new oil strata has been discovered in a well near the corner of Eighteenth street and Palm avenue by the Ahlburg Gasoline company. The company is reported to have struck a sand at approximately 3500 feet. The report has not been verified, however.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 23.—The Alamitos P. T. A. met at the school on Friday evening for the regular monthly meeting. Mrs. Cecil Schockford, presided over the business meeting. J. A. Cranston, of Santa Ana, city superintendent of schools, was the speaker of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Miller attended a family reunion at Orange county park on Sunday. Forty relatives were present.

A birthday dinner was held at the home of Mrs. Susan Chaffee on Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Burns Chaffee, of Long Beach. Covers were placed for Dr. and Mrs. Burns Chaffee, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Chaffee, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chaffee, Miss Mattie Chaffee and Mrs. Susan Chaffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smiley were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Deane at a patriotic ball given at the Woman's clubhouse on Washington's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kirkham and their guest, Mrs. J. Hibbert, of Fort Dodge, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kirkham, of Anaheim, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Al Marsden in Los Angeles Tuesday evening.

Mrs. C. E. Henry, chairman of Art and Crafts for the Federated Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Jack Jentres, president of the Garden Grove Women's Civic club, attended the meeting of the Yorba Linda Women's club Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Henry gave an interesting talk and exhibition of several pieces of art.

Mrs. Margaret Gunther, of Santa Ana, visited on Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Henry. R. D. Morris visited his mother, Mrs. J. H. Hill, last week before leaving on board the U. S. S. Oklahoma with the fleet for the eastern coast. Mr. Morris is chief purchasing officer on Biki shridu hridu ing agent on the Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Chaffee and Miss Leila Chaffee, of Ontario, spent from Friday until Sunday with Mrs. Susan Chaffee. Jack Jentres, president of the Garden Grove Women's Civic club, attended the meeting of the Yorba Linda Women's club Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Henry gave an interesting talk and exhibition of several pieces of art.

Mrs. Margaret Gunther, of Santa Ana, visited on Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Henry. R. D. Morris visited his mother, Mrs. J. H. Hill, last week before leaving on board the U. S. S. Oklahoma with the fleet for the eastern coast. Mr. Morris is chief purchasing officer on Biki shridu hridu ing agent on the Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Henry visited on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Welch in Los Angeles.

Miss Louise Morris, of Los Angeles, spent the week end at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. J. H. Hill.

The Misses Mettie and Leila Chaffee, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Chaffee, of Ontario, attended "The Miracle" at the Shrine auditorium, Los Angeles, Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. S. Christensen and sons, Albert and Carl, and Sam Gibson attended the funeral of their old friend, Lee Meyers, at Placentia, on Monday afternoon. Interment was made in Loma Vista cemetery.

Miss Beas Dean, of Los Angeles, was a guest of Miss Helen Hoenshel over the week end.

Mrs. Harry Meyer spent Monday with her mother, Mrs. Francis Campbell, in Long Beach.

LATE W. C. T. U. ORGANIZER IS GIVEN PRAISE

ORANGE, Feb. 23.—Frances Willard, were she living today, would stand for a warless world, decency in reading matter, enforcement of the prohibition law, and purity in the home, the Rev. D. S. MacDonald, pastor of the First Christian church, declared in a memorial address before the Woman's Christian Temperance union meeting in the Baptist church yesterday afternoon.

The Rev. Mr. MacDonald traced the life of Frances Willard from the start of her endeavors to join the church and state in a war against intoxicants to her death in 1893. The influence toward prohibition which she exerted had become international among women before she died, according to the Rev. MacDonald.

Mrs. Emily Reid and Mrs. Clara Sumner also told of the work carried on by Frances Willard.

Mrs. C. F. Frost told of the life of Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, who passed away in Santa Ana recently. Mrs. Mills was a member of the local union and during her lifetime served tirelessly in the work of the union, she said.

Draws $100 Fine On Drunk Charge

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 23.—Joseph S. Lacy, 45, manager of a trucking concern was fined $100 by Judge C. W. Warner yesterday, after Lacy pleaded guilty to a charge of being intoxicated. He was arrested Monday night by local officers. Lacy pleaded not guilty when he was brought into court and his trial was set for March 10 and bail fixed at $150. Later, he changed his plea and paid the fine.

E. Lambert, 22, a clerk, paid a $50 fine yesterday after pleading guilty to a charge of being intoxicated.

Fullerton School Trustees Will Be Elected March 25

FULLERTON, Feb. 23.—The election of high school and grammar school trustees will take place in Fullerton on March 25.

On the high school board, S. C. Hartman, representing the Fullerton grammar school district, and E. F. Bloodgood, representing the Orangetherpe district, will run for re-election, their terms expiring on March 25.

On the grammar school board, the term of the president, R. L. Chambers, will expire on March 25. H. L. Dawson, a business man of Fullerton for the past seven years, has signified his intention of running.

REALTORS PLAN UNIFORM RATES

ORANGE, Feb. 23.—Final determination of the policy of the local realty board regarding recommendations to the county board on uniform real estate listings and commissions will be made at the meeting next Tuesday, according to a decision reached at the meeting yesterday in the Sunshine cafe.

At the same meeting it is expected that the members of the board will determine a uniform commission and listing plan for the local association. The local board has had a uniform plan since its organization, but some members have become dissatisfied with it and are operating under different systems, it was brought out at the meeting.

Included in the uniform plan being worked out is a listing card of uniform design and color for use by all members of the board. The uniform card was suggested by Paul Muench and Jessie F. Campbell.

In the revision of the by-laws of the organization being done by a committee headed by Will Martin, the displaying of signs on listed property, heretofore forbidden, will be allowed.

MERCHANTS OF ORANGE PLAN TO ORGANIZE

ORANGE, Feb. 23.—Organization of retail merchants of Orange is scheduled for tonight, when the merchants meet for a dinner in the I. O. O. F. hall, according to an announcement of George Gilmore, acting chairman.

The body will be but a reorganization of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association into an association strictly for retail merchants.

The M. and M. association, which disbanded two weeks ago after a life of 25 years, was said to be duplicating the work of the chamber of commerce and not proving of beneficial interest to the members.

The new association will be limited to retail merchants and will have for its purpose the discussion of retailing problems with a view to improvement of conditions.

P. T. A. Club to Stage Minstrel Show, Carnival

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 23.—A minstrel show and carnival will be staged here Friday night by the Parent-Teacher association and the local Woman's club. The minstrel show will be given at the grammar school auditorium, while the carnival will be carried on at the Woman's clubhouse on Tenth street. The affair is in the hands of a committee representing both organizations.

Among those who will appear on the program in the minstrel show will be C. C. Overbury, Alex McAdam, R. K. Smith, Paul Einfeld and D. M. Blossom. Miss Ardyas Cuttill, Mrs. Dale Peters and Miss Ruth Hurd will be heard in several trio selections. Two shows will be given at the grammar school auditorium, according to reports.

You've heard that the Royal Cord Balloon is a remarkable tire

Here's why—

It starts with the rubber itself. The United States Rubber Company established its own plantations to produce quality rubber latex.

Then this latex is made into Sprayed Rubber, stronger and purer than any rubber produced before.

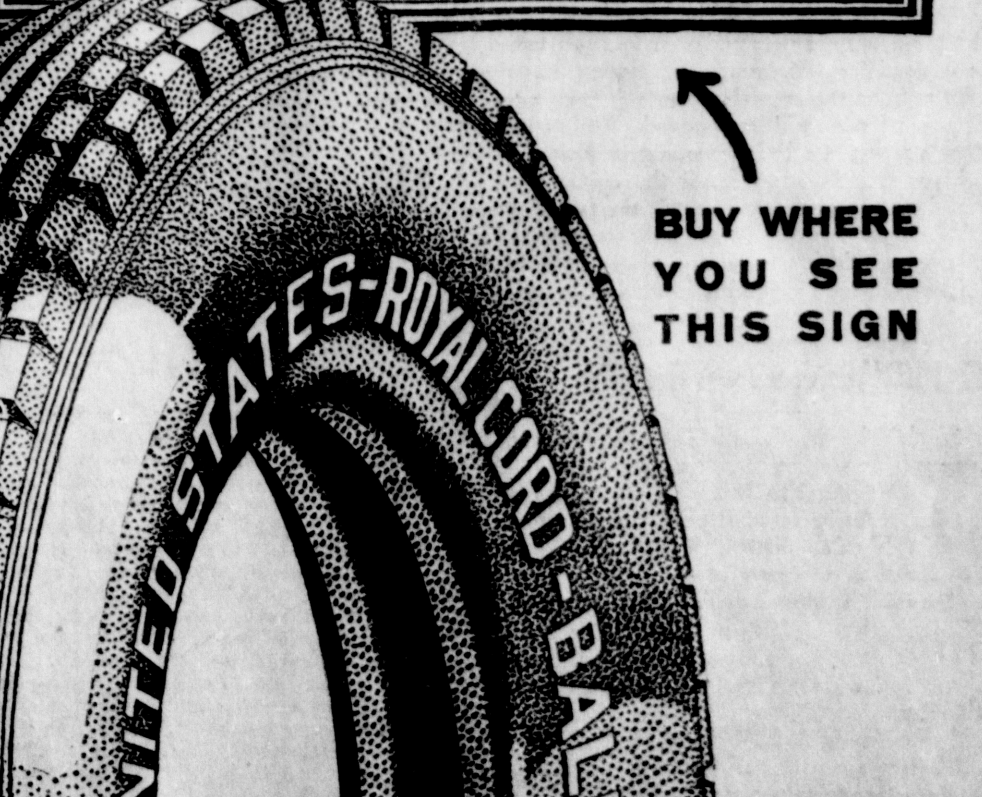

The Cotton Cord comes from mills controlled by the United States Rubber Company—quality again.

Web Cord makes up the body of the tire—combining maximum strength with maximum flexibility.

And finally—it is built by the Flat Band Method, another United States Rubber Company development for extra strength and extra miles.

SAVING BY WEIGHING

Attention is directed to a news article appearing on another page of The Register, in which it appears that the war on overloaded trucks in Kern county has reduced damage to pavements in Kern county to the tune of a saving of $100,000 in a month.

Of course, the saving is an estimate. It does look feasible, however, to conclude that a vast saving has been accomplished.

Completely equipped weighing stations, such as are maintained on the state highway in Kern county, each year earn their cost and keep. And we do not mean that the plan earns money through fines collected from trucking companies, though doubtless it does bring in large amounts in that way. We mean that it earns its cost and keep by lessening the breakage of pavement.

If trucking companies persist in sending out trucks with overloads, every county in the state will have to seek additional means of protection. That the trucking companies have been wilfully neglectful in checking up their loads seems certain; the record of arrests in Kern county as well as in other counties where efforts have been made to check up on the trucks shows wilful neglect. And if the trucking companies persist, there may come a time when every loaded truck may be required to show a weighmaster's certificate for his load. That step has been discussed, but it does not look to us to be necessary or feasible. To require every loaded truck to be weighed would bring about a tremendous loss of time for trucks and drivers waiting in line, and the suggestion is hardly to be considered.

However, weighing stations, advantageously situated, are a practical conservation measure. Motor officers, watching traffic, could call all suspected overloaded trucks to a stop, for weighing. The method followed in Kern county makes it necessary for the driver to cast off his overload before he is allowed to drive out on the highway.

We suspect that a weighing station on the state highway at the southern county line and on highways between here and Los Angeles would do a thriving business.

THE PLUMBING ORDINANCE

The Register has published one communication from a Santa Ana plumbing firm presenting the plumber's argument in favor of an ordinance that would make it necessary for new sewer connections to be by cast iron pipe, with clay pipe prohibited. A second communication from another plumber, setting forth the same arguments, has been received, but, because the ground had already been covered thoroughly, the second communication has not been published.

The plumbers would like to stir up sufficient sentiment in the city to back them up in a successful renewal of their campaign for an ordinance specifying that cast iron pipe only can be used in that portion of the sewer connection lying between the residence floors and the property line. That is the reason why they emphatically declare their disapproval of the ordinance as passed by the city council.

We are informed that the ordinance, as adopted by the board of city trustees, makes it optional with the property owner as to whether cast iron or clay pipe shall be used. On the advice of plumbers, clay pipe has been used in many cities for many years. The plumbers whose communications we have received say that clay pipe connections are insecure, and, though formerly approved, are not now considered by sanitary engineers as good construction. Since the plumbers say that they can furnish cast iron connections at a cost no higher than clay pipe, it seems to us that their argument henceforth can very well be carried on with each individual property owner. The Register, at any rate, presented the argument fully in the communication published recently. There is nothing in the ordinance to prevent any property owner from using cast iron pipe from the residence to the property line. The Register publishes this statement as a matter of information.

RECOGNITION FOR PRUNES

With a $300,000 advertising campaign launched in its behalf, the prune leaves the ranks of humble fruits and joins the aristocrats. It has long been recognized as a wholesome fruit. When properly prepared, it is also a palatable one. Prunes, like mothers-in-law, are not half so bad as the jokesmiths have pretended all these years. It was perhaps only its inevitability on the boarding house breakfast table, along with the knowledge that it was a cheap fruit, that made the prune so trying to the human soul.

Once let the advertising campaign make itself felt, with appetizing pictures of prunes and elegant prune dishes, with a prune slogan and prune recipes on every hand, and the curse will be removed. The popularized prunes may cost a little more, but they will be finer, perhaps, and therefore worth the cost.

A cheerful feature of this prospect is the fact that the well known prune really is good for us, though we may have our doubts about the prune soup to which Prince William of Sweden is said to be addicted.

EXPERIMENTS IN ATHEISM

When Sinclair Lewis, the novelist, undertook to prove there was no God by standing up alongside of a pulpit and daring God to strike him dead, he did a foolish thing. For he couldn't prove anything that way. Why should an omnipotent ruler of the universe pay any attention to such nonsense?

Lewis, however, started something with mankind. Many other men, having faith in themselves, are determined to convert him from his unbelief. The latest is Allen Stone, a Masonic lecturer, who makes this remarkable proposal:

He will give Lewis $1000, Stone says, if Lewis can stand before a mirror and look himself straight in the eye for three minutes, and still deny the existence of God without flinching. Or he will pay the same money to anyone else the novelist may designate, for the same feat.

This is going to lead to a lot of experiments, also a lot of religious discussion. Perhaps some psychological discussion, too. Aside from the question of God's existence, there may be strange powers in the human eye—one's own, or another's.

All this agitation for a five-day week is what we get for starting school kids that way.

Conservation Need Shown

The engineers haven't told us yet how many billion gallons of water ran to waste during the big storm—flood waters that reached the ocean only after vast damage to property was done.

Thousands who watched the rush of the water toward the sea speculated as to its wealth if it only could have been trapped and held for summer when water is king in Southern California.

But years of talk about this occasional run-off of great floods are at last securing results. The state engineer has completed a survey of the Santa Ana river; and it will soon be presented for discussion among engineers interested in the particular problems of the San Bernardino watershed. There is at last organized discussion of what ought to be done to prevent the waste of these waters.

Engineers and others turned their eyes toward the elaborate experiment underway at the mouth of Lytle creek canyon, where a dam 2000 feet long is in operation to spread the flood waters so that they run in a thinner and slower stream, thus giving the waters an opportunity to sink through the sands and boulder crevices into the underground basin. Just how great have been the results the engineers have not yet made definite statement as yet, for this was the first real test of the idea since the dam was constructed. Travelers along the Foothill boulevard, however, noticed a marked change in Lytle creek. The stream that was once, during every big storm, the peril of the city was no longer the angry rushing torrent. The water did not even reach the "dip" which replaced, to the consternation of some people, the old bridge. What there was of the stream ran in the small west channel, and it was like a thing tamed, nothing to resemble the torrents that residents of recent times can recall.

Can the same thing be done with the Santa Ana? Soon, it is hoped, the engineers will map out a program that would do that very thing. Dams either for the purpose of spreading the stream so that it will have an opportunity to sink into the arid basin or for the purpose of impounding the flood water in a series of reservoirs are imperative on the Santa Ana river.

The counties of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange need this water for summer use and they need protection from the ravages of the torrents.

San Bernardino city has already adopted the conservation and flood protection theory for the water of Devil canyon. There was little Devil canyon water wasted during the storm. It is the idea of Mayor Grant Holcomb and other city officials that similar steps should be taken with the waters of Twin creek, which form the flood that sweeps down A street. This flood will eventually be held north of the city and never allowed to sweep away and contribute to destruction in its escape from the water sources of the city.

The results in both Lytle creek and in Devil canyon indicate there is indeed much merit in the scheme of conserving flood waters. Let us have some of it on the Santa Ana.

The Preventable Storm Loss

Fresno Republican

What is called "the worst storm on record" on the Pacific coast is now keeping the newspapermen busy cataloging the lists of losses.

Perhaps most of the losses come under the heading of "acts of God" in that they could not have been averted by human foresight.

But one great loss could have been minimized. This is the loss of water.

Every act of any man that would have stored parts of this downfall of water, either directly or through the operations of nature, would have helped to make this a happier and a more prosperous state.

For instance, more than six inches of rain fell in a few hours in parts of San Diego county. Nature could not possibly store this water. It meant a great and destructive runoff, unless men had taken steps to store it. In this part of the San Joaquin valley the rain was so gentle as to penetrate far into the soil. The snow will be well packed. The rains, in the hills, will be held into the earth by the soil coverage, where this has been preserved. The springs will run longer in summer, the streams last longer for these rains.

This part of the state, and the parts to the south, are without assured rainfall. All the more reason why we should be ready to preserve what rainfall we get.

Editorial Shorts

The robin is a migratory bird, because it lives chiefly upon earthworms, which in northern countries generally are to be found during the winter season, when the ground is frozen or covered with snow. So it is testimony to the mildness of our Sacramento climate that numerous robins have remained within the city limits all winter, especially near McKinley park, and are with us still. A favorite bird is the harmless, "jolly cock-robin," with his handsome plumage and his rich, melodious song. He is a constant husband, a good provider for his young, as well as brave in their defense.—Sacramento Bee.

DON'T DROP MILK FROM YOUR CHILD'S DIET

Milk contains four proteins, of which two are present in considerable amounts.

The curd of milk, which contains all its casein and part of its lactalbumin, has been found to be most valuable for building or renewing body tissues.

There is no other animal protein of known value procurable at so low a price as the proteins in milk.

Grains, legumes, and nuts do afford efficient proteins, more so than those of tubers and other vegetables; but in general plant proteins are not so good as animal proteins for tissue building and should not be relied on solely as a source of body-building protein.

Of all the minerals necessary for the growth of the child from conception to adult development, none is of greater importance to all parts of the body than the calcium and phosphorus salts, because these are the essential building materials for bone, which is largely calcium phosphate. Since growth is measured by the development of the skeleton and since the child must have a steady, abundant supply of calcium, as well as of certain vitamins, to build bones and teeth, body organs and fluids, milk should be included in every child's diet during the entire period of growth.

"There are but two classes of calcium-rich foods—milk of animals and the leaves of plants." Of all food sources of calcium, milk and cottage cheese are the cheapest, most easily available, and most abundant. Milk also provides other important minerals such as phosphorus and potassium.

Not Ready to Swear Off Yet

Utopia, Not for Sale

How badly we all want a Utopia! And how readily we will listen to the man who promises it!

These remarks are prompted by the news of the troubles of another of those co-operative colonies—this time an organization that held forth in Louisiana. It is not the first venture of this kind that has come to grief, and it will not be the last; but it provokes thought, nevertheless.

We are easy marks for those who come selling Utopias. But a little wisdom might cure us.

We should learn that Utopias are not born over night, nor can one enter simply by writing out a check. We should realize that neither we nor our children ever will inhabit one—not an earthly one, at all events.

For Utopia, like all other things of value, is born only of toil and pain and self-denial and patient endurance. This old earth has been working towards one for many centuries now, and it is still far away. The price has been paid with blood and tears, and it is still being paid; and when we pass on there will still be a large balance to pay before possession can be had. There will be falls of Rome, Thirty Years' Wars, St. Bartholomew massacres, French Revolutions, World Wars and the like in plenty before the dawn finally arrives.

Yet—can we doubt it?—it is coming. Some day, immeasurably removed, our earth will in very truth, we trust, be a Utopia, a place where each man and woman and child may live in its utmost fullness and freedom, born to a heritage that cannot be alienated.

It is toward this that we are working—blindly, but not altogether unsuccessfully. Every good deed, every little bit of kindness and tolerance and humanity shown by anyone anywhere, helps to bring it nearer. It is the only Utopia possible, but it is worth working for—the time when men shall know beyond a doubt that they are brothers, and shall conduct themselves accordingly.

Worth While Verse

SONG OF THE DAWN

Awake! awake! the stars are pale, the east is russet gray;
They fade, behold the phantoms fade, that keep the gates of Day;
Throw wide the burning valves, and let the golden streets be free,
The morning watch is past—the watch of evening shall not be.

Put off, put off your mail, ye kings, and beat your brands to dust;
A surer grasp your hands must know, your hearts a better trust;
Nay, bend back the lance's point, and break the helmet's bar—
A noise is on the morning winds; but not the noise of war!

For aye, the time of wrath is past, and near the time of rest,
And honor binds the brow of man, and faithfulness his breast,
Behold, the time of wrath is past, and righteousness shall be,
And the Wolf is dead in Arcady and the Dragon in the sea!

—John Ruskin.

Time To Smile

HIS TESTIMONIAL

Mrs. Smithers had decided to have the floor of the drawing room polished, and accordingly, sent to a large firm, asking them to put a man on the job as soon as possible.

When the polisher arrived his manner was far from energetic and Mrs. Smithers was afraid he would not do the floor properly. "Are you quite sure you understand the work?" she asked, after watching him for a time.

"You know, Mrs. Gilton's house, next door but one?" he said rather indignantly. "Well, I refer you to her. On the polished floor of the dining room five persons broke their legs last winter and a woman slipped clean down the staircase. I polished all the floors!"—Tit-Bits, London.

A FITTING OCCUPATION

"That seems a nice, kind, little boy of yours, Mrs. Prune," said the visitor, watching a boy who was fondling a cat. "What are you going to make of him when he grows up?"

"Well, miss," said Mrs. Prune, "seeing that he's so fond of animals, we were thinking of making him a butcher."—Chicago News.

HER PART

"I ought to say something about the expenditure in this house," said the angry husband. "I make the money—don't I?" "Yes," retorted his wife. "You make the money, but remember, I make it stretch."—Answers, London.

Little Benny's Note Book

Me and my cuzzin Artie and Shorty Judge was sitting on my front steps just sitting there, and some kid started to come down the street with a red sweater on and his cap pulled away down, looking as if he must be pretty tuff if he was half as tuff as he thawt he was, and me and Artie and Shorty Judge started to make different kinds of faces to prove we wasnt scared of eny tuff looking guy no matter who he was, and the kid stopped going pass and looked at us farse, saying, Hay, eny of youse guys looking for a fite?

Us 3 fellows quick making our regular face again and trying to look innocent, the tuff kid saying, Ill fite eny one of you.

Us not saying anything, and he said, Ill fite eny 2 of you.

No 2 of us offering to, and he said, Ill fite eny 3 of you.

3 being all there was of us, and the kid spit on the payment exter tuff and kepp on going, and wen he got down to the corner we started to yell, Come on back if you want to fite, did you say you wanted to fite, come on back heer you big stiff.

Which did the kid do but run back all his mile, and me and Artie and Shorty Judge quick ducked in the vesterbule and banged the door shut and bolted it, the tuff kid kicking on it and saying, Well, come on, heer I am, come on out, you 3, or eny 3 like you.

Which we didnt, and he went away agen, and by the time we came out he was nearly 2 blocks away, us yelling after him, Come on back, we're waiting for you, come back heer you big coward.

Which he didnt, either proving he was afraid to or else he was tired of coming back.

What the Bee says regarding the local benefits of a four year college would apply to Riverside, or Fresno, or half a dozen other cities in the state as well as to Sacramento. It is doubtful, however, if those who are boosting for this type of institution have studied the problem carefully from the standpoint of cost and educational efficiency.

An institution that undertakes to give four years of college work leading to a degree is quite different from one that undertakes work only in the freshman and sophomore years. Upper division work in college is much more highly differentiated than is the lower division work. A quite wide range of electives must be provided, if the institution is to function properly. The cost would be many times more than that of a junior college; and the problem of expense should be faced frankly. Will the state be called upon to help provide buildings and equipment and how will the maintenance cost be divided as between the state and the local community? The writer is impressed with the view that the wise action for this legislation to take is to pass the Jones bill, Senate Bill 872, which authorizes the governor to appoint a commission to study the problem of public education in California above the high school and to report at the session of 1929. The time may come when certain of the junior colleges of the state should be expanded into four year institutions; but the movement just now is premature. The foundation for action has not been laid by a careful study of the need, the practicability, and the cost of such colleges; and that investigation should precede legislation.

Riverside, as the seat of one of the oldest and best junior colleges in the state, is interested in this four year college movement; but this city is certainly not ready at present to assume the financial burdens of an institution of this type. We should like a four year college; most any growing city in the state that now has a junior college would be glad to have that sort of an institution; but if the college is to be of a grade that would rank with the smaller private colleges of the state, the cost would be almost prohibitive for a city even the size of Sacramento. How far the state could or should go in adding such colleges is a problem. All the factors involved demand a careful investigation by some of the strongest educational leaders of the state. Let us be content to authorize that study now, and then shape our course in harmony with the findings of the report.

Your Income Tax

No. 33

The period for filing income-tax returns made on the basis of the calendar year 1926 ends at midnight, March 15, 1927. When by reason of illness or absence from home additional time is required, an application for an extension should be addressed to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer files his return. The application must be made before the return is due and must contain a full recital of the causes for the delay. Except in the case of taxpayers who are abroad, no extensions are granted for more than six months. Copies of the prescribed forms, so far as possible, are furnished taxpayers by collectors. Failure to receive a form, however, does not relieve the taxpayer of his obligation to file a return and pay the tax on time. Taxpayers who are not supplied with the proper form should make application therefor to the collector in time to have the return prepared, verified, and filed on or before the date due.

Carefully noting the instructions on the forms, the taxpayer should prepare his return so as clearly and fully to set forth the data therein called for. Imperfect or incorrect returns are not accepted as meeting the requirements of the income tax law. Lacking a prescribed form, a statement made by a taxpayer disclosing his gross income and the deductions therefrom may be accepted as a tentative return and, if filed within the prescribed time, will relieve the taxpayer from liability to

INCOME TAX IN A NUTSHELL

WHO? Single persons who had net income of $1,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more, and married couples who had net income of $3,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns. WHEN? The filing period ends March 15, 1927.

WHERE? Collectors of internal revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? Instructions on Forms 1040A and 1040; also the law and regulations.

WHAT? One and one-half per cent normal tax on the first $4,000 in excess of the personal exemptions and credits. Three per cent normal tax on the next $4,000. Five per cent normal tax on the balance of net income. Surplus on net income in excess of $10,000.

penalties, provided that without unnecessary delay such a tentative return is replaced by a return made on the proper form.

Taxpayers whose net income for 1926 was $5,000 or less and was derived chiefly from salary or wages are required to make their returns on Form 1040A. Persons whose net income was in excess of $5,000, or, regardless of the amount, was derived from a business or profession, including farming, are required to use the larger form, 1040.

Four Year Junior College

Riverside Press.

Senator Inman of Sacramento has introduced a bill authorizing junior colleges to provide for four years of work instead of two. Sacramento is backing the plan of four year regional colleges with much enthusiasm and Fresno is also favorable to the movement. The Sacramento Bee endorses the Inman bill in the following editorial:

Sacramento needs a four year college. The present junior college course, however, shows a remarkable expansion since its establishment. Already it is the largest institution of its kind in the state and growing rapidly.

Moreover, the city is the center of the largest population in the United States without a full fledged higher educational institution.

The college here would also permit many to secure for their children a college education, which they are now denied because of the heavy expense of sending them away to attend school in some other city.

The University of California also is overcrowded. It is a question whether in such a large institution the best of training can be given.

These and many other equally good reasons suggest themselves as to the benefits of a four year college in Sacramento.

It will be a big thing for the city in every way when this is finally established and the prospects are good that this will not be in the distant future.

What the Bee says regarding the local benefits of a four year college would apply to Riverside, or Fresno, or half a dozen other cities in the state as well as to Sacramento. It is doubtful, however, if those who are boosting for this type of institution have studied the problem carefully from the standpoint of cost and educational efficiency.
